

4-H Club Honors Dean Lambert At Informal Reception Monday

"Come in and meet the dean" is the invitation extended to Ag students and faculty members by the University 4-H club, which is sponsoring a reception in honor of W. V. Lambert, new dean of the College of Agriculture.

The reception will be held Monday, Nov. 15, from 3:30 to 5:30 in the lounge of the Foods and Nutrition building.

4-H members will be on hand to greet guests and introduce them to Dean and Mrs. Lambert. Bob Bruce and Jeanne Wielage are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of hosts and hostesses.

Special music during the tea will be furnished by Gwen Monson, Betty Beckner, Jean Stopkotte, and Annette Stopkotte. Pouring will be Mrs. H. G. Gould, Mrs. Guy Davis, Miss Margaret Fedde, and Miss Ethel Saxton.

Dr. Lambert assumed his duties as Dean of Ag college on Oct. 1 of this year. He has expressed his appreciation to the 4-H club for planning the reception which will be his first opportunity to become acquainted with the student body.

"The reception will be informal, and students may drop in any time, if just for a few minutes between classes," stated Glenn Claybaugh, president of University 4-H club. "We hope that everyone will turn out to give the dean a real Ag college welcome."

Indian Speaks To Dairy Club

At the regular Varsity Dairy club meeting, Wednesday, Chandra Bhan Singh, student of India, was guest speaker. His topic concerned the conditions of the dairy industry in his native country.

Members of the club were shown pictures of dairy cattle and samples of dairy products as used by the people of India. One surprising fact told by Singh was that the average consumption of milk per capita in India is about one-sixth of that consumed by the average person in the United States.

Chandra Bhan Singh, a graduate student of dairy at the university, intends to return to his native land upon completion of his education.

In the business meeting that followed, plans were completed for a fall banquet to be held Thursday night, Nov. 18, in the Foods & Nutrition building on Ag campus. Members of the dairy judging teams will be honored at this banquet.

Lloyd Youngman, boys record, trip awarded by J. A. Folgers Co.

Glenn Moritz, crops judge, trip awarded by Nebraska Crop Improvement Association.

Aggie-Culture

Dec. 14 will mark the beginning of a new era in the annals of the Nebraska chapter of Block and Bridle, animal husbandry club. On that date the regular fall initiation of members will take place.

It will be the routine process with the regular ceremony, customary feed and program following, but there is something unique concerning the initiates. Among the 38 who are scheduled to join the club is a name that is conspicuous by its feminine gender.

The name is that of Maria Leipelt of Hamburg, Germany, who matriculated at the University of Nebraska last year. Maria is a slight, dark-haired girl of some five feet four inches. Her flashing eyes depict her frank manner, and her friendly attitude has garnered many friends.

Interested in veterinary medicine, her main love is horses, and she can usually be found decriing the advent of the tractor. She is not convinced of the supremacy of the latter and will defend her beloved horses to the last.

In the Junior Ak-Sar-Ben show last year, Maria exhibited a horse, and thus became the first girl to take part in the annual show sponsored by the Block and Bridle. Maria's performance in the show was accorded by many as even better than the second place she received. Certainly of all the contestants, she had taken the most time in fitting her animal. She believes that her sex went against her in the judges decision, and it's not at all impossible in my opinion.

Her knowledge of the field is pre-eminent—she can discuss breed lines and breeders with the experts—and she is highly indignant of the fact that university has de-emphasized its horse breeding program.

In any case, she meets the requirements of the Block and Bridle club, according to president, Bob Hamilton, and will be initiated along with the others Dec. 14. In the same manner? Well, Bob didn't know about that just yet.

Girls in the National chapter are no novelty. Other chapters have had a good representation of the weaker sex in past years.

If Maria should gather followers among the Ag co-eds she might create a major change in the local club—at least attendance at meetings might perk up. The co-educational element would also add a changeable element which might prove quite beneficial.

The BABW will have office hours every day 5-8 p. m. in room 309 in the Union for those who have to turn in points.
