Ag Love Hall Lives Swede Life for Week

Residents of Love Memorial hall have lived in Swedish tradition the past week in anticipation of the coming UNESCO program.

Jeanne Weilage, Swedish national commission leader, started the ball rolling last Monday when the girls celebrated St. Lucia's day. Celebrated in honor of St. Lucia, a Christmas saint of Sweden, the day is the first of the Swedish Christmas holidays. According to legend, St. Lucia rose early in the morning to serve coffee and rolls to members of the household. To follow tradition, girls at Love hall started festivities at 5:30 Monday morning, serving coffee and Swedish buns.

Snyder Represents St. Lucia

Highlighting the program was Lucille Snyder, dressed as St. Lucia in a white gown and a crown of nine candles and greenery.

In the evening the house meet was devoted to a program centered around Sweden. Swedish folksongs were learned and the tradition of St. Lucia was explained.

Each of the seven study groups gave a summary of their work for the UNESCO program followed by a general discussion. Fancy Swedish sandwiches were served as refreshments.

Future Plans Made.

Future plans centered around the UNESCO program include a bulletin board at the hall of items of current interest about Sweden and about UNESCO itself. At their first meeting after vacation, the girls will have a visual aid film on Sweden. Plans are also being formulated to have a fine arts team come to the hall to tell about Swedish music and dance. The Swedish legation and the U.S. embassy in Sweden have been contacted by the UNESCO workers in the hall.

Helen Ochsner, who was in Sweden this summer in a rural youth exchange program, is planning an exhibit of souvenirs as a background for study.

Ag Clubs Plan Joint Meetings

Representatives of the Block & Bridle, Varsity Dairy, and Poultry clubs met last week to draw up plans whereby the three clubs will hold joint meetings each month. The second Thursday of each month has been set as the date for the meetings.

Numerous advantages are believed to be derived from this plan. A similar operation is now in progress on the Iowa State campus. Among the advantages two are important: first, by joint meetings the clubs will be able to acquire well-qualified speakers. They will stimulate the interests of club members in some phase of agriculture. Second, a greater interest in meetings should result in better attendance by members.

The clubs will still retain their individuality. After the joint meetings the separate organizations will conduct their regular business meetings.

One main result of these joint meetings will be that Ag students can belong to only one

Crash Victim Leaves Hospital For Christmas

Happy in spite of the heavy cast on his left leg, Arthur F. Shotkoski Sunday morning was looking forward to a big Christmas with his family.

Shotkoski, a sophomore at Ag college, was severely injured Nov. 18 in a West O automobile smash-up that took the lives of two other university students.

For almost two weeks Shotkoski was unconscious from the effects of head injuries. When he began to recover, the progress was gradual. At first he responded only to questioning. Later he began talking of his own accord.

When he regained consciousness at St. Elizabeth's hospital, Shotkoski said he thought he was either at home or at Los Alamos, N.M. He was stationed there while in the Army.

He will spend the recuperation period at the home of his sister, but it will be necessary for him to return to the hospital periodically for treatments.
