United Nations.

Great Britain submitted a six-point plan to the UN Little Assembly to curb the use of the veto in the Security Council. The suggestions are the same as those presented to the Council of Foreign Ministers by the British in November, 1946, and which has been under attack for not striking at the basis of current disagreement the problem of representation. Those seeking a strengthening of the international organization are advocating an elimination of the veto power but only after a system of representation of people, ending the one-nation-one-vote system, has been established.

United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie promised to do everything possible to carry out the partition of Palestine. This is despite Arab threats of war and the balking attitude of Great Britain. Simultaneously with Lie's statement and the internment of Jewish immigrants in Cyprus, Great Britain announced that seven hundred additional Arabs have entered Palestine illegally and taken over virtual control of the Samaria region. No internment nor deportation proceedings were initiated and guns and armaments continued to be traded for the all-important Arab oil by Britain and US.

India's UN delegation suddenly canceled plans to fly home to consult with the government but rather prepared to continue the endless harrangues pertinent to the Indian charges of January 1 that Moslem Pakistan was aiding tribesmen invading the Kashmir State which is occupied by Indian Army forces.

International.

Despite the aid to Greece agreement which provides for full coverage of activities of Americans in that country, and following the leakage of the fact that American military men are actively engaged in waging war in Greece and controlling that nation's affairs, the United States army group in Greece imposed "virtual press censorship on American and other news correspondents," according to an Associated Press bulletin. "All requests for information from news media will be referred to the public information office at Athens," stated the memo issued by an American officer serving in Greece in an advisory capacity. It is expected that Henry Wallace will make reference to the incident in his next speech.

Nebraska.

Gov. Val Peterson, a mere four days late, has designated February 8 to 15 as Negro History Week. Observing that communities throughout most of the civilized United States are observing the week with special programs, the Governor said it was originated "to call attention to the progress made by the race and its contributions to the American way of life."

The Nebraska Farmers Union, following in the steps of innumerable civic and religious organizations, Thursday adopted a resolution opposing universal military training. The farmers' group also voted down a resolution that called for lengthening the industrial work week from 40 to 44 hours.

After a Fashion

BY NANCY JENSEN.

Love is in the limelight and romance is riding high this week-end. With both St. Valentine's Day and the Interfraternity Ball falling on the same date, the hearts and minds of all the campus couples will be filled with gaiety, cupids and lacey notes saying "will you be mine" and "I love you." One look at a few of the dresses that the coeds will be wearing shows us that their dates have something to look forward to before they pick up their favorite valentine for that special date.

On Their Honeymoon.

Complete with marriage licenses, wedding bells and a Honeymoon Hotel is the annual Beta honeymoon party to be held Friday night. Marilyn Weber will attend in a black faille suit-dress. It is styled with a long packet, three-quarter length sleeves, and is accentuated by a double row of crystal buttons. Marilyn's partner will be Dick Means.

A brown crepe skirt and a brown printed blouse scattered with sequins is the ensemble Joan Delametre plans to wear on her mock honeymoon. Wearing a flush pink wool dress featuring tier pleats, long sleeves, and a round collar will be Ginny Swanberg, who is honeymooning with Bill Bach.

Heart-Breakers.

Opening the door of the huge red heart at Loomis Hall for her date, Ernie Rousek, will be Phyllis Babcock. Phyllis, dressed in a suit dress with a beige, flared skirt and a plaid jacket with brown trim, will be sure to win the heart of her valentine. Shirley Anderson will dance at the party in a rust crepe date dress. The dress is highlighted with a cowl neckline and a side drape on the straight skirt.

The theme of the Tri-Delt formal is "Starlight Sway." Glittering among the starry decorations will be Bobby Sprow in a white strapless, faille formal featuring a peplum. Her date is Jack Bryant. Beryl Lotsepelch is sure to shine in a forest green formal with a lace top, long pointed sleeves, and a full net skirt.

Despite the fact that this is the valentine week-end the Phi Delt's plan to hold a Klondike party Friday evening. Fitting right in with the theme will be Jackie Lou Merritt who is dressing as a prospector. Jacke's costume will be complete with boots, dungarees, suspenders, and her father's old hat.

Dressed for the Ball.

Of course, the climax of the week-end is the annual Interfraternity Ball. Dancing to the music of Warren Durrett's orchestra will be Sherry Swanson in a formal of royal blue crepe. The dress is accentuated with a net peplum covered with blue sequins.
