

Cornhuskers Drop 33 to 6 Tilt

End Home Play Against Mizzou

BY HAROLD ABRAMSON
Sports Editor

Nebraska's Cornhuskers ended their home schedule Saturday afternoon against the Missouri Tigers in a contest which saw the Mizzou squad outscore the Huskers 33-6 in Memorial Stadium before a small Scarlet gathering.

The loss was the Huskers' seventh defeat of the season against two victories over Iowa State and Kansas State.

Tigers Score Early

Missouri scored on the Nebraska eleven in the first four minutes of the game with right-half Dick Brazzell skirting the Scarlet line for paydirt. The touchdown climaxed a drive from the Mizzou 16-yard stripe. The score was set up when Martin

Fraternity Meet Slated Nov. 26-27

Seven vital problems which affect fraternity chapters throughout the country will be discussed in undergraduate sessions at the fortieth annual conference of the National Interfraternity conference, Nov. 26-27 in New York.

Delegates Expected from 200 Campuses

Participating representatives are expected from more than 200 campuses where chapters of national fraternities are located.

Topics and the men who will introduce them are: "Improvement in Scholarship," Col. Ralph M. Wilson, Sigma Chi, scholarship counselor of the National Interfraternity conference; "Control of Drinking Among Students," Frank R. Hunt, Theta Chi, dean of men, Lafayette College; "Worthy Projects for Interfraternity Councils," Fred B. Ensinger, executive secretary of Kappa Delta Rho; "Discrimination in Fraternity Membership," David A. Embury, Acacia, past chairman of the conference; "How to Improve Relations Between Fraternities and the College, the Press, the Public and Non-Fraternity Men," Fred H. Turner, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, dean of students, University of Illinois; "Hell Week vs. Greek Week," Wilbur R. Walden, national secretary, Alpha Chi Rho; "The Problem of Increased Memberships in Fraternities," John W. Vann, chairman of the high council of Alpha Tau Omega.

Award Presentation Planned

Two awards will be made at the conference, the official trophy to the interfraternity council which made the best record for constructive effort in the past academic year and the N.I.C. Distinguished Service award to the individual who has contributed most to the conference. Dr. Gilbert M. Mead, Phi Gamma Delta, is chairman of the National Interfraternity conference. National officers of the 59 member fraternities will make up the large part of the official delegates to the meet.

Union Library Lends Pictures

The Union Picture Lending Library, sponsored by the Union Art department, began checking out art works Nov. 8. Since that time over half of the prints have been loaned.

The library started last spring with a donation from Kosmet club with which twenty-seven pictures were purchased. Don Crowe, university senior, who recently won the Monski Interfaith scholarship, made an initial donation last Wednesday for the purchase of several new Van Van Gogh prints.

The Hobby Interest is now looking for sponsors who will make yearly purchases of popular art works and is making plans to inscribe the pictures with names of the donors. It is hoped that some campus group will become interested in this philanthropy.

Remaining pictures in the Lending library can be checked out in the Union by students or faculty members for one semester free of charge.

An important meeting for all track "N" men will be held Monday at five o'clock on the indoor track bleachers. Coach Ed Weir announced that it is imperative for all track lettermen to be present.

Following Thanksgiving vacation a similar meeting for all men interested in track will be held. The date will be announced later.

sold out for several days there still is a chance that a few may be turned in to the Union office before concert time.

Markevitch, who is appearing under the sponsorship of the Union musical activities committee, has just returned from a highly-successful tour of Europe. He is rated at the top of his field.

Tonight's program will include: Sakuntala by Goldmark; Cello Concerto by Saint Saens, featuring Markevitch; Overture to an Unwritten Opera by Gillis; Nuages by Debussy; Caprice Espagnol by Rimsky Korsakov. Symphony Conductor Emanuel Wishnow has stated that the program is one especially designed for student appreciation. The choice of music is modern. A picture of part of the orchestra in rehearsal may be seen on page 4.

Garey Plans SCS, USDA Seminar

Carroll Garey, chairman of the Ag Placement committee, has announced an important seminar for students interested in USDA and SCS work. The meeting will be held Monday, No. 22, in Room 301, Dairy Industry building.

The regional personnel director of the Soil Conservation service will discuss the USDA service and its application to SCS in particular. "SCS in Nebraska" will be the topic of the assistant state soil conservationist.

"Faculty, graduates and students of all classes may attend," said Garey.

booths in the Unions and from Mortar Boards during the bargain sale. After vacation tickets will be sold by Mortar Boards and Tassels.

Ace drummer man Gene Krupa and his orchestra will play for the dance which will be held in the Coliseum at 9 p.m. Dec. 10. Krupa says about music, "Popular dance music today, that is, good dance music, has adopted the swing beat. I don't mean that it must have rhythm only and be loud or full of volume, but I do mean that there should be rhythm and plenty of it!"

Women to Escort Dates

The M.B. turnabout dance tradition means that women will be expected to be escorts for the evening—call for their dates, send corsages if they want and ask for the date in the first place. Corsages in past years have ranged from bird cages to carrot tops and radishes.

Highlight of the traditional Mortar Board dance will be the presentation of the Eligible Bachelors. 1947 Bachelors included Irv Dana, Lee Goodwin, John Ayres, Bob Wenke, Dougie Doyle, By Hooper, Jim Swanson and Al Potter.

Bachelor Introduced With Jingle

As each Bachelor was escorted on the Coliseum stage by a Mortar Board, he was introduced by a clever jingle. The stage was decorated with snow and ice-covered evergreens, and the rest of the Coliseum was appropriately decorated in a Christmas theme.

The coeds displayed unprecedented ingenuity at last year's ball. Some transported their dates to the dance in wheelbarrows, carts and ambulances; others in taxis, limousines and coed-driven autos. Corsages ranged from halters and blinders to gas-filled balloons.

Sam Donahue's orchestra played for the dancing, rendering a few novelty numbers which featured the drummer and the vocalist.

Englebart Funeral Today; Jury Rules 'Negligence'

Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 p. m. in Pender for Dick Englebart, one of the victims of the West O accident Wednesday night. Due to communication difficulties, the home town of the other victim, Robert K. Bamesberger, cannot be contacted to learn arrangements there.

Both men were students at Ag college and members of Beta Sigma Psi. Three other persons were injured in the freak accident in which six cars and a train were involved. Two of the injured persons were also students at the College of Agriculture, Arnold Nieveen and Arthur Shotkoski.

Caused by Negligence

At an inquest called Friday night by County Attorney F. H. Wagener, a coroner's jury held that the death of Englebart was "caused by hazards created through negligence of Donald Reed." The inquest was held only into Englebart's death because the same facts were involved in both cases.

Reed, who was driving the sixth car, said he "didn't remember hitting any people." His speed was estimated to have been 60 miles per hour and in the opinion of the two patrolmen at the accident he "was drunk." Blood tests showed 1.9 milligrams alcohol in his bloodstream. Most courts recognize a percentage from 1 to 1.5 milligrams to be the point of drunkenness.

Lost Control

One of the patrolmen described Reed as "somewhere between having lost part of his muscular control and falling down."

Reed has been held on an open charge since the accident. County Attorney Wagener said after the jury's ruling he had not yet decided whether he would bring charges, if any, against Reed.

BREAKAWAY BACK Dick Hutton displayed some of his best form in his final appearance before home fans, scoring the Husker's only touchdown on a screen-pass play which covered 26 yards. Hutton is one of nine seniors who made their home exit in Nebraska's 33-6 loss to Missouri.

Sauer carried Junior Collopy's kick to the 16. An end run ate up 32 yards and Brazzell tip-toed down the sidelines to the Husker 25.

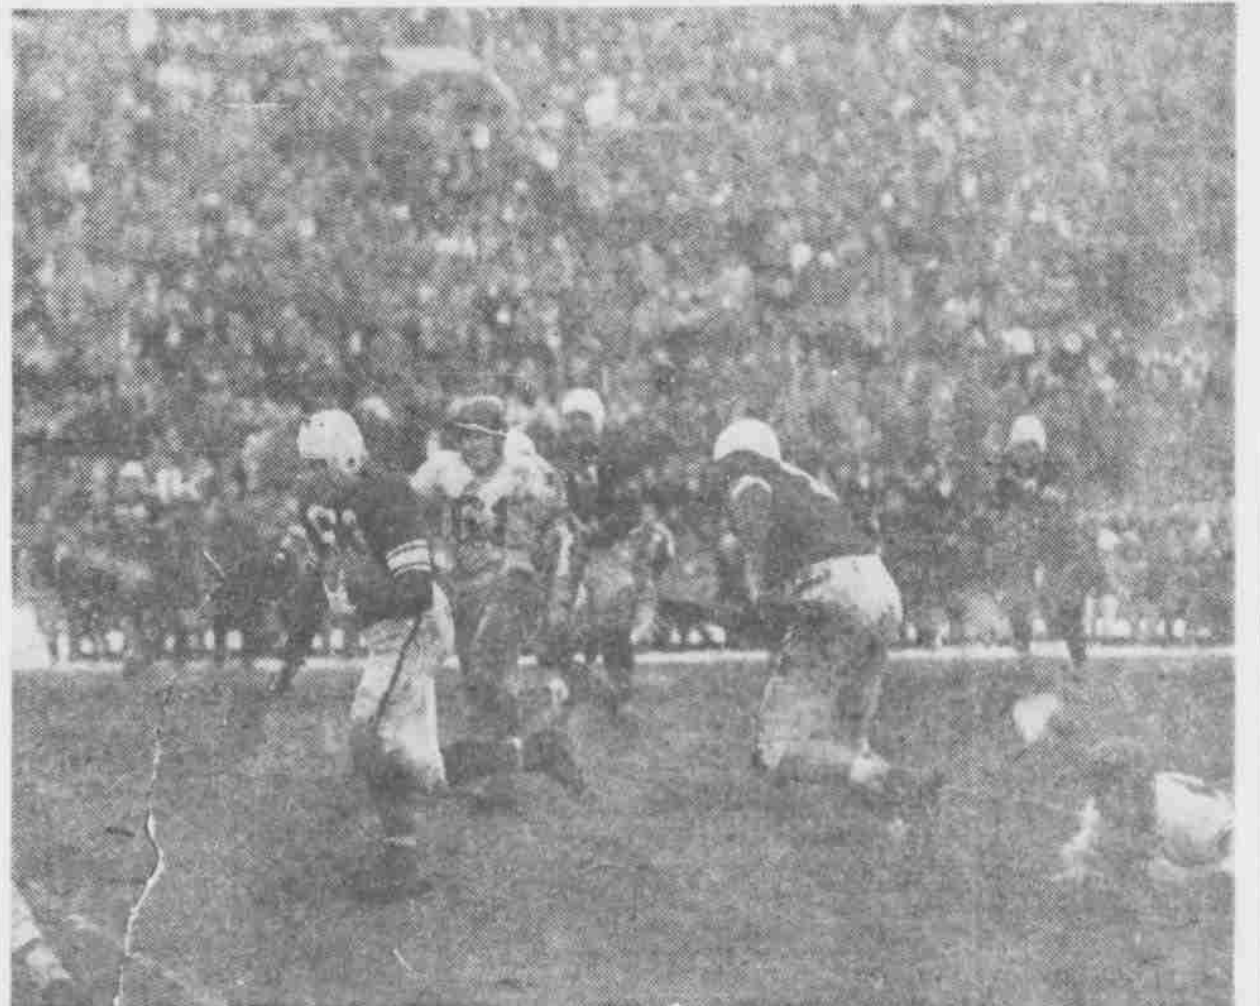

Miss Scoring Chance

Nick Carras picked up five yards through the left side of the Husker line, and on the next play Brazzell scored.

After the touchdown Nebraska came back to outplay the Tigers through the opening half. Patsy Clark's team missed two golden opportunities in the first half to score.

The Husker running attack was working better than it had all season. Bill "Rockfist" Mueller carried Robinson's punt for 11 yards to the 16. Del Wiegand gained two yards on a running play and a pass from Wiegand Husker Dick Hutton starts on the 26 yard stroll which netted the Huskers' only touchdown of the afternoon, scoring standing up, after taking a pass from Jerry Ferguson. Missouri guard Hardin Cox (61) makes a futile attempt to catch the fleet Hutton. Missouri won 33-6.
