

A Thought

Where do YOU live?

Before our world can become one world, we must forget our allegiance to our own small part and become concerned with the whole.

Our nation is certainly not a spotless area in the over-all picture of prejudice, poverty and reigns of terror, but for the good of every individual on this earth each of us must be willing to forego a part of himself for the good of all.

It was only through compromises that they achieved the united state which they now have.

Jesus said, "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me," and in the socialized aspect of this problem, it can be said that he who loves his own home state or America more than the world is not worthy to be a citizen of that world.

Fox to Present Organ Recital

Organist Virgil Fox, described by veteran critic Edward Moore of the Chicago Tribune as destined to "put the organ on the musical map as a brilliant concert instrument," will perform at the console of First-Plymouth Congregational church Wednesday, April 21 at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Lincoln chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Now organist at the famous Riverside Church of New York City, Fox was engaged after a two year search among organists of this generation. He was appointed to the interdenominational Protestant church, built by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., for Harry Emerson Fosdick, in 1946 and is gradually building there a ministry of music comparable with those of the cathedrals of France where the greatest in organ music is offered.

Serving in the armed forces for four years until January of 1946, Fox gave 543 appearances in his first eleven months of service for the war effort, alternating between Special Services and the Chaplain's Corps. After that time, he reportedly lost count of subsequent performances.

Beginning a series of three organ recitals at the Library of Congress the very week he was separated from the army, Fox performed from memory 44 major organ compositions in eleven days.

A teacher as well as a performer, Fox became head of Peabody Conservatory, the oldest endowed conservatory in America, at the age of 26, a signal honor. His teaching schedule is arranged to allow extensive concertizing on a large scale throughout the country during the regular season, and lesser occasional tours.

The program which Fox will play here Wednesday on his first tour in five years, will include works by Bach, Franck and Mendelssohn plus a contemporary group by Langlais, Middelschulte, and Dupre. Tickets are available at $1.20 at local music stores, or from Professor Myron Roberts in the School of Music.

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

"I think Chesterfield is the best cigarette on the market. I've smoked them for about 20 years. It's mild and it's got more real tobacco taste."

"Liggett & Myers buy the middle leaves... it's the best leaf... it's mellow... it's got to be ripe. They consistently pay above the average to get the tobacco they want."
