

Speech Students to Give Original Plays on Jan. 21

Three one-act plays written by university students will be presented Wednesday, Jan. 21, at 7 p. m. in the Experimental theater in the Temple building.

"Born Bad," written and directed by Gaylord Marr, is a serious drama about a teen-aged boy whose parents are so engaged in the fight against juvenile delinquency in their town that they have no time to devote to their own child. Dwayne Riley is the boy and John Wenstrand and Charlotte Wilson are Prof. and Mrs. Madison, his parents.

Comic Satire.

The second play is "The Truth About Mary," by Glace Glass. It is a comic satire about the search for materialism so widespread in the world today. Don Johannes will direct this play. Don Clifton and Gladys Jackson take the leading roles as Uncle Charles and Aunt Lillie.

A tragedy, "Front Porch," by Dewey Ganzel, will complete the show. The play is set in the middle west and is the story of the conflict growing out of the differences in personality between two boys. Their mother figures prominently in the play. With Dale Wisser directing, Homer Hauptman and Dick Toof play the two sons, and Olive Gettman, their mother.

These plays are the first group of student written plays performed at the Temple this year. No charge is being made for admission.

Registration Number Now Over 4,000

Registration is going along smoothly on schedule, according to the assignment committee, due mainly to close co-operation between the faculty and students.

With 389 registered Tuesday and 215 more Wednesday morning, number 4,000 should be the first to register Thursday morning. Fifty students should register an hour, says the committee. Complete register procedures should be finished on schedule before final exams come up.

Alternate Courses.

All students should bring a list of alternate courses approved by their advisers when they come to register. They are also urged to bring pencils.

Farm Implement Co. Seeks Graduate Salesmen

Representatives from a manufacturer of hydraulic farm equipment will interview prospective January and June graduates Thursday, Jan. 15 for sales positions.

Students who have an agricultural background, regardless of their major, and who are interested in selling farm machinery are eligible for positions. Appointments should be made with the University placement office in 104 Administration building before Wednesday, Jan. 14, by 5 p. m.

Mary J. Walker Wins Council Appointment

Appointment of Mary Jewell Walker as a Junior Arts and Sciences college representative to the Student Council was confirmed at the council meeting Wednesday.

Miss Walker fills the last council seat vacated in the fall semester in accordance with AWS point board rulings.

A report on the student health service procedures and budget was made by Bill Palmer. Following criticism of the health service at the last meeting, Palmer conferred with Dr. S. I. Fuenning, director of the student health center.

In a report on the student health service Palmer, senior at large, explained that about half the funds from the student health fee are required for salaries. He added that the scope of the service was much improved since the opening of the new temporary infirmary. To emphasize the point Palmer displayed a cast on his arm which, he said, "... only cost $1.25."

At the last council meeting before Christmas, Palmer had voiced criticism of the health service. He explained that most of these objections came to his attention before the infirmary was in service.

"The student health service," he said, "according to Dr. Fuenning, is the only university department not receiving an appropriation from the legislature." Palmer pointed out that intramural injuries were not completely covered by the health program. He suggested the council conduct a parallel investigation of this with the Interfraternity Council and intramural department.

Alex Cochran said the department was considering the substitution of speedball for football in the intramural program to reduce the number of injuries.

Naval Officer Seeks Ensign Candidates

Lt. Com. R. A. Bradley, naval reserve officer from the NROTC and V-12 unit at Kansas university, will be on the campus Wednesday, Jan. 14 from 9:30 to 3 p. m. to interview students regarding commissions as ensigns in the Navy supply corps.

Interested students should make appointments for interview before 5 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 13 at the University Placement office, 104 Administration building. Prospective graduates who will hold college degrees in any major field and who are between 21 and 25 years old are eligible for commissions.

The Navy supply corps purchases, stores, determines requirements and accounts for provisions the Navy needs. Supply Corps jobs closely parallel those in private industry. Supply corps officers rotate duty between ships and store stations.

Ferguson Gets Elks Scholarship

Gerald Ferguson, former Scottsbluff high school star athlete, and now a University of Nebraska freshman, has been awarded the $150 Lincoln Elks lodge physical education scholarship.

The scholarship is given annually to a freshman student majoring in physical education who graduated from a Nebraska high school. The recipient must show promise of future success and be in need of financial assistance.

Ferguson was a three letter-man at Scottsbluff, participating in football, basketball, and track.

Harvard Prof To Speak On UN Campus Jan. 12-16

200 Celebrate At Foundation Party Tuesday

Workers of the Student Foundation were entertained at a mass party Tuesday night when nearly 200 members met in parlors XYZ of the Union. There they presented their own show, with a special guest act by ventriloquist John Carson.

Each district, the intra-division of the Foundation, presented a short original skit. The eight districts and the board members presented nine acts, which included from one to twelve characters.

The skit awarded first place by judges was presented by District VII, under the direction of Mary Ellen Schroeder. Beverly Jackson's District II was second place. Judges were Duane Lake, Union director; Dr. Curtis Elliot, professor of economics; and Lorraine Landeryou, Student Foundation president.

Staff Adds New Course In Marriage

A Marriage and Home Relationships course will be offered next semester, with Dr. Katherine M. Maurer of the Psychology department as coordinator.

The course is being offered as the result of a suggestion by a committee composed of Dean Oldfather, Dr. Dyingier and Dr. Hertzler of the Arts and Science college, and Miss Margaret Fedde, chairman of the Home Economics department. However, it will be a non-departmental course, with students from all colleges and departments able to take it. The only prerequisite is sophomore standing. The purpose of the course is to give men and women a preparation for and personal adjustment to marriage.

General Course.

In the schedule booklet, the course is listed as General Course 51. It will be a mixed class, meeting at 4 p. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday in Social Sciences auditorium.

Dr. Maurer, associate professor of Psychology, and Dr. Paul Meadows, associate professor of Sociology, will be the regular lecturers for the course. In addition, outside lectures are being contacted to give lectures based on actual experience and study.

Gustavson Will Lecture.

One of these lecturers will be Chancellor R. G. Gustavson, who will talk on hormones, which is closely related with his field of study. He will make several talks. Lawyers, social workers and other specialists will also lecture.

ROTC Sophomores to Conduct Court Martial Trials Thursday

The second annual mock court martial sessions convene in Social Sciences auditorium Thursday at 3 p. m., Captain Kelley of the department of military science announced today.

All parts in the mock military trials will be taken by sophomore ROTC students. Three trials are to be conducted, one by each class section.

Twelve student officers will be serving as the court martial in each case. A judge advocate trial officer with two assistants will present the case against an "enlisted man" accused of larceny. Three other students will take parts as the defense attorney and his assistants. Others will act as the accused and witnesses to the crime.

The trials will begin at 3, 4 and 5 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 8.

Plans To Discuss German Problem

Dr. Carl J. Friedrich, professor of government at Harvard university, will be introduced to faculty, students and the public by Chancellor R. G. Gustavson Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Jan. 12, 14, and 16 in Love Memorial auditorium, it was announced Wednesday by Dr. Carl Georgi, chairman of the Montgomery Lecturship.

Among the subjects which Dr. Friedrich will include on The Democratization of Germany will be three groups: "The General Problem and the Re-establishment of Constitutional Government," "Destroying Anti-Democratic Forces—Demilitarization, Denazification, Deindustrialization," and "Building The Democratic Foundation—A Free Press, A Free Education and A Free Community."

Marshall Plan

Tuesday and Thursday, Jan. 13 and 15, Dr. Friedrich will discuss "The Marshall Plan and the Economic Outlook for Europe," in room 302 Social Sciences at 1 o'clock. This is a regularly scheduled economics class, but it will be open to the public as long as space is available.

Well advised on the political and social affairs of Germany, Dr. Friedrich has spent several years in that country working as political advisor in co-operation with General Clay. He has been selected as the first Montgomery Lecturer to appear at the university, and will lecture on the university campus Monday through Friday, Jan. 12-16.

Current Affairs

The Montgomery Lectureship on Contemporary Civilization brings to the University eminent authorities to discuss topics of current interest. Established in 1946 from the income of the James Henry Montgomery Memorial and endowment provided in 1941 by the Ora Clair Montgomery Estate, the purpose of the lectures is to generate constructive thought on contemporary problems, Dr. Georgi stated.

'43 UN Graduate Gets Met Audition

Elizabeth Farquhar, a '43 graduate of the university, will audition for the Metropolitan opera Sunday, Jan. 18 at 3:30 p. m. on the "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air" radio program, broadcast over the ABC network.

Miss Farquhar carried leading roles in the university's presentations of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" in May, 1942, and in the operas "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Robin Hood." In spring, 1943 she appeared with the Lincoln symphony as audition winner.

School of Music Quartet To Sing at Grad Banquet

A school of music quartet composed of Bob Anderson, Bob Parks, Lee Kjelson and Morris Hayes will sing at the dinner meeting of the University Graduate club Tuesday, Jan. 13 at 6:30 p. m. in Union parlors XYZ.

Graduate school Dean R. W. Goss will outline the purposes of the club. All graduate students are invited to attend. Tickets, priced at $1, are on sale in the Union office.

Activities in Ag Union Include Dance Friday

Ag union activities for the coming weekend will be centered around Friday and Sunday. The union will close at 1 p. m. on Saturday as usual, according to Alice Mathauser, union director.

Friday night, the union activities dance committee will present Bobby Mills and his orchestra for dancing from 9-12 in the auditorium. The dell will remain open until 12:30 for the convenience of the dancers.

Sunday afternoon at three, a matinee movie will be presented in the lounge of the union. This week's attraction will be "Stanley and Livingstone" starring Spencer Tracy and Nancy Kelly.

At five o'clock, the regular coffee hour will be offered in the lounge, featuring free coffee and brownies and piano entertainment.

In the line of post-weekend activity, the last square dance lesson will be offered in the recreation room of the ag union on Thursday night. Dave Sanders will call and Mrs. Jack Leonard will play.

Experimenters Develop Blight Resistant Oat

Experimenters at the university experiment station have developed a victoria blight resistant variety of oats for the use of Nebraska farmers in 1949.

Named Nemaha because test plants on the variety were carried out in Nemaha counties of Kasas and Nebraska, the new strain is a cross of Victoria Richmond, on Morota-Bond varieties of oats.

The new cross bears grain of a light reddish color, high test weight, and has an average height of around 33 inches. It has been found to be two to five days earlier in maturity than Clinton or Cedar oats.

A limited amount of seed is available for this year and this will be distributed at the discretion of the experiment station. It should be ready for general distribution in 1949.

Russell Guest Speaker At Clay Center Banquet

Dougal Russell, assistant football coach at the University of Nebraska, was guest speaker at an athletic dinner at Clay Center Wednesday night.

The Scarlet backfield mentor also showed pictures of last fall's Nebraska-Notre football game.

Heckenlively Appointed To Military Academy

Jack W. Heckenlively, 18, university freshman, was nominated principal appointee to the West Point military academy by Representative Carl Curtis Wednesday.

Heckenlively, a bizad student, is pledged to Phi Delta Theta. At Lincoln high school he lettered in football and track.
