

ATHLETIC HYSTERIA

The Chancellor's remarks at the Founder's Day banquet represent one of the best summations of a sane attitude toward sports that has been presented to the American public.

Some of Dr. Gustavson's listeners interpreted his statements to mean that the university was entering a trend which might end with the contemporary system of the University of Chicago. Because Chancellor Gustavson is a former member of Chicago's faculty, this interpretation was given more credence than is warranted.

There is absolutely no reason to believe that the Chancellor desires the end of intercollegiate football at Nebraska. Rather, Gustavson is vitally interested in a well-balanced program of intercollegiate and intramural sports.

Very obviously, however, the Chancellor is opposed to over-emphasizing varsity sports. Gustavson, along with all other great educators in this country, is well aware of the necessity of a healthy body to a healthy mind.

No, the Chancellor isn't trying to make Nebraska a school without a football team. The Chancellor is merely trying to end the senseless hysteria that has threatened to become part and parcel of varsity sports.

To the true alumni and students of the university, his words last Sunday should be welcome. They represent a guarantee of a continued athletic program based on a sane, wholesome idea.

Department Cooperation

Tuesday's editorial on a preferential system of charges has caused considerable comment. To clarify references made in connection with Union operations it should be clearly understood that the lack of co-operation was all one way.

When Duane Lake became director of the Union, he set up a method of catering charges on a triple basis. Mr. Lake feels that the Union's first obligations are to students, therefore, groups and organizations are given reduced rates. University non-student groups, such as faculty banquets and other functions are also given a discount. Finally, a third price level has been established for activities which are not connected with the university.

This system demonstrates The Daily Nebraskan's suggestion of preferential treatment. If it is at all possible, such systems should be established in every branch of university operations.

In these days of high prices, the non-profit idea seems to have escaped everyone at Nebraska except the administrators of the Union.

To start the ball rolling, The Daily Nebraskan hopes to be able to offer all student and university advertisers special rates. There is no excuse for the prevalent attitude of trying to "do the other guy." An end to that idea may bring about a startling reduction in the over-all cost of any activity now being carried on by the university.

$8000 Pharmacy Grant to Be Used For New Supplies

A special appropriation amounting to $5,000 has been granted to the College of Pharmacy for purchase of laboratory equipment to be used in graduate and undergraduate teaching. Another appropriation totaling 3,000 dollars has been granted for the procurement of books, journals, and periodicals.

A total of 25,885.71 dollars has been received since July 1, 1946, in special appropriations, all of which has been used for the improvement of the Pharmacy department.

The major portion of this sum has been invested in torsion balances, electric kymographs, microscopes, laboratory glassware, and other essential laboratory and office equipment. Other specific items will be procured with the new appropriations.

The Daily Nebraskan picture on page 2 Wednesday was of the Charter day display in the Union. It was not the Union hobby exhibit as captioned.

Anderson's Bid To Be Revised At 'Y' Meeting

A special meeting of the Lancaster County Young Democrats has been called for today at 3:30 p.m. in the lounge of the city YMCA.

Political strategy and future plans for Albin T. Anderson, member of the University History department will be laid at the special meeting that will be attended by State Senator Harold C. Prichard, political advisor.

All indications point to the fact that the Lancaster County Young Democrats, having returned from Omaha still championing the candidacy of Anderson, and determined in their opposition of Carpenter, will issue a statement to the press following the special meeting. As yet, Carpenter, a former U. S. Representative, has not officially accepted the endorsement and will not do so, according to a press release issued by him, until Saturday.

The Young Democrats under the leadership of Don Morrow, Paul Scott, Peter Beelack, John White, Don Morrow, and other members of the Omaha delegation will resolve further action at this meeting.

There is speculation as to the possibility of Anderson running as an unendorsed candidate in the April 19 primary. Any democrat may file, but one, in this case Carpenter, will have the benefit of the pre-primary endorsement of the convention. Large segments of the democratic party seem to be displeased with Carpenter and are looking for a more liberal candidate who will be able to defeat the incumbent Senator Wherry.

Election Rules

Official Interpretation of Article IV, Section IV of the By-Laws by the Judiciary Committee of the Student Council:

"No vote shall be solicited at the polls or in the building in which the election is being held, during election day."

"No vote shall be solicited" shall mean no person eligible to vote for any candidate shall, in any way, by means of the spoken or written word or any other means, be influenced at the polls or while in the building where the election is being held, to cast his or her vote for any particular candidate.

"At the polls or in the building" shall mean any place in the building, at any of the entrances to the building, and within fifty feet of the building in which the election is being held.

"The Daily Nebraskan shall publish on the regular publication day prior to the election an impartial election edition containing publicity of all candidates and of all political parties."

"Impartial election edition" shall mean equal publicity for each candidate and each recognized political party without editorial and staff comment, with the same nature of information, identical style of type, pictures of the same size for all if used, and the like for each candidate and political party.

"No printed, mimeographed, typed or otherwise mechanically printed material, nor any handbills in behalf of any candidate or party shall be permitted."

"Any candidate violating these rules either in person or thru his supporters shall thereby be declared ineligible by The Judiciary Committee upon the presentation of conclusive evidence."

This is interpreted to include the declaration of ineligibility of a party or candidate who is found guilty of attempting to disqualify in any malicious manner his or his party to opponents.

"The Student Council shall create an Election Publicity Committee to approve and administer all election campaign publicity. This committee shall consist of four members the chairman being a member of the Student Council Elections Committee with the other three members being appointed from the Council."

The Election Publicity Committee shall have authority to:

- 1) specify each year the number of hand made posters to be used by each party and each candidate with no more than six posters per party and no more than four posters per candidate;
- 2) receive all posters from all candidates and parties, to be posted by the Council members only after the committee approval has been obtained.

The Election Publicity Committee shall be charged with keeping an accurate record of the posters for each candidate and party.

Any sort of organized campaigning through mechanical, vocal, and auditory means shall be prohibited.

The smashing, unexpected triumph of a Henry A. Wallace-backed American labor party candidate in a special New York City's Bronx congressional election handed Democratic party leaders a severe jolt Wednesday. On the other hand, third party strategists were elated. Wallace himself, in Tampa, Florida, hailed the victory of Leo Isaacson, A.L.P. candidate for congress, as "a real victory over bossism and machine politics," continuing that "it is a repudiation of the get-tough, double standard foreign policy that has been leading us toward war."

The senate voted Wednesday to cut President Truman's 1949 fiscal year budget by $2,500,000,000, leaving an estimated $10,000,000,000 for tax cuts and debt reduction. Meanwhile a new tax cut fight broke out over the idea of shuffling Marshall plan bookkeeping.

President Truman Wednesday asked congress for $75,000,000 for China to halt the "continued deterioration" of the Chinese economy. The money would be used largely to finance imports into China of essential items which the Chinese are virtually unable to buy, such as arms and munitions.
