

Union to Welcome Students

2-Day UN Clinic Starts Monday; Harris to Talk

Main speaker at the two-day University of Nebraska United Nations clinic next Monday and Tuesday will be Dr. Walter Harris, of the United Nations.

Dr. Harris is in the UN as program and studies officer, special services division of the department of public information.

A native New Zealander, he is a specialist in international relations and education.

"The UN, What Is It?" is the theme of the clinic and will be Dr. Harris' topic when he presents a lecture open to the public in Love Memorial library auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Monday. The auditorium is on the first floor of the library.

If Space Needed

If the crowd at the lecture is such that more space than is available in the auditorium is needed, the overflow will be seated in various other rooms on first floor. The audience in these overflow rooms will be able to hear the speaker through a public address system set-up.

The noted author and lecturer will hold a press and radio conference at 10 a. m. Monday and at 12 noon will talk informally about the United Nations at a faculty luncheon in the Union.

On Tuesday at 10 a. m., Dr. Harris will make a record of his (See U. N. Clinic, Page 2)

Open House at 8:30 Tonite; Need Identification Cards

Registration For Music 91, 97 Requested

The university symphony orchestra will present its annual summer "Pops" concert at the east entrance of the stadium on the evening of July 14. Prof. Wishnow has urged summer school students who want to participate to register for Music 91.

The course is offered with one hour credit. Those who want to play in the orchestra without registering for credit should consult with Prof. Wishnow in the school of music building, room 210.

The university chorus under the direction of Mr. J. Dayton Smith, will present the university summer chorus in a concert at the Union the evening of July 12. Mr. Smith requested that those interested in singing in the summer chorus register for Music 91 with or without credit.

To welcome all summer school students to the University and to initiate the summer session activities program, the Student Union will entertain all students at open house tonight.

The Union doors will open for the party at 8:30 p. m.

Dancing will last until midnight. Music for the dance to be held in the ballroom will be provided by Gene Moyer and his orchestra.

Floor Show

One feature of the evening's entertainment will be a floor show presented by Lloyd's dance studio of Lincoln. It will be a dance demonstration of Latin American numbers.

To be admitted tonight, a student need only present his identification card. Each student is entitled to bring one guest not registered in the University.

Other entertainment will include a series of movie shorts which will be shown in room 315 twice during the evening, at 9 p. m. and 10 p. m. The music, card and game rooms will also be open for party-goers' use.

Refreshments — punch and cokes — will be served during the evening in the main lounge.

Schedule Planned

Union director Duane Lake has planned a full summer schedule of entertainment and activity for students. Every Sunday will be a coffee hour and organ interlude in the main lounge and free movies in the ballroom. Also scheduled are siesta film hours every Tuesday and week-end juke-box dance flings. On the agenda, too, are bridge instruction and craft shop instruction. The craft shop which was a new project of the Union the past year, will open Tuesday, June 15 in room 12.

Union's Craft Shop to Begin Work Tuesday

A new project added last spring to Union activities, the craft shop, will open to students Tuesday, June 15.

The shop will be open for the rest of the summer session on Tuesday from 1 to 5 p. m. and on Wednesday from 7 to 9 p. m. A new topic of instruction will be taken up each week.

The first session next week will be an instruction on leather work by a craft expert. There will also be an exhibition of handicraft. At each session, students will be free to work on any sort of handicraft they wish. The latter part of the period will be devoted to the instruction scheduled for that week.

The second week's instruction will be on felt work and novelties; the third on crayon, textiles and block prints; fourth, spatter painting on such items as stationary and cards; fifth, designs; sixth, photo tinting; seventh, novelties such as jewelry, table decorations, etc.

'Cox and Box,' Sullivan Comic Operetta, To Make One Night Stand Here June 14

GIL GALLAGHER

ELLIS GILBERT

"Cox and Box," a comic operetta by Sir Arthur Sullivan, will be the first in a series of four outstanding artist productions to be sponsored by the Union this summer and will be presented in the Union ballroom, Monday, June 14.

Season tickets for the artist series may still be obtained in the Union office for $1.75. Individual tickets for each production will be 60 cents per person, and may also be purchased at the Union office.

"Cox and Box," stars Gil Gallagher as Mr. Cox, a journeyman hatter; Ellis Gilbert as Sergeant Bouncer, the landlord; and Carl Nicholas as Mr. Box, a journeyman printer.

Timely Operetta.

This comic operetta is timely at present, although it was written more than 80 years ago, since it has to do with the housing shortage.

Mr. Bouncer, a British landlord with an eye to financial gain rents a room to Mr. Cox in the daytime and to Mr. Box at night. Their hours are such that they do not meet until one gets a day off, at which time the operetta opens.

"Cox and Box" was written by Sir Arthur Sullivan of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan combination, before Gilbert joined Sullivan. The operetta itself is a farce-comedy which began Sullivan's career. The New York cast will fly to New York for the opening of the Chautauqua Opera Company at the end of this western tour of which Nebraska is a part.

Knows 100 Roles.

Gil Gallagher is a character actor-singer. A bass-baritone who knows over 100 operatic roles from memory, he has been seen in every production of the Chautauqua Opera company for the past seven years. During the winter Gallagher is principal singer at the Asti restaurant in New York.

Carl Nicholas, tenor, has appeared in numerous Broadway musicals. While appearing with Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark," he was inducted into the service and soon placed with the special detachment of "This is the Army," singing for the next three years throughout America, Great Britain, Europe, Africa, Asia, Australia and the south Pacific.

His first post-war engagement was in Puccini's "La Rondine," conducted by Wilfred Pelletier. Immediately afterwards, he was the Duke in "Rigoletto," in which he sang opposite Miss Josephine Antoine.

Sang With Huston.

More recently he has appeared on Broadway with Walter Huston in the musical success, "Knickerbocker Holiday," and had a comedy role in "Du Barry was a Lady."

This past year he appeared in the title role of the "Chocolate Soldier" with Ann McKnight as his leading lady.

The Union has scheduled three other artist programs. The second will be Melvin Ritter, New York concert violinist. His program will be in connection with an all-state music festival concert on June 24.

On July 7, the Fielder trio, made up of three artists who have been past soloists with the Dallas and Kansas City symphonies, will give a concert of popular flute, cello and piano melodies.

The final production will be a complete Broadway play with one actress taking all parts in the cast. Miss Maud Scheerer, will produce a contemporary Broadway play on July 27 with the aid of special props and costumes for each of the members of the cast which she plays.

Opening of UN Display Slated Sunday at 2:30

Official opening of the famed United Nations display is scheduled in Love Memorial Library Sunday at 2:30 p. m. However, observers are welcome to examine the exhibit at any time from now until June 24 when it will close.

The official dedications will carry out the theme of the United Nations. Four foreign students attending the university will talk commenting on what the UN means to their countries. They are Rambaran Ramdan of India, Marjorie Harris of Hawaii, Malid Grogin of Turkey and Jacques Levi of Egypt.

Following short talks by the students, a special transcription from the United Nations will be broadcast. The ceremony will close with a brief motion picture on the United Nations Charter. The ceremony is open to the public free of charge.

Display units tell in a dramatic way the story of how the United Nations started, how it functions, and something about life in all the 54 member nations of the UN. "Know Your UN" is the theme of the exhibit.

Only Exhibit

This display is the only exhibit of its kind in the world. It has been shown in only three other places: Brooklyn, Cleveland and Baltimore. When it leaves Nebraska, it will be shown in Huston, Tex. The display was brought to this campus through a gift to the University of Nebraska Foundations from the Lincoln newspapers.

The Display is the first phase of a broad program designed to make Nebraska citizens informed about the United Nations. The program is sponsored, in association with the UN headquarters, by the University of Nebraska, the Office of the State Superintendent of Public Instructions, the four state teachers colleges, other colleges and universities in the state, the public schools, and the Nebraska State Education Association.

Development of this program starts on the university campus this summer. Two "workshops" will be devoted to developing programs for college and university students; and developing programs for community action in towns and cities of Nebraska.

Teacher Training

In addition, the workshops will develop teacher training programs. Both the courses of instruction and the teacher training plans will be tested in Nebraska schools next fall and winter. The United Nations permanent staff has requested the university to make them available for use in other states and in foreign nations.
