

BACK TO SCHOOL—"It's good to be back" . . . to walk across the campus . . . to cokes in the Union . . . to studying into the "wee hours" . . . to dances in the Coliseum . . . to bull sessions and friendly chats . . . to football games and pep rallies . . . yes, it's good to be back at old N. U.

Landscaping Provided By Foundation

BY HERB DENBERG. The campus isn't being scalped, it's getting a permanent wave. Although first appearances are quite deceiving, the area around Love Library, Social Science hall and Teachers college is being landscaped as part of a program to beautify the campus.

To be sure that your party is a success call DAVE HAUN. We have one of the finest music libraries in the midwest. After all, it's the music that makes the party.

WE CAN ACCOMMODATE ANY SIZE PARTY FROM A COMBO TO A LARGE DANCE BAND.

All the landscaping in this two block area was made possible by funds donated by the Cooper foundation. Charles F. Fowler, director of buildings, described the project.

The area was first graded. Then an underground sprinkling system was installed. Now sidewalks are being laid to fit the contour of the grounds.

Some of the old trees in front of buildings were removed, especially trees south of the library that obscure the view of the library from 13th Street. Some trees in front of other buildings were also removed.

Perry Branch, secretary-director of the U. of N. foundation, said, "Full grown trees and shrubs will be planted. Sidewalks and other ornate landscaping devices will be installed immediately."

The plans were made by Hare & Hare, prominent landscape artists of Kansas City, Mo., in cooperation with the university architecture department and operating superintendent's office.

NAVAL ARMORY—One of the new university buildings to be put into use this year is the Naval Armory shown above. Located at 14th and Vine streets, this building was specially designed to harmonize with the architecture of the coliseum next to it.

Speech, Hearing Laboratories Offer Services

Four score and seven years—and so it goes. It's all part of the job of getting registered. And it's all part of the job for the speech labs, too.

To every new student the Speech and Hearing laboratories offer their services without charge. These laboratories are located in the second floor of the Temple Building.

Every new and transfer student is given speech and hearing tests as a part of the Junior Division program. On the basis of these tests the student who has difficulties in speech is recommended for work in a special voice and diction class. Those defective in speech are required to report for individual work in the labs.

Group instruction is given in lip reading to those having significant hearing losses and recommendations are made for the fitting of hearing aids.

New to the speech labs this year is John Wiley who comes from the University of Southern California to act as Director of the Laboratories.

Any student having problems related to speech and/or hearing is urged to consult the workers in the laboratories to receive help.

Ag YM-YW Hold Retreats

The Ag Campus YM-YW cabinets held joint retreats Tuesday, Sept. 14th, at Peter Pan park. Lois Thorfinson, Ag Campus YWCA President, and Dale Stauffer, Ag Campus YMCA president, were in charge of the program. Miss Ruth Shinn, new YWCA secretary, was introduced to the 38 cabinet members. Plans were made for the coming fall program including the final plans for the Welcome Party to be given on Ag Campus Tuesday night, Sept. 21. Vince Kess, Social Chairman of the YM, was in charge of recreation.
