ROTC Schedules Sax Artist Dec. 3

Today is D-Day, according to the Cadet Officers Corps, but the D in this case stands for Jimmy Dorsey, who will be here with his orchestra Dec. 3 to furnish music for the Military Ball.

Long one of the "Big Five" in dance music, Dorsey is known for his solid arrangements and pleasing tempos. Sometime called the greatest name band in the world, the group has been featured at such major music locations as the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York, the Sherman Hotel in Chicago and the Palladium in Hollywood.

Demanded for Proms

The band is constantly in demand at proms and is consistently ranked high on the trade newspaper charts for popular recordings.

Appearing with the band will be some of the finest young musicians on the West Coast. Dorsey, who used them with his orchestra on several California engagements, has confided to his friends that this is the best band he's ever led. He will feature his new vocalists, Larry Noble and Doty O'Brien, Ray Bauduc on drums and the trumpet playing of Charlie Teagarden.

As always the high-light of the evening will be the presentation of the Honorary Colonel. This year her appearance will be awaited with special interest because she will be wearing a dress created by the winner of Operations Costume Design. Tickets for the ball, traditional opening of the formal season at the University, go on sale today. They may be purchased from any ROTC student.

Sonny Dunham and his orchestra played for the ball last year. Mr. and Mrs. Gail Gade were first place winners in the "Guess the Band Contest," which was not held this year.

John Meehan Named Cadet Commander

John J. Meehan, senior Military Police student from Lincoln has been promoted to Cadet Colonel and will command the Army ROTC regiment, it was announced today by Col. Howard J. John.

Meehan, a Business Administration student, served two years with the Army Corps of Engineers.

Last summer he was selected as the outstanding cadet of the Corps of Military Police summer camp held at Ft. Sheridan, Illinois.

Newton R. Batten, a senior from Lincoln, will hold the rank of Cadet Lt. Colonel as the Regimental Executive Officer. He is an Air Forces student, and spent five years with the U. S. A.A.F.

Cadet Lt. Colonel James R. Jones, a Corps of Military Police student, was appointed Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company.

Battalion Commanders are Cadet Lt. Colonels Philip R. Sprague, Robert E. Olson and Mervin L. Klug.

Highest rank among the basic R.O.T.C. students went to Clifford Berggren, who was appointed Master Sergeant. He will carry the national colors in the Regimental parades.

The first parade of the year will be held on the athletic field north of the coliseum at 5 p.m. Thursday.

ASCE Plans Trip To Omaha Nov. 10

Members of A.S.C.E. interested in a trip to visit construction projects in Omaha Nov. 10 have been asked to sign the list on the A.S.C.E. bulletin board on second floor of the M.A. building before Thursday, Nov. 4.

Arrangements have been made with the district engineers to visit the Veterans' hospital now under construction in Omaha and the relocation of outfall sewers in connection with floodwall.

Pepsters!

The rally scheduled for Thursday night has been changed to Friday, 7 p.m. Bill Mickle, yell king, announced.

Organized houses who have hour dances slated for Friday night are asked to re-schedule them.

JIMMY DORSEY will bring his nationally famous orchestra to the Coliseum, Dec. 3 to play for the annual Military Ball.

Council Requests Cadets Delay Ball Ticket Sales

Student Council requested at last night's meeting that the sale of Military Ball tickets be withheld until the subject of price has been discussed.

Representatives of the Cadet Corps and council members will convene at 11:30 a. m. today to discuss this adjustment of ticket prices.

Cadets Promised Reduction

Council action was prompted by an oral agreement made after the '47 Military Ball with the Cadet Corps. At this time the corps promised a reduction in this year's admission charge. Although the price was lowered by 40 cents, the council does not feel that this reduction is substantial enough to constitute a fulfillment of the agreement.

The council pointed out that the money, $4 for general admission and $3 for men in uniform, will not be used to benefit the student body in proportion to the price.

ROTC to Stage Practice Review

Cadet Corps of the ROTC will go on review this afternoon at 5 o'clock for the first time this year in the first of a series of practice parades.

All ROTC laboratory periods have been canceled for today and all officers and cadets will report to the Mall in front of the Armory.

Cadet company commanders will take charge of their respective companies and the whole regiment will pass in review at about 5:30. Cadet Colonel Jack Meehan and his staff will act as the reviewing officers.

Several parades have been planned this year by the ROTC. The formations to be used are the ones that will be used for the annual federal inspection and all cadets will have these formations well in mind before the weather prevents any more parades.

filling of the vacancy caused by the resignation of Nancy Gish, senior women-at-large. The council voted to fill the vacancy according to constitutional procedure. Filings will be opened to senior women and applicants will be interviewed by the council. One senior woman will be chosen.

The date for election of junior and senior class presidents was set for Nov. 16. Filings for these positions will open Monday, Nov. 8 and close Nov. 11.

Letters will be written to heads of student bodies in the Big Seven in an effort to accomplish the council's goal of abolishing racial discrimination. Chairman Bill Schenck announced. The student bodies will be advised to speak to their representatives on the MUA Board about their stand against discrimination.

Cribbers Receive Opportunity To Express Musical Likings

Don't blow up that juke box! Don't lose faith in modern music! Don't blame the noise on the Schmoos! But if you don't like the music coming from the juke box in the Crib you can do something about it.

As election day is over, you can't express your opinion on the official ballot, but you can express your musical likings by merely dropping a request into the box on the juke box in the Crib.

Marilyn Voochrees, music committee member, announced that the Union hopes to get a statistical sampling of the musical likes and dislikes of Cribbers by these requests. So if your favorite number isn't being played, you know what to do.

YM Sponsors Spanish Movie

A Spanish film, "The Wave," will be shown at Love Library auditorium, Nov. 5 and 6 at 8 p. m. This film is sponsored by the University YMCA.

"The Wave" is a story about a fishing village and its living conditions. The inhabitants of this village are poor and revolt against their environment. This revolt of the fishermen is the main theme of the film.

Otis Ferguson of the New Republic, said that this movie is hardly a film at all but a dynamic boss-meets-worker social message. It represents an honest and heartening theme, which is dramatically presented. Other critics say it is tops in foreign film offering for this year.

Paul Stugand produced this film in Mexico with native actors. English sub-titles are used with the movie.

YW Frosh Group Organized on Ag

Ag YW's freshman group will be organized at a meeting Thursday in the seminar room on third floor of the Home Economics building at 5 p.m.

All interested freshmen are urged to attend by the commission leaders, Irene Wellensick and Dorothy Bowman.

First of the meetings designed to give assistance to freshmen in becoming adjusted to their college life, will be an informal discussion on friendship. It will include such phases as making friends on the campus and getting along with roommates.

Regular meetings will be held the first and third Thursdays of each month.
