

Committee To Examine Resignations

The University senate standing committee on academic privilege will investigate the series of five resignations from the architecture department last week, according to an official university announcement Tuesday.

Prof. James M. Reinhardt, of the sociology department, heads the senate committee. It is a standing committee to investigate faculty matters which may involve infringements of academic freedom.

Linus Burr Smith, head of the architecture department, released the following statement concerning the situation:

"It is a matter of deep regret that matters concerning the university department of architecture have become a matter of public information, before pertinent facts concerned have been presented before duly constituted university authorities.

"The department of architecture has made in the past, and will make in the future, an intensive, painstaking effort to secure superior instructors. In this endeavor we, like all other schools and colleges over the nation, have been forced to compete with the high salaries offered by private industry, salaries educational institutions have not been able to match.

"As a result, the department of architecture, like all other departments of the university, and other universities and colleges, has expected the wholehearted co-operation of faithful faculty members, putting their shoulders to the wheel, working hard for long hours, to provide our students with the best kind of instruction possible.

"When a faculty member is unwilling to enter into this co-operative approach towards solving a difficult problem, when a faculty member seeks to obstruct this effort, then conditions are no longer tolerable.

"The full facts of this case, absolutely a matter of campus concern, will be placed before the proper impartial authorities—the committee on academic privileges. We will abide by their decision.

Announcement was made of two appointments to the architecture staff earlier Tuesday.

Charles W. Steinbaugh, practicing architect from Omaha, accepted a faculty position. He is vice-chairman of the state board of examiners for engineers and architects, having been a member of the board since its inception.

Steinbaugh is a co-founder of the Nebraska Architects association.

Promotion of Hedy Schultz to a full time instructor was announced. Miss Schultz, a recent graduate of the university, served first semester as a part-time instructor.

See ARCHITECTURE, Page 4

Johnson Calls For Prompt Point Listings

Prompt listing of point values by organized houses and campus organizations was requested today by Stan Johnson, chairman of the men's point board.

"Official totals for each man holding an office must be compiled before second semester classes begin," Johnson said. "Co-operation of all groups in which members or officers are pointed is necessary to get this done."

Revised point ratings, published in The Daily Nebraskan Tuesday, go into effect Feb. 2. The system limits the number of activity positions any one person may hold, depending upon his class and academic standing.

DETAILED instructions and the new point values were mailed campus organizations Tuesday. Additional copies may be obtained from the Student Union office.

Pre-war point ratings were revised in the spring of 1947 and enforced during the fall semester. Current revision were made at that time.

Only unattached individuals have extra office, 2 to shed their extra offices, Johnson reminded. Johnson said that the point board should specify which post a student must resign.

Daily Nebraskan

Vol. 48—No. 71 Lincoln 8, Nebraska, Wednesday, Jan. 21, 1948

AUTHORS OF THREE original one-act plays to be presented by the Experimental Theatre Wednesday, Jan. 21, at 7:00 p.m. are pictured above. They are Gaylord Marr, upper left, author of "Born Bad"; Dewey Ganzel, upper right, who wrote "Front Porch," and Grace Glass, below, whose social satire is entitled "The Truth About Mary."

Studio Theatre Stages Three Original Plays

Gaylord Marr, Grace Glass and Dewey Ganzel will see their own original plays presented tonight in an Experimental Theatre production of "Born Bad," "The Truth About Mary," and "Front Porch." The three plays and a Saroyan drama will be given in 7 p.m.

"Born Bad," directed by its author, Gaylord Marr, presents a sociological problem of a teen-aged boy who strives to achieve social adaptability in the face of parental neglect and misunderstanding.

Don Johannes is the director of "The Truth about Mary," a social satire which strikes at the values placed on materialism.

"Front Porch," directed by Dale Wisser, deals with a domestic problem involving a conflict between two brothers of opposite character. The mother of the two brothers aids in the resolution of the differences between the two.

Jack MacDonald is directing "Hello, Out There." The play is a tragic drama by William Saroyan which portrays the last moments of an innocent prisoner before he faces a lynch mob.

Lewandowski In Hospital

A. J. Lewandowski, present Business Manager of University Athletics suffered a mild heart attack Tuesday afternoon on his way downtown for lunch with Walter Dobbins, Lincoln Journal Sports Editor.

The St. Elizabeth Hospital reported that he was resting well.

Final Exams Reduce Ag Union Weekend Activities

Final exams have reduced the weekend activities at the Ag union to the regular Sunday afternoon features, Alice Matherau, Union director, revealed today.

Sunday afternoon at three, the matinee movie will offer the technicolor production "Sweet Rosie O'Grady," starring Betty Grable and Robert Young.

At 5 o'clock, the coffee hour will be presented in the lounge, offering free coffee and brownies with musical accompaniment in the form of piano selections.

Coeds Asked to Give Clothes For Young Women of Greece

University of Nebraska coeds are clothing the naked of war-ravaged Greece.

Sponsored by the university Y. W. as a freshman project, a drive to collect clothes for Greek women at the Mona Pendeli tuberculosis sanatorium at Athens is now underway on campus. Collections will be made from organized houses and from individuals.

Mims Weeth, president of the YWCA, has urged coeds to clean out their closets between semesters and to save clothes that were outmoded by "The New Look" for the Greek women. Men's clothing

YW Coeds Elect Speer President Sabin Serves as Vice-Prexy, Hepperly Represents District

Barbara Speer, Arts and Science junior, was named president of the city campus YWCA yesterday, following an election in which qualified members of the YWCA participated.

Shirley Sabin, Arts and Science junior, will fill the position of vice president.

The new district representative is Eileen Hepperly, also an Arts and Science junior. Janet Nutzman was elected to the office of secretary.

Phyllis Cadwallader was named to the office of treasurer.

Miss Speer has been an assistant freshman commission leader and was worship chairman for this year. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Miss Sabin, a counselor in the Residence Halls for Women, was

Registrations To End Today, Fee Due 26th

All students who still hold numbers for registration have been asked to report to the assignment committee in the library today so that registration may be completed before the semester examinations begin.

All students who have registered for second semester courses will be asked to pay fees starting Monday, Jan. 26, at Grant Memorial hall, from 8:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Students whose surnames begin with letters A to G inclusive make payment Monday, Jan. 26; H to Q, inclusive, Tuesday, Jan. 27; and R to Z, inclusive, Wednesday, Jan. 28.

Students must present identification cards at the time of payment. Any student who fails to pay on the day assigned will be assessed a late fee, and will not be permitted to pay fees until Monday, Feb. 2.

'48 Cornhusker Staff Chooses Iowa Beauties

The staff of the 1948 Cornhusker has chosen eight beauty queen finalists for the 1948 Iowa State Bomb, the Ames school yearbook, according to Jerry Johnston, Cornhusker managing editor.

From 24 pictures sent to the Nebraska publication, eight were chosen by individual vote of each of the staff members. The pictures included two girls from each sorority and two from the women's dormitory.

The beauty pictures were numbered, and no names accompanied them. The eight finalists' pictures will be sent to Varga, famous Esquire artist, who will choose the final winners.

The majority of the girls picked as most beautiful by Cornhusker staff members had short dark hair and wore "low, sexy dresses" Johnston declared.

Athletes Sponsor Spring Dance

The "N" club is sponsoring an all-university dance in the Coliseum April 24, according to Alex Cochrane, vice president of the group. Jerry Jacupke is supervising the preparations as social chairman.

In an announcement to The Daily Nebraskan, Cochrane said that a top-notch band, "the best in the country," will play.

As a part of a campaign to further relations between athletes and university professors, the club will invite the heads of the departments and deans to their luncheons in the future.

treasurer of YW for the past year. She was a delegate to the National Student Assembly in 1947.

Miss Hepperly is a member of Tassels and Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Miss Nutzman, Arts and Science sophomore, is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi. A former member of the Student Foundation Board, Miss Cadwallader is also an Arts and Science sophomore and a member of Gamma Phi Beta.

Next 'Nebraskan' Appears Feb. 3

Because of first semester examinations which start Thursday, this issue of The Daily Nebraskan will be the last of the fall semester.

The next issue will appear Feb. 3 under the management of the new staff recently selected by the Publications Board.

Farmers Fair Board Filings Due Jan. 31

Filing for the Farmers Fair Board are coming in slowly, according to Larayne Steyer, Wahlstrom, chairman of the board. Students wishing to file have only ten more days to do so.

Applicants must leave their names in Miss Wheeler's office, Room 202 in Ag Hall, before Jan. 31.

Open positions on the board include places for three junior men and three junior women. One senior woman will be chosen to fill the post vacated by Florence Arnold.

Exam Week Rules

1. Quiet hours will be observed in all houses during exam week except between the hours of 12:00 noon-1:00 p. m. and 5:00 p. m. until 7:00 p. m.
2. House chaperons may give permission to freshmen to go out until 10:30 on nights followed by no scheduled exams.
3. All privileges remain the same during final week except for the nights followed by an examination which are 9:00 o'clock for everyone.
4. Restrictions for down slips shall continue through exam week. (Note: No engagements after 8:00 o'clock). No special permission will be granted to persons with "downs" during this period.
5. House chaperons may grant permission to any student to go home.
6. Men may be in houses during the regular calling hours. However quiet hours are in force at 7:00 p. m. (e.g. no radio, phonograph or piano playing).