

Don McArthur Ruled Eligible For Cage Play

Husker cage stock was given a boost Saturday with the announcement that Don McArthur has been ruled eligible by conference faculty eligibility committee.

McArthur, a veteran of the 1946-47 Nebraska five, had previously been termed ineligible for playing amateur ball last winter. He was an all-state selection in 1943 after leading the Lincoln High five to the state championship.

During his first year as a Husker, McArthur was fourth high scorer on the squad with 121 points despite the fact that he played in only 15 of 24 games due to an injury. Towering 6-5 he worked from the pivot spot during high school and his previous year as a Husker.

Bob Schleiger, star first baseman for the Big Seven champions last spring, was given an added year of eligibility by the committee. He spent a year at West Point, but as it was during the war he has been given another year of competition.
