Nothing New On Activity Ticket Mixup All Students Will Get Tickets-Lew

By Frank Mize.

Amid rumors of future riots, and east stadium activity tickets going at $50.00 a crack, A. J. Lewandowski announced today that there are "no new developments."

Lewandowski said that all student orders will be filled and that additional choice aisle and stairway seats will go on sale at 9 o'clock this morning.

Two hundred students are destined to view the Iowa State contest from behind the goal lines.

This group, including the Tri-Delt and Sigma Kappa sororities, have seats in the bleachers because their seats have been sold out. Several hundred other students will be seated in the bal-

Seven thousand seats had been reserved for students. However, sales now total 8,431 and sales open again this morning for students who didn't apply for tickets before the Saturday deadline. Among the seats in the east sta-dium, 2,000 of the best ones were for public sale.

This situation is not new on the Nebraska campus. In 1937, students' wives forced cancellation of many public season tickets.

Countryman Venders Start Fall Drive

The Cornhusker Countryman, Ag college magazine, will sponsor a subscription drive starting torily. Thursday and ending Wednesday, Oct. 6, Phil Raynard, editor, announced today.

At the close of the drive, the staff will hold a matinee dance at which subscribers will be able to participate in drawing for a radio. The radio will be on display in the Ag Union.

The magazine contains a complete pictorial and written coverage of Ag campus activities, students, faculty, and alumni.

Subscriptions for eight issues starting with October and end-ing in May will be sold for 50 cents. Out of state subscribers can have copies mailed to them at no extra charge. Campus subscribers may pick up their copies at the Cornhusker Countryman office in the Union.

Countryman salesmen cover the Ag campus and booths will be set up in the Ag Union next week, at which city campus students may subscribe.

Council to Set Up University Court

Student Council activities were resumed for the year Wednesday at a meeting called by Dale Ball, president.

First business to be presented was Ball's report on the special parking committee's solution to the congested parking problem and the action that has been taken. Ball acted as the official Student Council representative this summer on the committee composed of students, faculty and university administration.

The solution and actions were presented to the council as they have been presented to the students in The Daily Ivebraskan. In addition, Ball announced that the formation of a student court of appeal would be set up by the Student Council. A committee was appointed to study an appropriate method of organizing such

Council treasurer Harvey Davis reported on the past budget and announced that all arrangements have been made for the student migration to the Kansas University game. A faculty committee still must pass on the migration, and a committee was set up to present plans to the faculty on how the activities on the migration could be controlled satisfac-

Farrar Appointed.

President Ball appointed Joan Farrar to act as rally committee head until a permanent arrangement can be established. Miss Farrar replaces Nancy Gish, former rally committee chairman who did not return this year.

Regular council meetings will be held each Wednesday at 5:00 p. m., in the Student Union. All students are invited to sit in on these meetings, according to the Council constitution.

Total Enrollment To Top '47 Mark

Total enrollment in the University of Nebraska is expected to exceed that of last year, according to Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, director of admissions.

Late comers are still regis-tering, but when they are finished the total number of students will probably exceed 10,-

New EE Building Will Realize 36-Year Dream

By Emily Heine.

Prof. O. J. Ferguson, for 25 years dean of the university College of engineering and architecture, turns a spade of dirt northwest of old ing a dream of many years stand-University Hall, he will be realiz-By that act he will launch the construction of the new $600, 000 Electrical Engineering building-the final result of at least 20 different plans prepared over a period of 36 years.

Building to Occupy U Hall Site.

The site of the new building, on ground formerly occupied by University hall and the old electrical engineering lab, holds many memories for Professor Ferguson. As a university student, he took his first courses in these two buildings now being razed. Through the years as he taught in the E. E. lab he has seen the graduating class grow from 12 or 15 students to the 354 senior engineers enrolled today.

As he performs the brief cere-

And altho he himself will never teach in the new building, which will require two years for completion, he can feel that at last an engineering building is coming into being that can adequately serve the state,

Old Lab Built in 1893.

The old E. E. lab was built in 1893 to take care of a carload of electrical engineering machinery that Professor Owens, then department head, had bought in Chicago at the close of the Columbian Exposition. It was the first building on the University cam-pus wholly devoted to engineer-

Plans for the new building indicate that it will be an imposing structure, combining the latest equipment with well-planned, modern laboratories. Inside the main entrance will be a lobby from which a fine view of the power lab can be had. Computing rooms will replace many of the classrooms.

Green Sends Invitations.

Dean Roy M. Green, who succeeded Professor Ferguson as head of the college, said special invitations have been sent to the Board of Regents; the university building committee; Carl Olson, con-tractor; Ellery Davis, architect; Prof. J. ## All Women's Tea Slated For Friday Dean Johnston, MB's to Preside

All women students, particularly freshmen and new students, are invited to the annual tea given by Miss Marjorie Johnston, Dean of Women, and her staff at Ellen Smith hall on Friday Sept. 24, from 3:30 to 5:30.

Guests will be greeted by Miss Joan Farrar, President of Mortar Board, and Miss Marian Crook, President of Associated Women students, will introduce them to Miss Johnston. In the receiving line with Miss Johnston will be Miss Elsie Ford Piper, Miss Mary Augustine, and Miss Emilie Dooley. Assisting in the parlor and court will be members of Mortar Board, Miss Ruth Shinn, Mrs. Philip Schmelkin, Mrs. Richard Streitwieser, Miss Sallie Wilson and Mrs. Verne Huff.

During the first hour Mrs. Carl Borgman and Mrs. G. W. Rosenlof will preside at the table in the dining room and Mrs. Arthur Westbrooke and Mrs. Frank Lundy at the table in the court.

At the tea table in the dining room during the second hour will be Mrs. Warren Baller and Miss Margaret Fedde while Mrs. T. J. Thompson and Miss Mable Lee will preside at the tea table in the Assisting with the serving will be the presidents of the women's houses and organizations. Members of Delta Omicorn, Mu Phi Epsilon and Sigma Alpha Iota will furnish music for the tea.

Frosh Hop Ticket Peddlers Confronted By Price Error

Innocents and Union Board members, hardened by previous "typographical errors" in The Daily Nebraskan, quietly explained to students Wednesday that the price of "Frosh Hop" tickets were 75 cents each, not 50 cents as reported in the "Daily", but that a 75 cent 'Frosh Hop" ticket was still a good bargain.

Innocents to Present Trophies

Another feature of the dance, it was learned last night, will be the presentation of the activity-scholarship trophies to last year's winners. These awards, given to the organized men's houses rating highest in both scholarship and extra-curricular activities, have not as yet been presented formally to the winners by the Innocents Society, which makes the awards annually,

Houses which will be honored at the dance will be Alpha Gamma Rho, winner of the over-all cup and the trophy for first place on Ag campus, and Phi Kappa Psi, winner of the city campus trophy.

Frosh to Receive Activity Information.

To assure each freshman attending the dance a chance of finding out anything he wishes to know about university activities, information booths will be set up at each end of the hallway adjacent to the Union ballroom. If the booth-keepers, members of Kosmet Kub and Corn Cobs are unable to answer any questions asked of them, they will take the student's names and questions and see to it that the students are given the answers shortly thereafter.

Smith-Warren Band to Play for Hop

The Smith-Warren band will play for the hop. The intermission show, a fast-moving skit which deals with and ribs mercilessly activities, will begin at 10:30.

Tickets are now on sale at the Innocents booth in the Union. Since the ballroom has limited capacity (and thus limiting ticket sales), freshmen are urged to buy their tickets as soon as possible.

Modern Research Center Promises Aid To Future Nebraska Swine Projects

One of the finest buildings of its kind in the world, the new Ne-braska Swine Research Center, will be officially dedicated in ceremonies to be held Friday.

Located at 74th and Adams, the three-story structure will repre-sent the first decent shelter for swine projects since 1927. During that year, the old hog barns were torn down to make room for the Dairy barn. Since then the swine research has been carried on in out-door sheds and the serum

Much of the designing of the modern structure was planned by Dr. L. E. Hansen, under advisement of a construction engineer. Dr. Hansen has been carrying on research in swine nutrition since he came to Nebraska in 1944. He has done much toward the realization of the new building.

"The Swine Research Center is a memorial representing the faith of Nebraska people in research as a method of bettering their main profession—farming," says Dr. Hansen. He estimates that Nebraska farmers could realize about two million dollars in added profits through better feeding practices alone.
