

TNC Presentation Highlights Follies

'49 Styles Shown in 'Gold Rush'

Nebraska's treasured Typical Coed will end the long journey from the gold lands when she steps out of a forty-niner's cross-country wagon into the spot-light tonight.

The presentation will take place at the annual Coed Follies show scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Nebraska theater. Preceding the appearance of the TNC, a gold rush of '49er fashions will be shown by girls who were finalists for the honor.

NAMED THE "Fashion Fest of '49," the show will begin with New Yorker fashions of the year. Then proceeding across the nation, the show will stop in each city along the way to glimpse at leading fashions there.

After the style show reaches the golden land of California a group of miners will leave the sunny styles behind and start back across the country with their treasure, the Typical Nebraska Coed. Their last stop will be the stage of the Coed Follies, where the treasure will end its journey.

PATTY GUHIN will act as "Dame Fashion" in moderating the show and Jan Stratton will be master of ceremonies at the TNC presentation.

An earlier attraction in the Follies will be the Mortar Board skit. Always a surprise, the Mortar Board skit is annually presented as a take-off on some phase of campus life.

Six skits and three curtain acts will be given by organized houses, who will be competing for first place ratings in each class. Houses to be represented in the Follies are Alpha Omicron Pi, dorm, Kappa Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Phi and Sigma Delta Tau.

JUDGES FOR THE skits will be Miss Ruth Odell, English department; Miss Mary Hosier, clothing and textiles; Miss Aileen Lockhart, physical education; Miss Mamie Merideth, business English and Mrs. Boyd Carter.

Tickets will be sold all day in the Union today. They will also be offered at the Nebraska theater box office tonight provided they are not all sold out.

Delta Sigma Pi Marks 25th Anniversary

Twenty-five years on the campus for Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, was marked last Friday evening.

Some 200 active members, alumni and guests attended an anniversary party at Cotner Terrace. They heard an address by H. G. Wright, national secretary-treasurer and head of the fraternity's central office in Chicago.

Mr. Wright cited the local chapter for its work in promoting understanding between commerce students and businessmen through dinner forums and industrial tours. Activities like these, Mr. Wright said, improve public relations and provide students with an opportunity to learn commercial problems first hand.

A feature of the dinner-dance celebration was the presentation of Miss Marjorie Hansen as the chapter's representative in the fraternity-wide "Rose of Delta-sig" beauty contest. She was given a bouquet of American Beauty roses by Bob Freeman, president of the campus fraternity.

Formed at Nebraska in 1924, the fraternity has been in continuous existence except for two war years. It is one of 60 chapters throughout the nation which claim 21,000 active and alumni members.

Membership in the commerce fraternity is restricted to male undergraduates and faculty members of Bizad college.

Matinee Dancing Dates in Demand

Need dates? Lost your specs? You had better find them and start looking for a date to the Union Matinee dances which will be held every Tuesday at 4:30 in the Union ballroom.

Music from the best name bands will be furnished by Program Service. Everyone is invited to come up before or after their coke dates. You need not dress up, just thrust your books in a dark corner and rush to the Union.

The Union's Tuesday calendar is also including Sesta films at 4 in the main lounge of the Union. Pictures to be shown are: two March of Times, featuring information on Swedish and public relations. Another film, called Mr. President, will also be shown. No charge will be made.

NU-Red Cross To Form New College Council

Formation of a Red Cross College Unit Council was announced today by the campus unit president, Eugene Berg. The Council will be made up of representatives of campus houses and organizations to be elected by their groups this week.

First meeting of the proposed council, a further expansion of the young organization's program, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in Parlor X of the union.

The council of representatives will meet weekly and will act as liaison between the unit and the organized groups. All unit projects will be carried through the council for campus support.

AUDREY ROSENBAUM, vice-president of the college unit, will conduct council meetings and direct the representatives' actions according to Berg.

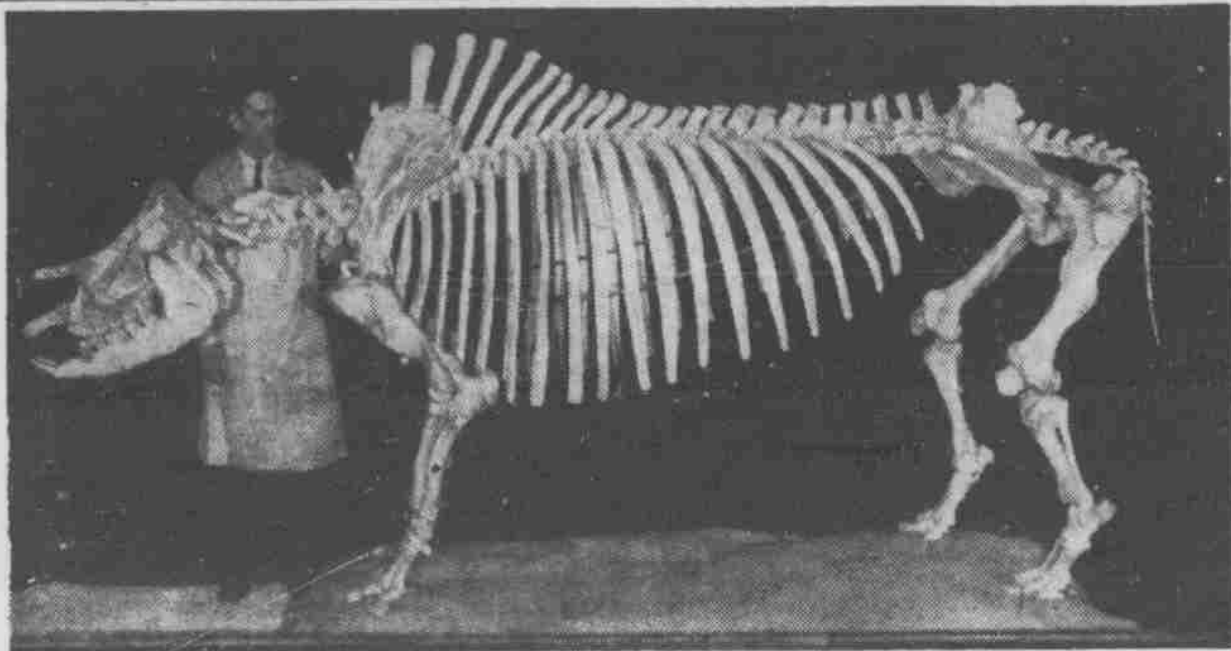

Representatives to the Red Cross Council were selected last night by most houses in answer to letters sent by the College Unit.

The Council's activities will include reporting to their houses on such Unit activities as institutional entertainment, motor corps driving, first aid classes, in addition to special projects such as fire prevention and used book collections.

Fair Board Plans Rodeo Discussion

Students will have an opportunity to discuss a current controversial Ag subject this evening.

The Farmer's Fair board has called a special meeting for 5 p. m. Tuesday in Dairy Husbandry building, Room 301, for the purpose of discussing a rodeo in connection with Farmer's Fair this spring. All interested students are invited to attend.

ONE OF THE largest prehistoric rhinoceros skeletons yet found in North America went on display at the University of Nebraska State Museum last week. The giant animal was discovered just before the war on the Andrew Hottell farm ten miles west of Harrisburg, in Bonner county. Before and following the war a Museum field party, assisted by three Bridgeport men—T. C. Middleswart, W. F. Chaloupka and the late S. R. Sweet—excavated the remains from an Ice Age river channel. The Museum's rhino lived in Nebraska about 2,000,000 years ago. His ancestors originated about 50,000,000 years ago. Many of them migrated to Asia where the largest rhino skeleton of them all—nearly three times the size of the Nebraska specimen—was found recently. Just prior to the advent of the great glaciers, all of the North American rhinos became extinct.

'What's in a Name?' Ask Judges For Foundation Title Contest

Sowers . . . N. U. Builders . . . Student Boosters . . . Student Service . . . Cornhusker Couriers . . . Cornerstone . . .

These titles are among those which the Student Foundation New Name contest judges will analyze with "What's in a name?" Tuesday noon.

At a luncheon meeting Tuesday, the five judges will meet to choose a new, appropriate name for the Student Foundation, campus service group and student public relations organization.

The selection of the name will be in the hands of Mr. Ellsworth DuFau, Lincoln businessman and former alumni secretary; Miss Mary Mielenz, Foundation faculty sponsor; Gene Mitchell, Foundation president; Eugene Berg, board member; and Nancy Porter, Student Foundation member.

They will ponder over the ninety entries before awarding the $10 prize which Chancellor Gustavson donated for the contest. They will attempt to select a name which embodies the Student Foundation's work, both on the campus and throughout the state. . . . Cornhusker Liaison . . . Promotion N. U. . . . Pillars . . . Student Associates . . . Scarlet and Cream . . . Which will it be?

Students May File for Civil Service Jobs

The U. S. Civil Service commission has announced a Meteorological Aid examination from which positions paying from $2,498 to $3,727 a year will be filled.

These positions are located in Washington, D. C., and vicinity, mainly in the U. S. Weather Bureau and Department of Commerce. A few positions in Alaska, in possessions of the United States and in foreign countries, may also be filled.

To qualify in this examination, applicants must pass a written test and must have from one to five years of appropriate technical or professional experience. Pertinent high school or college education may be substituted for all the experience required for $2,498 jobs and for part of the experience required for the higher-paid jobs.

Interested persons may obtain information and application forms at most first and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices or from the U. S. Civil Service commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must

Honoraries List New Members

New members of two pharmacy societies and an art honorary have been announced as follows:

Kappa Epsilon, professional pharmacy society for women: Corinne Coker, Doris A. Dunn, LaVonne Lawson, Janice E. Teter and Leola Willard.

Rho Chi, national honorary pharmacy society: Harold C. Fentiman, Milton O. Johnson, Joan E. Duffy, Arthur J. Boye, Glenn F. Walsh, Martin J. Bakken and George A. Breon IV.

Delta Phi Delta, national art honorary: Jack Brodie, James Hinkle, Francis Wallace, Elizabeth Slaughter, Beverly Colbert, Don Hazelrigg, Don Sharp, Edith Freitag, Roberta Flory, Stanley Sohl, James Hiatt, Verna Mae Miles, Owen Scott, Anna Semene, Phil Rueschoff, Sid Tingle, Joan Davidson, Andrew Morrow and Margaret Woodbridge.

Ag Experts Will Advise Farmers

Three extension specialists from the University will be on hand at a livestock clinic at Imperial March 10 to assist Chase county farmers with their livestock problems.

They are Animal Husbandryman W. W. "Bill" Derrick, Animal Pathologist S. W. Alford and Entomologist Jack Lomax.

The meeting, which is open to the public, will have emphasis on livestock management, diseases and pest control.

be on file in the commission's Washington office not later than March 15, 1949.

Annual Art Show Will Include 160 Top Paintings, Sculptures

By Ruth Ann Sandstedt

Amid packing cases and excelsior, over 160 paintings and sculptures by some of the most significant artists of today are propped against the walls of the Morrill hall art galleries, waiting to be hung for their debut Sunday as the 59th Annual Exhibition of Contemporary Art.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Nebraska Art Association. Lasting from March 6 to April 3, the show is free to all students.

In technique, the exhibit includes paintings, drawings, watercolors and sculptures. This year's show ranges from abstract pieces like I. Rice Pereira's "Oblique Illusion" done on several layers of glass to academic portraiture, such as the portraits of General Eisenhower and Dorothy Canfield Fisher done by Stephen and Hirsch, respectively.

ACCORDING to Joseph Ishikawa, curator of the art galleries, the exhibit is more conservative than it has been in previous years, showing less of the so-called modern art. Ishikawa stated that the trend in art now is more conservative.

Artists represented include many whose works are now in the permanent collection of the University. There is a primitive by Grandma Moses and pieces by Richard Taylor, cartoonist for the New Yorker and Kahll Gibran, author and illustrator of "The Prophet." Sloan, one of the eight of 1908 who revolutionized American painting, is represented in the show as well as Jacob Lawrence, a Negro artist who has done several series for Fortune on Negro migration north, slum conditions and John Brown.

"THIS IS one of the few opportunities that Nebraskans get to see a show of this depth and breadth," Ishikawa said. "It is a show of national scope." The annual exhibit is the source of the paintings kept in the permanent University collection, known as one of the best collections of American art owned by an American university. Gordon Robinson, juror for international art shows, visited one of the annual exhibits several years ago and stated then that it was one of the best shows he had seen in several years.

A feature of the exhibit is the showing of the "Living Pictures" on the day of the opening. "Living Pictures" is the occasion when townspeople pose in living replicas of the paintings to be exhibited in the annual exhibit. Prof. F. Dwight Kirsch, director of the University art galleries, has announced that the Nebraska Art Association has made arrangements for interested students and staff members to attend, without charge, the dress rehearsal of "Living Pictures" to be held March 5, at 1:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom.

Seed Growers To Hold Meeting

Leading seed growers of the state will be presented at the annual meeting of the Nebraska Crop Improvement association held at the Ag campus Thursday, March 3.

Dr. F. D. Keim, chairman of the University agronomy department, will give an illustrated discussion of agriculture in Central America, where he visited recently. Other speakers on the program will be Dr. Ephriam Hixson, chairman of the entomology department; Dr. Kling Anderson of Kansas State College; and Dayton Klingman of the University of Nebraska.

The speakers will discuss subjects pertaining to increasing production of the state's food-stuffs.

YM Invites New Aggies to Party

The Ag YMCA will hold a stag party Tuesday night in the lounge of the Foods and Nutrition building. The party will start at 7:30 p.m.

This party, to which everyone is invited, is especially for new students on the campus this semester. Gordon Lippett will explain the YM organization to the new students. The remainder of the evening will be spent playing games. Refreshments will be served.

Husker Broadcast

KOLN, 1400 on the radio dial, will carry the Nebraska-Kansas State basketball game tonight. The Broadcast, sponsored by Mowbray-Lyon Co., will begin at 7:30.