Schleusener was appointed in his place.

Blackman will go to Minneapolis Sunday morning to attend a convention of building and ground

Speech Honors Awarded SAM Team, Farber

Don Farber and Arnold Falk divided honors in the final round of the Intramural speech contest Saturday morning. Farber won top billing in the individual competition and he and Falk took first place for Sigma Alpha Mu in the house contest.

Farber spoke on "Should Col-lege Athletics Be Subsidized?" He was given a rating of 54, out of a possible 55. The house duo were given 75 points.

Dale Ball, with 50 points, took second place and third spot went to Doug Peters, with 49. Jackie Gordon and Ted Gunderson tied for fourth with scores of 48.

Second place house honors were won for Sigma Alpha Epsilon by Wallace Swanson and Gunderson with a joint score of 73. Sigma Delta Tau took third with Jackie Gordon's and Marcia Tepperman's superintendents. Problems similar to Nebraska's will be discussed at the convention, and the parking committee will meet again in a week or 10 days.

Situation Grows Worse

Three factors have further contributed, during the past two weeks, to the already serious parking situation, it was pointed out at the meeting. One of these is the heavy general public parking along 12th street in the early morning, which makes it impossible for students to park their cars there.

The presence on campus of the cars of workers building Burnett hall, and the cars of numerous high-school senior "sneak-day" parties have added to the prob-

Suggestions for parking space included using the coliseum mall, putting 12th street and T street under the University's supervivision licensing plan.

Mall Would Add 400

More than 400 parking places would be added if the mall were made into a parking lot, but at least five policemen would be required to supervise parking there. Their salaries would cost the University an estimated $25,-000 annually.

As things now stand, 12th and T streets are city streets and subject to city policing. The University administration cannot put 12th or T under its supervision without an order from the Board of Regents. If the board did make a regulation to that effect, the University would then be able to make its own rules for those streets and could, if it wished, allow double parking.

Under the licensing plan, students would have to buy stickers or plates to put on their cars so that they could be recognized recently elected Student Council as belonging to students. Problem Not New Dean of Student Affairs, T. J. Thompson said that the problems was an old one, and stated that to Sigma Alpha Mu Monday night sidered and discarded as not feasible 24 years ago.
