

Foreign Schools Schedule Classes for US Students

British Colleges Offer Sociology

Nine universities in England and Scotland are arranging for an increase in the number of courses and provision for approximately 780 students from the United States.

The courses offered will range over a wide field covering studies of English social life, English literature, democratic government in Britain, British industrial development, town planning, modern European civilization and ancient Greece.

The cost of the courses, including tuition and maintenance for the six weeks will be from $216 to $264. In addition there will be the cost of travel. A few scholarships, some all inclusive, others for travel only, will be available to highly qualified applicants.

The schools will be recognized by the Veterans Administration for grants under the G.I. Bill of Rights. Applications for a supplementary certificate of eligibility should be made to the V.A. regional office. It should be noted, however, that the subsistence allowance under the G.I. Bill of Rights will not cover the cost of maintenance at a summer school.

All inquiries about the summer schools should be made to the Institute of International Education at 2 West 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

All applications must be received by the Institute by Mar. 1, 1949, and candidates will be informed of the result of their application by Apr. 1, 1949.

Oslo Plans Study Of Life in Norway

The University of Oslo has announced that it will again hold special summer classes for American students from June 27 to August 6.

Official headquarters in America for the summer session have been established at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minnesota, where catalogs and applications may be secured.

The courses, which will be conducted in English, cover the sciences, the humanities, and a general survey of Norwegian culture. A maximum of six credits may be taken in the six weeks course, and in most cases the credits are transferable.

Approximate expense for the six weeks at the University is estimated to be $300. Transportation last year on the "S. S. Marine Jumper" came to from $320 to $400 for the round trip.

Requirements for admission are based on a good academic record, seriousness of applicant's purpose, qualities likely to make the student a good representative of the United States abroad, good health, and geographical distribution of the applicants. An applicant must have completed his sophomore year by the summer of 1949.

Winterset . . .

is there in all its dramatic tension.

"Winterset" revolves around Romagna's son and his widespread attempts to track down the true murderers.

Atkinson Praises Play

Critic Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times credited the play as "one that has helped to set the dye for future of our stage." In his analysis of "Winterset" he stated, "Mr. Anderson has translated a crime play into a general attitude toward life. He has not forgotten Sacco and Vanzetti."

"In the most powerful scene in the play all the drama's crumpled characters meet in a rotting basement under a tenement and plot each other's destruction. Mr. Anderson brings together a group of people involved in the Romagna case. It is thirteen years since the trial. There are at least three people who knew that Romagna was innocent. Trock (Abe Katz) and Shadow (Don Johannes) committed the murder; Grath (Dewey Ganzell) was a witness to the crime. Romagna's outcast son, Mio (Jack MacDonald), has dedicated his life to clearing his father's name. Judge Gaunt (Jack Wenstrand), who tried the case, has gone out of his mind from anxiety and is stumbling madly around the world. It is in this scene that these crumpled, frightened and sinister characters meet."
