

Law School Ends Moot Competition

Four Seniors to Vie for Allen Prize Wednesday in Capitol

The finals of the Allen Moot Court competition will be held Wednesday night, May 5, at 7:30 in the Nebraska Supreme Court chambers in the Capitol.

Senior finalists are: Robert C. Guenzel and Richard D. Wilson vs. Ralph B. Nelson and William T. Schwartz. The main issue of the case will be community property. The public is invited to the competition.

Justices to Judge.

Judging the case will be three justices of the State Supreme Court, Bayard H. Paine, Edward F. Carter and Adolph E. Wenke. The two members of the winning team will each be presented with a key and their names will be inscribed on the Allen plaque on the first floor of the Law building.

The winners will be announced after the case and will be presented at the Law School banquet next Thursday evening at the Cornhusker hotel. Refreshments will be served at 6:30, and the dinner will begin an hour later.

Chappell to Speak.

Another justice of the State Supreme court, Ellwood B. Chappell, will be the principal speaker at the banquet.

The two teams in the finals have survived the freshman and sophomore rounds of trials and are the only two left in their class in the competition. Each year three classes compete for the prize.

Shumate Elected PBK President

Dr. Roger V. Shumate, University political scientist, is the new president of the Nebraska chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society. He succeeds Dr. D. J. Brown.

Other officers announced at the society's initiation banquet held on the campus Sunday evening: Dr. Benjamin Boyce, vice president; Prof. Clifford M. Hicks, secretary; Prof. George M. Darlington, treasurer, and Lenore Laymon, historian.

Initiation ceremonies were held for 23 university students.

New Ag, ROTC Funds Established

Establishment of two funds with the University Foundation was announced Monday by Perry W. Branch, director-secretary.

The first is a student loan fund established with an initial gift of $250 by Howard Biggar of Chicago, Ill., in memory of his son, Bruce Biggar, who was killed in action during World War II. Loans will be available from the fund to male students enrolled in the Agriculture college who have been active in 4-H club work. The loans will not bear interest nor require security.

The second is an achievement prize fund of $250 established by the Cadet Officers association of the University. An award of $25 will be made annually from the fund to an outstanding second-year basic student in the ROTC, who intends to take advanced training. The award is designed to encourage high scholarship, and achievement in ROTC training in the University.

U.S.-Russian Relations Topic Of Library Forum Tonight

Our relations with Russia will be the theme of a forum to be held in the Love Library auditorium this evening at 7:30, according to Gordon Lippitt, executive secretary of the university YMCA.

The forum will feature guest speakers Lee Chatfield, Milo W. Price, Richard Criley and Reese Wilkinson. Ted Sorenson will be chairman and Charles Goolsby and Dr. Curtis Elliot, professor of economics, will be moderators.

Four speakers will approach the subject "How Can We Establish Friendship with Russia," from several points of view.

Conservative Speaks.

On the conservative wing, Lee Chatfield, assistant dean of men at the University, will maintain that the way to deal with the Soviets is to be tough with them. Reese Wilkinson, city councilman, will discuss the measures short of a shooting war the United States may take to preserve democracy and gain Russian cooperation.

Milo W. Price, political science instructor, will approach the possibility of friendship and cooperation between the USA and Russia through the United Nations Organization.

Criley Favors Friendship.

In the leftist position will be Richard Criley, graduate of the University of California and a former member of General Eisenhower's staff. Criley, a member of the Illinois Communist party, will take the point of view that friendship is possible with the Russians as a neighboring power now.

"The forum is not designed to criticize nor spread any particular teaching or political theory," said Goolsby, "but is aimed at helping

Dancers Plan Spring Concert For Orchesis' 21st Birthday

Orchesis, modern dance group, will celebrate its 21st anniversary on the University campus with its annual spring concert Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8, at 8:15 p.m. in Grant Memorial.

Based on the idea "Through the Ages," the program will include dramatic and amusing primitive rituals, pre-classic dance forms, Viennese waltzes, jazz boogie and contemporary modern. Members of Pre-Orchesis will dance in two numbers, and the men's group will present a take-off on a day in the army.

All dances are original with the group, and will be accompanied by piano, percussion instruments, flute and organ.

Sponsored by the department of physical education for women and Women's Athletic association, Orchesis is directed by Dr. Aileen Lockhart. She is also director of the men's group. Pre-Orchesis is taught by Miss Dorothy Courtney.

Marian Falloon is Orchesis president; Mrs. H. H. Flood is accompanist. Program personnel includes:

Rokahr to Sing At Wednesday Music Recital

An unusual song recital will be offered by the School of Music Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Temple theater when Jack Rokahr, baritone, is presented in a recital of French and Spanish songs.

Designed to present a view of song development since the Middle Ages, the program includes French songs from the 13th to the 20th centuries, and a group by the modern Spanish composer, Manuel de Falla. To be heard in their original song-form, the de Falla numbers have realized popularity in this country in instrumental transcription.

Miss Marga Gortmans, until a year ago a resident of Paris, France, will accompany Rokahr at the piano. An accomplished recitalist herself, Miss Gortmans has been heard in Lincoln in concert with the Steckelberg String Quartet, featuring modern Spanish numbers particularly.

The complete program, open without charge to the public, includes:

- Quant le rosignot chant. (12th century).
- L'autrier par la matinee. (13th century).
- Wedding song from province of Le Berry (17th century).
- Original song version, "Danse Macabre," Saint-Saens, (19th century).
- Scene from Act I, Massenet's "Manon," (19th century).
- Scene, "Pelaez and Melisande," Debussy, (20th century).
- Six songs of Manuel de Falla (20th century): El Pano Moruno; Seguidilla Murciana; Asturian; Jota; Cancion; and Polo.

Registry Through 4,500 Tuesday

Registration was progressing smoothly and without incident Monday, according to Floyd W.

Council Moves Heavy Traffic From R Street

The Student Council's efforts in improving campus traffic conditions were realized when the city council approved the moving of the arterial street at 14th and R to 14th and Q.

The problem of the heavy traffic on 14th and R was brought before the Student Council last fall and was turned over to the Campus Improvements committee headed by Dale Ball. Ball assigned the job of taking traffic counts on R and Q streets to Dick Schleusener.

Schleusener took the count on 14th and R Oct. 10, and on 14th and Q, Oct. 17. The results of the counts are indicated in the accompanying graph. Between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., 9,017 cars were counted on R street, while only 3,293 were counted on Q street.

The recommendation to move the arterial to 14th and Q was submitted to the city council Nov. 1 and was turned over to a sub-committee of the traffic control commission. In spite of five petitions from Q street property owners who were opposed to the change, the Council voted to accept the recommendation.

Union Birthday Cake . . .

Mmmmm. Good. Students stand in line for a piece of the "Union birthday cake" at the Union open house Saturday night.
