Letterip

To the Editor:

Nebraska lost a game Monday night, not because they were outplayed but because they were simply out-numbered seven to five. True, two Minnesota men were handicapped by blindness, but their sterling performance in the whistle-blowing department did convince one and all that Pulliam and Collin are not the worst officials in the Big Seven.

If Monday's game was an example of "conference appointed officiating," then we had better import referees who will call fouls as they see them and not imitation whistle-blowers who spend half the night trying to decide who should stand where during a free throw.

Sincerely, two men who, despite their weak eyes and cheap glasses, saw more fouls than "they" did.

YM to Present French Movie

"Song of the Streets," the universally famous French film, will be shown by the YMCA in Love Library auditorium Friday and Saturday at 8 p. m.

Movie Known for Realism

The movie, known for its realism, is one of great sympathy and understanding. In the words of the New York World Telegram, "It's just a simple story about a youth who cannot stand servitude or working for a boss; so he becomes the head of a gang of petty thieves. He and these other kids reform when an old lady dies from shock during an attempted robbery. On the whole it is appealing enough to hold one's attention from beginning to end. The musical score is excellent and acting honors are divided by Lucien Paris and Madelience Oze-ray."

Favorite Recognized

Campus audiences will in all probability recognize in the film the now popular American screen favorite, Jean Pierre-Aumont.

The film is directed by Victor Trivas who is considered one of the better directors in France. He is known for being interested in making films which have a bearing on our contemporary social problems.

Red Cross Plans First Aid Classes

Plans for special student first aid classes next semester will be outlined at a Red Cross College Unit meeting this Thursday. Bob Mosher, first aid chairman, announced that the meeting will be held in Parlor A of the Union at 5 p. m.

Mosher said that the meeting is designed to set dates for opening the classes and to outline the student course. The first aid branch of the College Unit will be organized at that time.

A movie dealing with first aid will be shown at the meeting through the cooperation of the Lancaster County Red Cross chapter.

All regularly enrolled students of the University are invited to attend the meeting or to enroll in the first aid course, Mosher commented. He pointed out that such a course should be of importance to university students as basic knowledge or a refresher class.

Vespers Present Gaeddert Dec. 9

The second in a series of three Christmas Vesper services will present Willard Gaeddert, instructor in physics, speaking on "The Way of the Prince of Peace." The service will be held Thursday at 5 p. m. in the University Episcopal church.

Gaeddert received his degree from Bethel college, Buffalo, N. Y. He served in Civilian Public service for conscientious objectors during the last war.

Jayne Wade will act as student leader and the Vesper choir will sing.

Varsity Dairy club will meet in Room 207 Dairy Industry, Wednesday night at 7:30. C. B. Evinger, personnel manager of Fairmont Creamery, will be the speaker, and informal pictures for the Cornhusker will be taken.
