

All-Staters to Wind Up 3 Weeks of Training With Huge Finale July 1

Package Tour to Colorado Oct. 9 Offered Students

International Music Concert Heard Sunday

The cream of Nebraska high school orchestral talent under the direction of Emanuel Wishnow presented program of international music at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Union.

Members of the orchestra, 65 students from about 40 Nebraska communities, are in Lincoln for the annual All-State High School course of the University of Nebraska School of Fine Arts.

For its Sunday concert, the orchestra selected familiar numbers from the world's classical suites in an effort to demonstrate the finest characteristics of a variety of nations.

Included in the program is Tchaikowsky's "Andante cantabile," a number exclusively for strings. Other numbers are: Corège from the "Red Poppy," Gliere; Ballet Music, Schubert; Roumanian Fantasy, Velska; Waltz of the Flowers from "The Nutcracker Suite," Tchaikowsky; Knightsbridge March, Coates, and Finlandia, Siebelius.

Cosmo Meetings

In order to give students an opportunity to meet and get acquainted with the foreign students on the campus this summer, the Cosmopolitan club has scheduled informal meetings every Wednesday at 7 p. m. in the Union.

Meetings will be informal and all students—foreign and American have been invited.

A "Cornhusker Tour" to the Nebraska-Colorado football game and the rocky mountains the weekend of Oct. 9 has been offered to students at low rates.

Price of the package tour will be $59.50 from Lincoln and $61 from Omaha. This price includes round trip fare to Denver, Boulder and Colorado Springs, a ticket to the Big Seven's first Nebraska-Colorado game at Boulder, a sightseeing trip out of Denver Saturday morning, lodging Saturday night in the Antler Hotel at Colorado Springs, a sight seeing trip out of Colorado Springs Sunday.

Weather Permitting.

If weather permits this feature will be a 75 mile trip to the summit of Pikes Peak. If weather is unfavorable the Cheyenne Mountain trip will be taken. It will include the Will Rogers Memorial, High Mesa, Garden of the Gods, Seven Falls and the summit of the Cheyenne Mountain.

Price also includes dinner on railroad diner Saturday and Sunday nights, and a $5,000 insurance policy giving coverage for 72 hours.

Reservations may be made in The Daily Nebraskan office every day from 1 to 2:30 p.m. A $10 deposit will hold a reservation until Sept. 30, on or before which time the balance must be paid. All deposits and payments are returnable in full until September 30, but after that date there will be a $10 cancellation penalty.

Program Theme Built Around UN

Public Invited; Choral Group, Band, Orchestra to Perform

Dedicated to the United Nations, the final concert of the All-State high school course at the university is to be presented by the school of fine arts Thursday, July 1 in the coliseum at 7:30 p.m.

Winding up an intensive three-week music, speech and dramatic fest, 226 high school students will initiate a new type of final concert by building their theme around the United Nations. This is in connection with the U.N. educational program being conducted on the university campus this summer.

Numbers presented will be taken from a variety of foreign countries as well as America. This is in an attempt to gain a better understanding of the members in the United Nations through their music.

Public Invited.

Students, faculty and the general public are invited to attend the concert which will include numbers by the band, orchestra, choral reading group and chorus.

All-Staters will be seated on the main floor of the coliseum in a setting of flags from United Nations countries. The audience will be seated in the south balcony and the side galleries of the coliseum only. The entire floor will be taken up by concert players.

Band To Play.

Conducted by Walter Olson, director of instrumental music at Fremont High School, the 65 piece band will be first on the program. The band will play an English number, "Vanished Army—March by Alvord; the following Indian pieces—"Oriental Suite which includes "Kurdish Fire Dance," "Shadows of the Norgue," "The Jugglers," "Festival at Basra; and the American, "Susie—march by Olivadoti.

Agar Continues United Nations Talks Tuesday

William Agar, chief of the United Nation's educational liaison section at Lake Success, N.Y., is on the University campus Monday and Tuesday of this week.

DR. WILLIAM AGAR

the second speaker in the university's unique UN clinic.

He spoke at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Love Library auditorium. His address included suggestions on how Nebraska and its university can help the United Nations succeed.

Joined UN Staff

Agar, an American, joined the UN staff in 1946 following five months of work in England and Germany with the British Ministry of Information.

Born in New York, Agar came out of Princeton in 1916 with a science degree and headed overseas to serve for two years in France and Italy in the American field service and later as a pilot with the AEF. He received a doctor's degree in geology from Princeton in 1922, spent 13 years in geological work in Montana, and then served on faculties of Yale and Columbia, and in professional geology projects.

During World War II, Agar was an active worker in the Fight for Freedom Committee as lecturer and writer.

Follows Harris

On the university's United Nations series, Agar follows Walter Harris, a New Zealander, who visited Nebraska a week ago and concentrated on explaining UN organization. Agar will place stress on action community and university groups can take to help United Nations work.

Students may hear Dr. Agar Tuesday morning at 9 in the library auditorium when he will discuss "Interesting Personalities in the United Nations."

He will meet with all seven groups of the teachers college workshop seminars at 2 p.m. (See TOUR, Page 4)

Americans Like Fancy Dress, Flashy Cars—Says Britisher

"Americans like to wear fancy dress and drive flashy cars!" That was one of the first impressions of the United States that was gained by British subject Joe Nusibeh on his arrival in this country last April.

Nusibeh is now attending summer school at the University of Nebraska and plans to stay on the campus next year. The Englishman came to the United States
