

U Theatre Moves To Wesleyan Stage

The University Theater has finally found a stage. For the remainder of the season the campus dramatic group will use the Plainsman theater of Nebraska Wesleyan for productions.

The transaction, definitely completed after several days of discussion, resulted from last week's closing of the Temple Theater. The theater, labeled "a definite fire hazard," was declared unsafe for any large group of people.

Two Plays Cancelled.

Commenting on the types of plays to be produced, University Theater Director Dallas Williams stated, "Due to the complexity of the sets, the large casts and transportation difficulties, the previously scheduled plays, 'Othello' and 'I Remember Mama,' cannot be presented.

"Instead, a pair of comedies, '... But Not Goodby' by George Seaton, and 'Yes and No,' by Kenneth Horne will be presented. The Seaton comedy will be given Friday, March 18, and Saturday, March 19. The Horne play is slated for Friday, April 8, and Saturday, April 9."

"A special statement will be made later to season ticket holders," added Dr. Williams. "Each season ticket holder will receive a letter in the near future."

Besides being larger the office is now soundproof or nearly so with the addition of a series of beaverboard panels.

The following years found him as district extension supervisor, director of animal husbandry educational work and director of the livestock extension program. Meanwhile, he continued 4-H organizational and instruction work.

His thorough knowledge of the Nebraska livestock industry was one of the reasons why he was selected in 1945 to the post of secretary of the Omaha Livestock Exchange. Serving on many civic committees, Janike has filled that position with complete satisfaction.

Bill Introduced in Senate To Aid School Finances

A bill enabling the federal government to participate in the financial support of schools was introduced in the United States Senate last week by Senator Elbert D. Thomas, democrat, of Utah. Support for the measure, which in the same form was adopted by the Senate in the 80th Congress by a vote of 58 to 22, is bi-partisan.

Senator Taft, who introduced the bill in the last Congress, endorsed the new bill in behalf of the republican sponsorship.

Minimum Set

The amount involved is $300,000,000 per year for the purpose of helping the states, particularly those in greatest need, to provide schools for all children and to help equalize educational opportunity by setting up a minimum foundation school program. The bill seeks to provide for every child in the United States an expenditure of no less than $50 per year for education.

Directory Sales Open Tuesday Long-Awaited Booklet Finally Reaches Stands

The Student Directory is now on sale.

This year's much-discussed, oft-postponed edition of the complete student-faculty lists was offered to students Monday night at all organized houses.

The 50c, pocket-size book is done up in red and white this year. It contains names, addresses, phone numbers, school year of students, and names, addresses, phone numbers, offices and titles of all faculty and administrative members.

Printing Difficulties Arise.

The 1948-49 Directory had been promised to students before Christmas vacation by the Student Foundation. Likewise, the Cornhusker Printing Co. had promised all copies of the Directory to the Student Foundation in time for sale then. Printing difficulties, regardless of the contract, slowed publication of the Directory for weeks after its expected completion.

An intensive Directory sales campaign will take place this week about the University under the direction of Audrey Flood, business manager. House sales planned in Law, Ag, Sosh, Library and Union are being headed by Nancy Porter, Gloria Pinney and Ginny Koch. Bud Gerhart, Foundation treasurer, will handle the check-out booth.

Lawrie Heads Directory.

Editor of the Directory this year was Peggy Lawrie. Under her direction, Foundation workers checked IBM lists given to the group by the University. When student and faculty information was complete, with the help of University personnel and the Telephone Co., it was submitted to the printers. This work, and all ad soliciting, was completed two months ago, reported Miss Lawrie.

John K. Selleck, general business manager of the University is corporation secretary.

Other business included a report by the state fire marshal condemning the Temple theater and upon the suggestion of Comptroller John Selleck, the board approved that an engineer and architect make recommendations for the use of the building.

The Regents also voted to change the name of Northeast residence hall for women to Amanda H. Heppner hall, in honor of the former dean of women who died last month.

Thirty-seven appointments and 18 resignations were also approved by the board. Clarence A. Sooter, assistant professor of entomology, resigned effective Dec. 31.

Preppers Show Enthusiasm Over First 'Scarlet and Cream'

High school students have reacted "with enthusiasm" to the first issue of Scarlet and Cream, according to M. J. Melick, editor of the Student Foundation paper for high schools.

Published late in November, the four-page paper contained news of the University of interest to the secondary school pupils. It told of building and beautification plans, social events, sports, personalities and study aids of the University.

At least 60 answers have been received in response to a request by the editors to submit news for an "exchange paper" made up of strictly high schools news. These schools have written to Miss Melick or Virginia Koch, exchange editor, enclosing articles, news items or copies of their papers.

The appointed "reporters" of the Nebraska high schools have written such comments as, "We are very interested in this fine opportunity" and "We are looking forward to this paper very much."

Letters have been sent to the Foundation paper in a stream both before and after vacation, said Miss Koch. There is now an abundance of material for the next issue of Scarlet and Cream which will be published immediately by the staff.
