

Huskers Place Cage Lead On Block This Weekend

Nebraska's cage five will put their conference lead on the block this weekend when they make their first road trip against loup foes.

The Huskers will leave on the Missouri Pacific at 3:30 p.m. Friday on a trip which will take them to Lawrence for a game with Kansas Saturday and to Oklahoma for a contest with the second place Sooners Monday night.

COACH GOOD has been drilling his squad against Kansas and Oklahoma formations this past week, with special attention being given to stepping up the Scarlet fast break attack.

Heavy work was done at the free throw line also. The last game, with Colorado, stressed again the need for accuracy at the foul line. Lawry came through with two much needed points near the finish, but the margin could have been built higher with some of the gift tosses missed in the final minute and one-half.

THE GAME at Lawrence will give the N.U. team their first look at the revised Kansas style of play. The Jayhawkers played a deliberate type of ball in Lincoln last month but have switched to a faster, more scrappy game. K.U. Coach Phog Allen has used a pressing defense, faster floor game and a wilder shooting attack against recent foes.

Magsamen Leads Track Point List

Ray Magsamen of Albion, leads the point makers on the undefeated, thrice victorious University of Nebraska track team.

Besides pacing with 22½ points, Magsamen is unbeaten in the 60-yard low hurdles.

Leonard Kehl, sophomore pole vaulter and broad jumper from Scottsbluff, is second with 20 points.

Loyal Hurlbert, unbeaten quarter-miler from Oad, is third with 18½.

Oilers, Goodyears Clash At Coliseum Monday Nite

Some of the nation's top basketball talent will be on display next Monday night when the world famous Phillips "66" Oilers and the strong Akron, O., Goodyear Wingfoot team tangle on the Coliseum maples.

The game, sponsored by the Eastern Nebraska Coaches and Officials association, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. with a warm-up tilt booked for 6:15.

FAMILIAR to University of Nebraska fans will be two former University of Oklahoma stars who played on the Coliseum boards during their undergraduate days and are now working with the Oilers.

They are Gerald Tucker, the 6'4" pivot man, the three year all Big Seven choice, and Dick Reich, who teamed with Tucker with the Sooners and also received all-conference mention.

Number one man on the Oilers club, however, is the 7-foot giant Bob Kurland who for three years made the All-America team while performing at Oklahoma A. & M. Kurland is generally regarded as the top basketball performer in the nation today.

WHILE the majority of the Goodyear performers are not well known in this section of the country, they represent some of the finest basketball talent to come out of eastern colleges and universities in recent years. Among them are Ed Hrivank, 6'3" former Baldwin Wallace ace; Chuck Knoche, who starred at Washington and Jefferson, and Carl Ott, a nationally known former Ohio University star.

President Bill Borggaard of the sponsoring organization, has reported that university students can obtain tickets for the game at any downtown Lincoln sporting goods store at $1 each. Only the choice Coliseum seats will be sold, according to Borggaard, who said no standing room will be sold and that when the remaining general admission duets are disposed of, the ticket sales will be considered closed.
