Outstanding Work...

The work of one outstanding university professor, Robert P. Crawford, has recently been ranked with the works of such men as President Conant of Harvard, John Dewey, James Robinson, Paul de Kriuf, and Prof. C. Spearman of the University of London.

Prof. Crawford's book, "Think for Yourself" has been ranked by Alex Osborn in his book, "Your Creative Power", as among the 14 books contributing a great deal to the subject of creative thought.

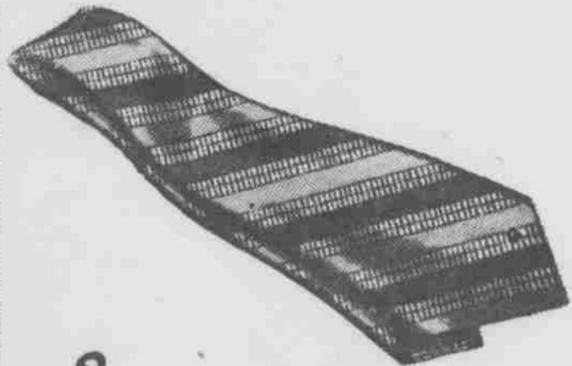

Osborn mentions Professor Crawford's course in creative thinking at the university as probably the first of its kind ever established. It was established here in 1931.

Professor Crawford, who has been with the university since 1917, has done much through his course to encourage students in the field of creative thinking.

Two things every college man should know!

1. This is a blind date. Note the Gnu Look. Exclusively hers. Don't shudder. How do you look to her? It's a cinch to look mighty sharp when wearing a handsome "Manhattan" repp tie.

2. This is a "Manhattan" repp tie. Comes in a multitude of distinctive stripings exclusively "Manhattan." Knots without slipping. Resists wrinkles. See these fine repps and other outstanding "Manhattan" neckwear at your favorite men's shop today.

Vet Notice

No books or supplies for the current semester will be issued to veterans at government expense after Friday, Dec. 10, 1948.

Because of the time involved in gathering together all charges from the several stores for such books and supplies, which in turn causes a delay in billing the Veterans Administration and in being reimbursed therefor, the University has found it necessary to establish this deadline.

Any authorized books which are now on order and which, therefore might not be available at the bookstores until after Dec. 10, may be obtained after that date provided the veterans who are authorized to obtain such books report to the store concerned before Dec. 10 and sign a charge ticket in advance.

Veterans who will graduate at the end of the present semester should retain their purchase authorizations after Dec. 10 for the purpose of renting caps and gowns for the mid-year commencement exercises.

Dear Editor:

Christmas vacation is almost upon us. The yule-tide season is close at hand. Most of us are anticipating pleasant days during the brief vacation period.

1. Students and faculty who have many miles to travel would be able to arrive home a few days prior to Christmas Day. As now planned, many will have to crowd upon the buses and trains and planes that most likely will be already crowded by Christmas Holiday travelers.

2. Why chop up the school week? I see no great need for two days of school in one week and four days of school in another week. End the vacation Monday, Jan. 3, at 8 a. m. This would not cause any great inconvenience.

3. Lastly, by having a full week after vacation it will give the student body a full two and one half weeks to review for the finals. Let's have a better arranged or planned Christmas vacation that would be more convenient to the faculty and the student body.

Sincerely yours,

BOB MILLER.

Fredrich Schiller was a professor of history at the University of Jena, Germany, back in the 18th century. The history professor became fascinated with the story of Mary, Queen of Scots. As he became more absorbed in this famous story he decided to write about it.

Thursday night over KFOR. Authors of the Ages will present this Story of Mary Stuart play at 9:30 p. m.

Correction on last week's item about radio-printed newspapers: the radio-printed newspaper is not under the auspices of television. It is in a new field of its own called "facsimile."

The basketball season is under way, and with it comes the radio department's future Bill Sterns of the air! During the football season, the fledgling sportcasters were on the job—giving a wire recording of their play by play broadcasting of the game. Now this squad will be ready for the opening basketball season.

Radio Star of the Week: It's Gaylord Marr, script writer and actor on both stage and radio. Gay wrote all the Midcountry scripts last year. As radio listeners will remember, Midcountry was a dramatic show taken from stories in Prairie Schooner magazine.

Gay, at present, is finishing an adaptation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter."

Poor Gay has been having a trying time this year in Authors of the Ages productions. As an actor, he has died three times this year. In Wuthering Heights he died, frozen to death on his lover's grave; in Ivanhoe, he perished in the flames of his castle; and in last week's Authors of the Ages production, "John Henry, Steel Drivin' Man," he died of exhaustion.

Ag YM to Hold Plans Carol Sing

A forum discussion on "Is There a Universal God" will highlight an Ag YMCA meeting Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will be held in the Foods and Nutrition building.

The discussion leaders will be Rev. Henry Erck, student pastor of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church and Rev. Virgil Anderson, pastor of the Warren Methodist church. Bob Epp will be the moderator of the forum with Mervin French leading the devotions.

An Ag Cabinet meeting at 5 p. m. at the Union will precede the meeting.
