

Oslo Scientist to Address Annual Engineer Banquet

Highlight of the annual banquet that concludes Engineers' Week activities will be an address by Dr. Gustav Lindstrom, formerly of the University of Oslo.

Dr. Lindstrom will speak on "Atomic Energy as Applied to Everyday Life." The banquet chairman for Engineers' Week, Paul Ruhter, also announced that Lee White will act as master of ceremonies. The banquet will be held in the Union ballroom at 7:30 p. m. Friday, April 30.

Awards Presented.

At the banquet it is a tradition to present to the winners the field day award and the Engineers' Week award. Also the recipients of the O. J. Fee award, the Blueprint awards, and the Sigma Tau freshman scholarship will be announced.

This year, because of the large enrollment of the college, and because only five hundred tickets are available, it was decided to limit sales to the engineers, thus making the banquet a stag affair.

Tickets Available.

Tickets are available to engineering students and faculty through the several engineering societies. The price is $1.75 per person, $1.50 for the dinner, and 25 cents which will be used for other Engineers' Week expenses.

Teaching Aids Government Says Henzlik

Good teaching does much to develop the understanding needed to mold free men and women who can maintain government of, for and by the people.

This was the opinion expressed Friday night by Dean F. M. Henzlik of the University of Nebraska Teachers college to 76 outstanding high school seniors from over the state.

The occasion was the concluding banquet of the second annual "Teachers and Tomorrow" conference sponsored by the University to stimulate interest and participation in teaching by "Nebraska's future leading citizens."

The banquet was sponsored by the Lincoln chamber of commerce. Other speakers included Chancellor R. G. Gustavson; Wayne Reed, state superintendent of public instruction; and Archie Baley, manager of the Lincoln chamber.

"Teaching is not confined to the imparting of knowledge nor even to the stimulation of learning," Dean Henzlik said. "In a broader sense it is a way of life by which we realize the joys of a good life ourselves through helping others in their quest for happiness, and careers with security and personal satisfactions."

"Lifting the teaching act from a routine task to the level of a creative enterprise is not only exciting and exhilarating but is also worthy of the best intelligence and brains today."

UN Student Health Far Cry From 1919 First Aid Service

BY GENE BERG

Are you in the pink? Healthy, that is? If not, take heed to the "call for Doctor Kildare," and stop in at the Student Health Center at your convenience.

Even if you're "just looking around," there is a lot to learn at the greatly enlarged health center on the campus. Located in a two-story temporary building north of Teachers college, Student Health is a far cry from the one-doctor unit of 1919. Dr. Samuel I. Fuenning, present director, tells that at that time, the health program was located in Pharmacy building, and its service consisted primarily of first aid, medication, advice and examinations.

Service Expanded

"This type of operation continued in general until last fall," remarked Dr. Fuenning, "but when it came apparent to university authorities in 1946 that enrollment would almost double within the space of a year, plans were laid to greatly expand the service to meet the needs of the increased number of students." The Center now has an outpatient dispensary on the first floor and a 26-bed infirmary on the second floor.

"The staff at present consists of two full-time physicians, ten Lincoln visiting specialists, and five Lincoln consulting specialists," said Dr. Fuenning. "The visiting and consulting staff represents practically every field of medical specialty," he added.

Every student on campus is invited to take advantage of the services offered by the Student Health Center. Dr. Fuenning emphasized. Services offered include examinations, clinical service, hospitalization, and anti-contagion. The Center also has charge of sanitation and health education. Psychiatric consultation offered to students now will be expanded.

The most modern, up-to-date equipment is used in the center. An annual tuberculosis check-up is given every student, and check-ups are given prior to intra-mural activity. Excuses from physical education and military science can be obtained only through the Center.

The importance of the Student Health Center program will be given over-all coverage at a Health convocation Thursday, April 15. Dr. Fuenning, Chancellor Gustavson, Dean H. C. Laeth, and Dr. Harold Diehl, dean of the University of Minnesota Medical college, all will speak at the meeting to be held at 11 a. m. in the Coliseum.

Innocents' Filings

Junior men with activity points are reminded by Innocents President Stan Johnson that they must mail their name, address and telephone number to Johnson at 1548 S street no later than Monday.

Names of junior men who thus indicate interest in the Innocents Society will appear on a special ballot which will be voted upon by junior and senior men Thursday at the time of regular spring election. This election will trim the field of prospective Innocents to 25 men.

In addition to the activity point requirement, junior men must have at least an 80 average and must have at least 89 and no more than 108 credit hours.

"Letters of filing must be in the mail Monday," stressed Johnson.

Seniors First To Register

Rosenlof Announces Early Procedures

Early registration procedures for the summer and fall terms will be much the same for students on the city campus as they were last December and January.

Beginning April 19 registration tickets will be issued from Temporary Building B (the first white frame building south of Andrews hall) in the following manner:

April 19—Seniors and graduate students (89 or more semester hours earned to date).

April 20—Juniors (53 to 88 semester hours earned to date).

April 21—Sophomores and freshman whose surnames begin with A, B, C, D, E, F, G, or H.

April 22—Sophomores and freshmen whose surnames begin with I, J, K, L, M, N, O, or P.

April 23—Sophomores and freshmen whose surnames begin with Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, or Z.

In order that all sophomores and freshman may have an even break, the tickets set aside for April 21, 22, and 23 will be dealt out, one at a time into three piles. Ticket one for sophomores and freshman, for example will go to the first student on April 21, ticket two to the first student on April 22, and ticket three to the first student on April 23.

Ident Card Needed

Each student must present his identification card in order to secure a registration ticket. No exceptions to this rule can be made.

Students in doubt as to whether or not they should receive junior or senior registration tickets should present their credit books, grade reports, and yellow evaluation slips to prove their entitlement.

Registration for the summer and fall terms will be held on the city campus Temporary building B beginning April 26. Students enrolling in the College of Agriculture will follow a different procedure which will be announced later.

NU-Meds Select Choices to Fill Fall Vacancies

At the April meeting of Nebraska Nu-Meds the following persons were selected as nominees to fill the officer vacancies for next fall: president, Gordon Johnson and Benny Robinson; vice-president, Sherrill von Bergen and Tom Powell; secretary, Mike Triston and Lois Richmond; treasurer, Walter Bennett and Jim Blankenship.

Election of officers will be at the next regular meeting on May 5.

Following the business meeting Dr. H. E. Harvey, Lincoln obstetrician and gynecologist, spoke on "Contributions and Advancements in the Field of Obstetrics and Gynecology."

Dr. Harvey told of the countless safety methods and devices that have been introduced to the field of obstetrics through the ages that have served to minimize the casualties occurring in childbirth, pointing out that in the last 30 years deaths due to childbirths have been reduced from six deaths in a thousand cases to a present low of two in a thousand.

Senior Class Meets Tonight In Library at 7

Chancellor Gustavson will meet with all members of the senior class Monday night at 7 at which time he will discuss the situation in regard to Baccalaureate services. The meeting will be held in Love Library auditorium.

In past years there has been a weak attendance on the part of the seniors at such meetings. The Monday evening meeting is being called to determine whether the seniors will give their wholehearted support to a Baccalaureate, by full attendance, or whether they desire to dispense with the traditional program. All seniors are urged to attend in order that a full senior voice might be heard.

Many universities throughout the country are faced with the same difficulty and have dropped Baccalaureate services from their graduation program. The results of the meeting will determine the policy to be followed in future years.

All organized houses are requested to either excuse seniors from Monday meetings or to delay their meetings until the senior meeting has been concluded.

Sharpshooters Take 4th Place In Hearst Meet

The University varsity rifle team placed fourth in the Fifth Army area intercollegiate rifle matches, and fifth in the William Randolph Hearst rifle competition, Sgt. John Lavold, rifle team coach, said Friday.

A fifteen man team competed in the intercollegiate contest against 17 other teams. In the Hearst competition, five man teams were used. Two other Nebraska teams placed ninth and 30th among 60 colleges and universities entered from the mid-west area.

The high scoring Hearst competition team was composed of: Don C. Fischer and Herbert F. Miller, Walter G. Palmer, and Mary F. Radke and Wilbur Scholle. In both matches, teams fired under supervision on the university rifle range and scores were mailed.

Sergeant Lavold announced that the five man freshman rifle team, competing in a contest sponsored by the National Rifle association, fired a team total of 1,336 points of a possible 1,500, which is within three points of the total which won the 1947 contest. National results in this contest are not yet available.
