The Daily Nebraskan

Intercollegiate Press FORTY-SEVENTR YEAR

The Daily Nebraskan is published by the stadests of the University of Nebraska as an expression of students news and opinions only. According to article II of the By Laws governing student publications and administered by the Board of Publications: "It is the declared policy of the Board that publications under its jurisdiction shall be free from editorial censorship on the part of the Board, or on the part of any seember of the faculty of the university; but members of the staff of The Oally Mebraskan are personally responsible for what they say or do or cause to be printed."

Subscription rates are $2.00 per semester, $2.50 per semester malled, or $3.00 for the college year. $4.00 mailed. Single copy 5c. Published daily during the school year except Mondays and Saturdays, vacations and examination periods, by the University of Nebraska under the supervision of the Publication Board. Entered as Second Class Marter at the Post Office in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 5, 1879, and at special rate of postage provided for in section 1103, Act of October 1, 1917, authorized September 10, 1923.

EDITORIAL.

Editor ... Norm Leger
Managing Editors ... Cub Clem,
Fritz Shupson Circulation Manager ... Al Abramson

News Editors Lonise McDill, Suske Reed,
M. J. Melick, Gene Berg, Bruce Kennedy
Ag News Editor Myron Gustafson
Assistant Ag Editor Jean Fenster
Sports Editor Harlan Beideck
Feature Editor Emily Heine Night News Editor Suske Reed

Matter of Credits'.

There is a matter which came up at the close of last semester which has never been satisfactorily explained to us. Without any intent of malice, we would like to bring the matter to light and find out just what happened.

On the day preceding Christmas vacation, a representative of a student group appeared in The Daily Nebraskan office with a letter asking why seniors are unable to get their credits checked before the start of second semester registration. The request stems, of course, from the desire of each senior to know what academic requirements he may not have fulfiled so that he may do so his last semester-and thus graduate at the time he had planned.

Our good friend Dr. Rosenlof, registrar, requested that before the letter be printed, he be given the chance to run an explanation along with the letterip. In our opinion, this was only fair. However, after vacation the above-mentioned student appeared in our office with the request that the letter not be printed. Consequently the matter was never put before the student body through the medium of the student newspaper.

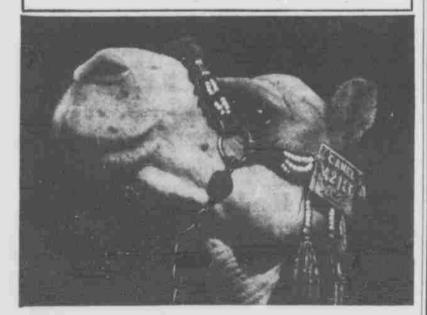

with that same question, "Why can't we get our credits great experiment in education, but it needs our help. Since that time various students have approached us checked before the start of our last semester?" No one likes the idea of having to spend txtra time in the University simply for the reason that they are not informed of their graduation deficiencies early enough to do something about it.

During the holiday period, we picked up some information on the subject that indicates that the trouble might be ironed out of the senior checkers were a little more diligent in their job.

The irony of the matter is that your editor was able to get his credits checked with very little difficulty (in contrast to the above explanation), but was able to do so by approaching the matter from the possibility of graduating at the end of the first semester.

Our purpose here is not to cause any undue stir in the Thompson discuss the independent registrar's office. We merely raise the question to which we think, the students are entitled an answer, "Is there any reason why all seniors can't have their credits checked before they register for what they hope is their last semester?"

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

WHEN a camel's hair cost company refused Sheedy as a gifthe went all to pieces. It was a blow that'd break an ordinary camel's back-but not his! He remembered hearing about the Finger-Nail Test . . . tried it . . . and hot-footed for a bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now you wouldn't know the old boy! His hair has a snappy, well-groomed look. No more of that old dryness and loose, ugly dandruff! He's the hit of every caravan!

Even if you're not a camel-you, too, should be using nonalcoholic Wildroot Cream-Oil containing Lanolin. You needn't walk a mile for it-your nearest drug store has it in bottles and tubes. And your barber can give you a professional application. Get some today! WILDROOT CREAM-ON

* of 327 Burroughs Dr., Snyder, N. Y.

Wildroot Company, Inc., Buffalo 11, N. Y.

Letterip

Dear Editor:

Although we do not pretend to know all the answers either, we feel that there are some questions put forth in the last Daily Nebraskan that deserve an answer. The UNESCO conference is looming large on the horizon and students are beginning to wonder, and rightly so, if the conference is going to have any lasting value, if it is worth putting their time and energy into. We feel it is, on both counts, and want to give a few thoughtful answers to but it is expected that Eisenthose equally thoughtful questions.

First, as to the Nebraska UNESCO serving any real purpose, it would serve an excellent purpose if it only gave the students a better understanding of the working of UNESCO. If we are to become contributing world citizens, we must realize both the idealistic and materialistic side of UNESCO. How better can we do it than by attempting to duplicate the actual set up and learn from experience of a few of the problems that face an organization of this kind? Not only do our attempts teach us of UNESCO, but they also give us a wider view of international affairs in general. True, we cannot hope to duplicate the attitudes and feelings of our assigned countries, but even trying helps us to understand them better.

UNESCO does deal in intangibles to an extent, but we should not feel that we cannot attack or comprehend intangibles. College students should be living the principles of UNESCO now; the aim of all our education is a better future, which will come principally from better international understanding. Universities are the bases of education, science and culture. We are the ones who should initiate such a program as a miniature UNESCO.

If we treat it lightly and shrug our shoulders, we will greatly nullify its value, but if we seize our opportunity to make something of it, we can do great things. The 3-day program has been well planned as to obtaining outstanding peakers and having a pageant and displays. It is now up to the students to make something of it. UNESCO can be a

Sincerely, Janet Kepner & Alice Jo Smith The Lebanese Delegation

Bulletin Board

Monday

Coed Follies (Retraction): Story Friday's Daily Nebraskaan should be corrected to read: "The Big Crash," Pi Beta Phi.

ISA council members will hear tact the UNESCO office. Dean of Student Affairs, T. J. sociation at 5 p. m.

The Tri-Delt house number is 2-7971. The number in the Student Directory is not correct.

Cornhusker Workers! We need o'clock to help us complete class lists. Any hour you could spare would be appreciated.

Any organized house rooms for students attending the UNESCO conference please con-

Tuesday Union Ping Pong tournament, first round. Flying Kernels, Parlor Y, Union, 30 p. m.

Applications for ISA Sweetheart you, any afternoon from 1 to 5 candidates are due at 6 p. m.

CLEARANCE SALE

OF DISCONTINUED AND SHOPWORN ITEMS

1/2 OFF

V LAMPS

/ PIPES

SLIDE RULES

V STATIONERY

WASTE BASKETS

√ NOTE BOOKS

1/3 OFF

√ RADIOS

CAMERAS

PENCIL SHARPENERS

WATER COLOR SETS

ARTISTS SMOCKS

PHONOGRAPHS

Sale Effective Wednesday, Feb. 16, Thru Wednesday, Feb. 23

By Bruce eKnnedy

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISEN-HOWER has been called to Washington to serve temporarily as chairman of the Joint Chiefs-of-Staff, President Truman announced Friday. No explanation from the White House was given, hower will be the principle military adviser and consultant to the President and Secretary of Defense Forrestal.

A considerable number of raised eyebrows followed this announcement by the President, Was Eisenhower getting back into harness because of new developments in the international situation? Or does the retirement of Fleet Admiral William Leahy, member of the Chiefs-of-Staff, have any connection? Tomorrow's news may have the answer.

BULGARIA announced the 'confessions' of fifteen Protestant clergymen of espionage for the United States and Britain. indictment followed almost to a letter the similar action in Hungary on Cardinal Mindszenty.

A HUNGARIAN diplomat has been asked by the United States "to leave the United States as soon as possible." No reason was officially given for this move by the State Department, but it might be tit-for-tat because of Hungary's ousting of two American officials from Hungary

A SUMMARY of the international news highlights of last week includes Norway's desire to join the North Atlantic pact. Despite Russia's threats, Norway will probably join, even though she can expect no military aid from the United States, Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty was convicted of espionage in Hungary. Russia delayed the third try at writing the Austrian peace treaty by demanding territorial claims for Yugoslavia. Gen. MacArthur disclosed a successful Soviet spy ring that operated during the war,

By Patti Gartland

Cupids danced from the ceiling it the Palladian Sweetheart formal Friday night in the Union The cupids were made from baloons and hung on the walls together with hearts and red and white streamers providing the Valentine decorations for party.

A promising Valentine couple was Dean Morrison and Emily Cloyd. The refreshments of cake and cokes seemed to intrigue Dennis Mitchum, but his date Marylou Myers also shared his attention.

Members of the faculty joined in the festivities. Dr. and Mrs. Lindgreen and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle kept a sharp eye on the couples in the corner-Ery Blish and Louise Metzger, Maxine Ludwick and Larry Rupert.

The balloon cupids were auctioned off by Jim Welch during intermission. Between bidding on cupids and doing the polka (in his own little way), Dick Thomas was the hit of the evening, although he was not always on his feet through the course of the event.

Auctioneering provided a hu-morous weekend note. Biggest bargain (?) went to Carolyn Roberts who vied for Bob Axtell $1 worth. Wrestler Chuck Hemmingsen, crushed because he wasn't "auctioned," will hold a special event soon with himself as the prize. Proceeds will go to the H U F (Hemmingsen University Fund.) All women who wish to make advanced bids please contact Keith O'Bannon, Chuck's agent and auctioneer.

See our mammoth selection Wife_Sweetheart Valentines Goldenrod Stationery State 215 No. 14 Open to 5:30 p.m.