

High Scorer To Win Trophy Tri K's To Hold Crop Judging Meet Saturday; Offer Prizes

The annual Tri K crops judging contest will be held in the College Activities building on Saturday, May 15, with all entering students placed in one of three divisions. Requirements for the divisions are: Freshmen—no Agronomy or Agronomy 1. Junior—all students with more than Agronomy 1 and not out for the crops judging team. Senior—those students out for the crops judging team.

Ribbon awards will be awarded the top ten contestants in each division. The high scoring individual in each division will receive a medal award.

A trophy will be awarded the high scoring individual of the contest by the Nebraska Crop Improvement association.

All awards will be presented at a banquet that evening at 6:30 in the Foods and Nutrition building. A short program following the presentation of awards will consist of pictures shown by Mr. Noel Hansen of his work in weed eradication with a Hawaiian pineapple and sugar cane association. Mr. Hansen was formerly with the University College of Agriculture.

Tickets for the banquet are $1.10 and can be purchased at the Agronomy office, Finance office or the Ag Union.

The Tri K's will also hold an initiation meeting Thursday, May 13 at 7 p.m. in the Crops Laboratory. Election of new Tri K officers will take place then.

Baird Named New Chancellor Of Alpha Zeta

Jack Baird, Ag college junior, was installed in the office of chancellor of Alpha Zeta, agricultural honorary fraternity, at the regular meeting last week. Other newly elected officers who were installed: High censor, Donald Lehr; scribe, Frank Loeffel; treasurer, Joe Havelka; and chronicler, Ted Walter.

Frankfurter Presents Gift to Lentz From Band Members at Banquet

Prof. Donald Lentz, director of University Band, is shown with his pipe humidifier presented by the band for his ten years of outstanding service. Lentz's band has been cited as one of the nation's best marching bands.

University band members showed their appreciation for the leadership of Professor Donald A. Lentz, director, at their annual banquet Friday evening when Col. Frankfurter presented a pipe humidifier engraved with a band key to Lentz.

"Lentz has served the University for 10 years in the capacity of band director and has produced one of the nation's outstanding marching bands which has been a credit to both the military department and the University," Col. Frankfurter stated.

Five members of the band who were awarded R.O.T.C. honorary band keys for outstanding service to the organization during the school year are: William Kelly, Jack Snider, Darwin Fredrickson, Edward Jorden, and Kent Tiller.

Fredrickson was also named president of the band, succeeding Snider.

Scouting Positions Open, Interviews Scheduled May 13

announced by past Chancellor Ned Raun, that plans had been completed for a convocation featuring General Pick of the M.V.A., to be held at 10 a. m. at the college activities building, May 7.

Ag Experimental Livestock Victims of Stray Dog Pack

Livestock men on Ag campus are getting a bit tired of having stray dogs play havoc with their experimental and breeding herds and flocks.

Several weeks ago, a flock of stray dogs attacked some of Dr. L. E. Hanson's experimental hogs. Several of the animals were killed. Then late Sunday night, the dogs were on the "kill" again and attacked the sheep flocks on the campus. Bill Ezry, sheep herdsman, and Prof. M. A. Alexander discovered the loss Monday morning.

From eight to ten of the lambs and ewes in the sheep pens were killed outright by the dogs. In addition, some 30 to 40 of the other sheep were maimed badly. Many of them had their ears chewed off or legs and bodies badly bruised. Some of them had to be slaughtered Monday.

The sheep pens are located at the sheep barns on the campus.

Fences about four feet tall are around the pens and buildings but they did not prove any handicap for the attacking dogs.

Such wholesale slaughtering and maiming by this flock of unidentified strays practically wrecked the Ag experimental project, college officials said. All victims were highly valued experimental and breeding animals.

Innocents Trophies

All men's groups—houses and organizations—competing for the Innocents scholarship and leadership trophies are requested to submit itemized lists of total points to Stanley Johnson, Innocents president, before Monday, May 17. Announcement of trophy winners will be made early next week.

Great Tune—Great RECORD

It's Bob Eberly's waxing of "You Can't Run Away From Love."—Decca Record Release

BOB EBERLY, the romantic ballad singer, gives some old but good advice to cuddlesome-tuosomes on this click-disc.

And Bob has another good word for smokers. As Bob sings it, "I've tried a lot of different brands of cigarettes—but Camels suit me best."

Try Camels on your "T-Zone"—T for Taste... T for Throat. See for yourself why, with Bob Eberly and countless other smokers who have tried and compared, Camels are the "choice of experience."
