

Husker Spring Grid Drills Start Monday, Says Potsy

Spring football drills at the University of Nebraska will start Monday despite the snow, George (Potsy) Clark announced. All players reporting for spring practice are asked to bring their own basketball or tennis shoes.

The decision was reached after a staff meeting Saturday. Coach Clark had given some thought, because of the cramped conditions beneath the stadium, to working with 50 of the veterans the first week.

All Players to Work Out.

The group consensus was that some of the players not called up for the first drills would lose enthusiasm, so it was decided to do the best possible job with the entire group from the first day of practice.

"Even now we will be running into the balmy weather of late April when spring fever attacks most of us," Coach Clark said. "We have a big task ahead of us but the enthusiasm of both the coaches and the players leads me to believe there are brighter days ahead for the Cornhuskers."

Coaches Assigned Teams.

Each assistant coach has been assigned two of the twelve teams which have been listed as units for the drills. The staff has been strengthened by the addition of Fred Lorenz and Jerry Moore, two players who were members of Coach Clark's Cornhusker team in 1945.

The various teams have been given names of Nebraska opponents. Coaches have been assigned to them as follows:

Iowa State and Minnesota, L. F. (Pop) Klein.

Colorado and Notre Dame, Ray Prochaska.

Kansas and UCLA, Tony Blazine.

Kansas State and Missouri, Dougal Russell.

Oklahoma and Oregon State, Fred Lorenz.

Pittsburgh and Indiana, Jerry Moore.

The first week of drills will be held beneath the east stadium with plays and conditioning receiving first attention.

"As soon as we are able to move outdoors we will do so," Coach Clark said. "We hope to be scrimmaging at once when the practice fields dry out."

The playing abilities have been spread out as evenly as possible throughout the twelve teams.

Jayhawks End Card With Win Over Cyclones

Coach Phog Allen's University of Kansas Jayhawks closed their basketball season Friday at Lawrence by downing Iowa State, 61-54.

The victory put the Jayhawks in a last-place tie with Colorado, while Iowa State dropped into the number four position, Kansas and Colorado each won four circuit contests and lost eight. The Cyclones won six and lost four.

Otto Schnellbach, playing his last game for Kansas, dropped 19 points to take runner-up scoring honors. He became the second Jayhawk to run his collegiate scoring total past 1,000. His total is 1,003.
