Nebraska Squads to Seek Three Titles This Week

Nebraska athletes take on a big chore this week-end as they attempt to take three conference titles as wrestling, swimming and basketball championships will be decided this Friday and Saturday.

Husker attack. Grimm is defending champ in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events. Ed Craren and Ted Kanamine, star sophomores, along with Conrad King and Perry Branch will also be in for points.

The Huskers can cinch the cage title with a win over the Oklahoma Sooners Saturday night. If Nebraska loses, they must beat Missouri next week if they want to share the title. The Huskers will be favored slightly as the game will be played on the Coliseum maples. Retherford will attempt to fatten his record at the expense of the Sooners.

Students Must Show ID Cards At OU Game

Any student activity books not presented by their proper owners at the Oklahoma-Nebraska game will be confiscated!

That was the warning issued Wednesday by the athletic business office. A capacity crowd is expected for the contest, and the business department wants to assure legitimate holders the best seats possible.

Emphasizing that the books are not transferable, and those presented by someone other than their owners can and will be taken up, the department asks that students have their ID cards ready for the checkers at the doors.

Ticket number 21 is due Saturday. To avoid congestion and speed handling students are requested to have that stub ready at the door.

Bus Driver: "All right back there?"

Feminine Voice: "No, wait till I get my clothes on."

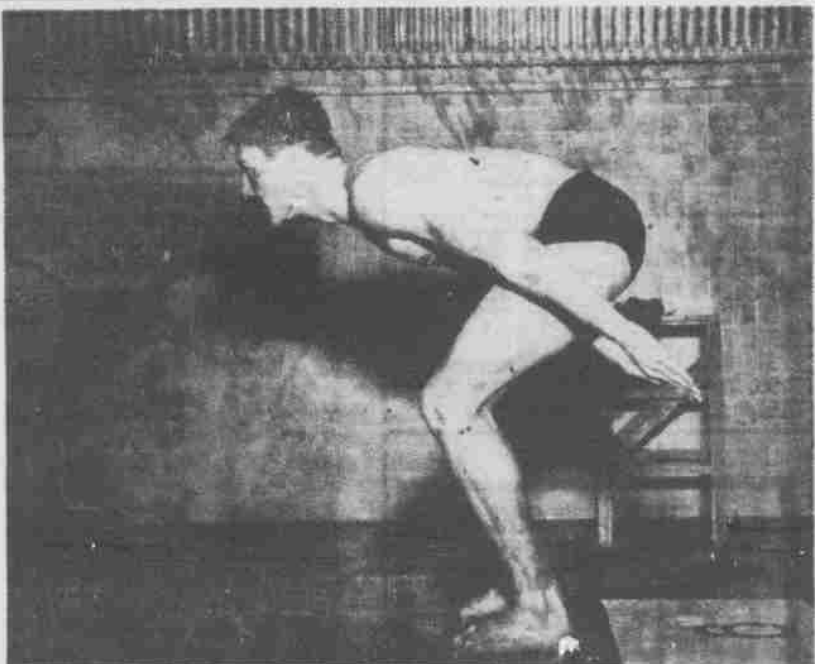

Then, the driver led the stampede to the rear and watched a girl get on with a basket of laundry.

The wrestling team travels to Iowa State for the Big Seven championships Friday and Saturday. Oklahoma is the defending champions, but are not slated to repeat as they dropped a 22 to 5 decision to Nebraska. Iowa State is expected to give the Huskers their toughest competition, as they hold a tie with Nebraska on their record. On paper, the Huskers hold a slight edge with two champs returning and Herb Reese slated to win in the 175-lb. division.

Iowa State will be favored to cop the swimming championships here Friday and Saturday. The Cyclone squad is rated one of the top five squads in the country, with Roger Watts, one of the fastest distance men in the country, carrying the load for the team.

Oklahoma and Nebraska will battle it out for the second position. Oklahoma will be led by two new sophomores from Pennsylvania, Earl Jones and Don McCloskey.

Marvin Grimm will lead the CONRAD KING, veteran Husker breastroker, takes a few practice starts in anticipation of the conference swimming meet this week-end. King placed third in the conference last year. He will also swim on the medley relay team.

Sooners to Bring Strong Tank Squad to Swim Championships

Oklahoma, long a non-power in swimming, is now picked to give the Cornhuskers a hard fight for second place in the conference swimming meet this weekend. Iowa State has been conceded the title as they have one of the best squads in their history.

Out-state boys dominate the Sooner squad this year. The three outstanding newcomers are Jerry Driehorst of Lakewood, Ohio, Earl Jones of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Don McCloskey of York, Pennsylvania.

Driehorst is a distance man and is expected to place high in the conference meet. Earl Jones has bettered the conference breast-stroke record already this season and will be shooting for a new record Friday night. Don McCloskey is close to the backstroke record and may break it in the championships.

The sprint races will be carried by Raymond Cobb and Jerry Driehorst. Joe Racz, Walter Farr and Wayne Cleghorn will team up with Driehorst in the distance events.

Oklahoma has only one veteran back in the diving. John Graves, junior, will carry the diving chores for the Sooners.

Nebraska dropped a dual meet to the Sooners this year, 43-41. The Huskers nudged the Oklahomans for second in the conference last year.

Farm House Drops ATOs For IM Title

The ATO's basketball bubble exploded right in their faces Tuesday night as the Farm House tore them to pieces by a 47-32 margin to take the Lincoln Campus championship. The only time the game was close was at the beginning, as the Ag boys led by little Darrell Heiss poured point after point through the hoops.

The Farm House cagers started early and had run up a 14-4 lead after 5 minutes. This lead increased to the 30-11 halftime score. In the second half the Ag boys slowed their pace down and merely held on to the ball, which they controlled most of the time. Their halftime lead was increased to 36-13 midway in the third quarter and they coasted on to victory.

As for individual performances, Darrell Heiss put on one of the most dazzling basketball performances seen in Intramural competition. He continually stole the ball from the bewildered ATO guards to dribble in for lay-ups and consistently made impossible shots. All told, he potted 24 points, 16 in a torrid first half. Not to be overshadowed, Linus Vrbka of the Farm House added 15 points. Everyone of the Ag cagers played an inspired game. Don Rice sunk 12 points to take top ATO honors.

Interdenom Lead To Newman Club

The denominational and religious group sports race is developing into a three way race between the Newman Club, Presbyterians and Methodists.

The Methodists were in the lead until this week when Newman club won the basketball championship, boosting their total to first place. Christians came in second in basketball, followed by the Lutherans and the Presbyterians.

This is the first year of organized competition for the different teams. Supremacy standings as of February 28 are as follows:

1. Newman Club 872½
2. Presbyterians 850
3. Methodists 807½
4. Lutherans 597
5. Baptists 345
6. Christians 300
7. Intersivity Fellowship 120

Retherford Named On Big 7 Squad

Claude Retherford, Nebraska's fast-shooting guard, has been named to the All-Big Seven squad by Hal Middlesworth, sports editor of the Oklahoman in Oklahoma City.

Retherford was placed with Bob Petersen, tiny Iowa State captain, at the guard slots along with Bob Rolander of Colorado at center and Paul Courty of Oklahoma and Rick Harman of Kansas State in the forward positions.

Bus Whitehead, towering Husker center was named to the second squad.
