Phi Beta Kappa to Announce New Membership Wednesday

Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi will hear Dr. Louis N. Ridenour discuss "Science and International Affairs," at a joint meeting Wednesday.

New members selected for the two top academic honoraries will be announced at the dinner. The informal dinner will be served buffet style in the Union ballroom at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday.

Reservations Must be Made

Reservations should be made by mail before April 5. Plates are $1 each. Non-members may attend.

Dr. Ridenour is Dean of the graduate college and a professor of physics at the University of Illinois. He has done extensive work in the field of cosmic rays, nuclear physics, and electronics.

During the war he was assistant director of the radiation laboratories at M.I.T. He also was a special civilian consultant to General "Toogy" Spaatz in the European theater.

Members Picked From Senior Class

Members for Phi Beta Kappa are selected from one-eighth to one-tenth of the graduating class.

In recent years, the scholastic average of those picked has not dropped below 83 percent.

Students in all colleges are eligible for Phi Beta Kappa if they have met the group requirements of the arts and sciences college.

Science Film To Be Shown Twice Today

Photomicrography shows Creation. It takes a delicate camera and microscope to capture the inside secrets of a puff of smoke, or a leaf, or a drop of water as revealed in the religious-scientific film, "The God of Creation."

Vivid full-color scenes from astronomy and natural science are featured in "The God of Creation," sound motion picture to be shown at 5 p. m. today at the First Lutheran church, 17th and A St., according to the Rev. Alvin M. Peterson, pastor. The film will be shown to Ag students at 6:30 p. m. at 1200 No. 37 St.

Large Showing

"The God of Creation," produced by Dr. Irwin A. Moon in the Los Angeles laboratories of Moody Institute of Science, already has been shown to more than two million people in this country and was recently introduced in Europe.

In the opening section of "The God of Creation," the audience travels to the stars to view the complexities of our own solar system. The astronomical photographs were taken thru the giant 100-inch telescope of Mount Wilson Observatory in southern California.

Photosynthesis Shown

Lapse-time photography is utilized to demonstrate the beauties of natural science, as flower buds appear to develop into full-blown blossoms in a few seconds.

Pictures of photosynthesis, the mysterious food-manufacturing process resulting from the action of sunlight on leaves, will be shown.

Election Poster Rules Declared

Poster rules for the coming all-university spring elections, April 15, have been announced by Jack Selzer, chairman of the election publicity committee of the Student Council.

All publicity posters must be turned in to the Student Union office before 6 p. m., April 12, so that they can be checked by a Council committee. The Council will take care of the distribution of the posters. They will be posted as soon as possible after being turned in.

The maximum size for each poster will be 14 by 22 inches. Four handmade posters are allowed to each candidate and six to each party. These are the only printed materials which may be used.

The four posters will be placed in the Union, Love Library, Ag Union, and one more in any campus building. If no fourth choice is indicated, the last one will be put in Social Sciences building.

If fewer than four posters are turned in, it should be stated which of the four places they be posted.

Further election rules can be found in a box in Tuesday's Daily Nebraskan.

16 Frosh, 3 Junior Teams Advance in Moot Court Trials

Law college's Moot Court competition ended just before spring vacation, with 16 frosh and three juniors emerging as victors.

The competition to determine this year's final winning senior team will be held later in the spring.

Thirty-two freshmen teams participated in the proceedings along with six junior teams. The 16 frosh teams will enter the junior competition next fall, while the three junior winners will continue into the senior bracket next fall.

The fund for the Moot Court was donated by Thomas S. Allen, a member of the first graduating class of the university Law school. Winners of the freshmen and for the development of new operations and techniques that made possible the removal of tumors from the spinal cord and brain. He received an honorary Doctor of Science degree.

Honorary Degree

Miss Chamberlin received an honorary Master of Nursing degree. A graduate of Blair high school, she received her certificate in nursing at Chicago in 1922. During World War I she served overseas with the University of Nebraska Base Hospital No. 49, and was superintendent of the college dispensary from 1919 until her retirement in 1945.

Dr. Edward L. Bortz of Philadelphia, president of the American Medical Association, the main speaker, told the graduates that socialization of medicine would force the medical profession into chains by placing it under government control. He asserted that in every nation where political control has been forced upon an unwilling medical profession, the standards of medical service have deteriorated, and the public has received a lower quality of medical care. He pointed out that in the past 100 years medical science has increased life expectancy from 41 to 67 years.

Administers Oath

Dean Harold C. Lueth administered the Oath of Hippocrates, awarded the certificates to technologists, and degrees to Bachelors of Science and Doctors of Medicine. Degrees in Medical Technology were presented by Dr. J. Perry Tollman, and those in Nursing by Irma M. Kyle, director of the School.

The charge to the graduating class was given by Dr. R. G. Gustavson, and Capt. Mitchell D. Matthews administered the oath of office to appointees to the U.S. Naval Reserve.
