Letterip

To the Editor:

In defense of myself, those several things in which I am interested, and certain of my inalienable rights, I would like to make several points pertinent to the unsigned column, "Number 3" that appeared in the Wednesday edition under the pen name, "Phaedrus."

1) The principles of non-yellow journalism call for signatures on all editorial comment. The present editor of the DAILY NEBRASKAN has stated that he would not adhere to anything as ungentlemanly as columns containing editorial comment appearing without due credit. All of my comments will bear my name, and all of my actions will be open to the scrutiny of anyone, any constitutionally constituted committee, or any journalist. Phaedrus, come out from behind your Platonic guise of setting forth that which is artistic and beautiful, for there is no other beauty than truth!

2) I challenge an explanation of the term "party line" used in the anonymous columns and ask if this "begging the question" with words of unpopular connotation is the most satisfactory way to discuss either the NSA or E. Bruce Berman.

3) I am certain that the Philosophy Department, as well as myself, is appalled at your logic in condemning NSA. My action, the action of one little student blundering his way through the maze of student activity and complicated university life, should in no way whatsoever reflect on the decision made concerning the NSA. Perish the thought that you should have to judge NSA on its own merits! Please remember that humanitarian I, who, after seeing that there was opposition to my continuing work in the NSA, withdrew from the Student Council committee of which I was a member, so that my personal identity, which I cherish very much, would not be construed by unenlightened people to be synonymous with NSA. I have made myself available when information was needed.

4) The "outburst" of Tuesday stands on its own merit. It is open to logical and sound criticism and I am prepared to defend it. Just in passing, it should be noted that what has passed as an Editor's Note on the letter is falsehood in disguise and upon consultation with the Military Department, it has been found that my stand was not fallacious. The Morrill Act does not require that R.O.T.C. must be compulsory but merely requires that the course be offered. I am still awaiting an apology from the Editor and the printing of a letter which I wrote expressing these sentiments. I insist on maintaining my right to take stands on any issues whatsoever without casting reflections on those organizations in which I am interested.

5) Re: the statement, "Such intense 'personal' interest is in marked contrast to that of the average University wheel." Quite simple: I am not the average campus wheel! As the informed one undoubtedly knows, I enjoy the position of National Co-ordinator for the NSA CULTURALE. I conceived the idea and attended its birth at the Wisconsin Convention, and to be clear, I would like to go on suckling the project, which will certainly be facilitated by the university's affiliation with NSA. Yes, vested interests!

6) The unknown capacity in which I attended three eastern regional NSA meetings is easy to explain: Observer. Having found myself in the east, attending the wedding of my brother Milton to a very beautiful girl, Martha, whom I love dearly, I found it convenient to attend the Northern New England NSA meet being held at Mt. Holyoke College, only a few miles from my home. As a matter of fact, my primary reason for attending, for the short time I was there, was to see a very charming young lady whom I had become friendly with while serving on the NCC Executive Committee and to compare NSA notes with her. Any objection? As for an explanation of my presence at the Exec Meet of the Southern New England NSA conference: while wandering across Elm Street in New Haven on the Yale campus with a dear friend of mine whom I was visiting for a few hours, Bob West, Regional Chairman, beset me and prevailed upon me to dine with the Committee. We had roast beef. Regarding the Met New York meet, I called Wally Wallace (no relation to any other Wallace) for he was a traveling companion to Europe this summer, and I merely wanted to know how his sessions were going. The call was made from LaGuardia airfield and terminated by the almost immediate departure of my airplane, tickets for which were paid for by my ever-loving father so that I could attend my brother's wedding. Wedding pictures are on display in my room!

7) I am pleased with the public acknowledgment of the time and effort that I as an individual expended in an effort to eliminate racial discrimination in the Big Six athletic conference. I pride myself on thinking that my eager advice to Harold Mozer in some little way aided the cause of unprejudiced thinking and was, perhaps, part of the basis on which Mozer, the Student Council, and the university have been so highly commended from many sources.

EUGENE BRUCE BERMAN.

Dear Editor:
Since the principles of decent journalism require that someone accept responsibility for statements printed in any newspaper, and since The Daily Nebraskan will not accept such responsibility in the case of signed columns, it is only fair that the student body should know who is hiding under the pen name "Phaedrus" and making accusations against Eugene Berman.

I hope the Nebraskan will admit its error and publish the name of the person who calls himself "Phaedrus."

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a poet. Is naturally granted poetic license. But not in passing exams, where it would help. Would have fared better in 18th century. Today horrible fate awaits as radio jingle writer.

2. These are "Manhattan" pajamas. Many people wax poetic over them. They're tailored for real bedtime comfort... plenty of arm and leg room to eliminate binding and creeping. See the exclusive "Manhattan" patterns today.
