

Freshman Squad Opens Against Cyclone Eleven

Weir Calls for Cinder Talent

Coach Ed Weir is anxious for all track candidates, who have checked out equipment, to report for practice sessions every evening.

The Husker track mentor emphasized the importance of getting into shape early in the season and has issued a call for more track talent to report.

"The boys are checked for attendance at practice and if they don't show up, other tracksters will get the equipment," Coach Weir warned.

The Huskers have suffered several losses from last year's cinder squad. Stan Martin, letter winner from Broken Bow, did not come back to school this fall and Esref Aydin, the tireless Turk, is not eligible until the second semester.

Tryouts for the Scarlet two-mile team which will run against Kansas U Saturday will be held tomorrow evening at 4:15.

Towel Service Available in New P.E. Building

The Department of Physical Education for men has announced that plenty of lockers are still available for men who desire to have locker and towel service.

This service will be available for all miscellaneous recreational activity in either the Coliseum basement or the new Physical Education building.

Means Says New IM Unit Formed

A new intramural competitive organization has been formed by the department which will consist of all organized denominational and religious groups on the campus.

This group will have its own leagues and compete with the supremacy point system. Awards similar to the Jack Best race for fraternities will be given to the champions. Winners will be eligible to compete in the final playoffs for All University championships in all sports.

Secretary of the new organization during its early stages has been Steve Dzama of the Methodist Student House.

The new organization will start competition with two events. One will be a basketball free throw tournament and the other will be the Interdenominational Bowling league. Both will get under way next week.

Units desiring to affiliate in the newly organized circuit should call the Intramural Headquarters at once and make complete arrangements. A meeting of all denominational managers has been called by Mr. Means for 5 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 27, in the P.E. building.

Bait Casting Added To Intramural Roster

Bait and fly casting has been added to intramural roster, according to Lee Means, director of Physical Education. The tournament will take place at the Lincoln Oak Lake park on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31. Competition will be open to all comers.

WHAT'S COMING?

Days 'Til Homecoming

Benchwarmer

BY HAROLD ABRAMSON

Minnesota, UCLA or Kansas destructible this season and is certainly a far cry from the spirit that pervaded the campus last year.

We think a lot of the credit for the great backing the team is getting this year is largely due to the Husker athletic coach, Mr. George "Potsy" Clark.

Potsy Guiding Spirit

No change could have been so complete without his guiding spirit just as no change could have been complete without the backing of Nebraska students.

Husker students realize that Coach Clark's squad is not going to perform miracles this season. They know that football teams are not made championship teams overnight—unless they are bought and paid for. Nebraskans know we don't play the game that way on this campus.

Huskers Play to Win.

The scarlet and cream has always gone on the gridiron with only one thought and that is to win. Whether it is Notre Dame, Minnesota, UCLA, or Kansas State, Nebraska teams have always played to win and they will continue to do so.

New Day Coming.

We believe that Husker fans have finally reconciled themselves to the fact that Nebraska football teams are undergoing a rebuilding process. In the words of Head Football Coach Potsy Clark, "a new day is coming."

We would like to change that a little. Let's make it a new year is coming. A year that will see the Cornhuskers approach their pre-war status in Big Seven football. So standby fans—things won't always be like they are.
