Historical Society Grabs Ag College, Rodeo Arena

Ag students probably will not have a rodeo this year after all. While digging for post holes on the rodeo plot near the Beef Barn this week, John Vonson and Curt Franks unerathed some fossils. A representative of the State Historical Society who happened by at just that moment immediately recognized them as the rare Bonus a la Beefus. Quick action followed and the State Historical Society received Governor Pal Vetterdaugher's permission to annex all Ag campus to get fossils rights on the place.

DEAN U. V. Bertlam, dean of Ag college, is protesting the action. "I don't care so much about the rest of Ag campus, the plot the Farmers Fair Board was allotted must be returned. We must have a rodeo!" was his remark on the situation. Bob Eggert, Farmers Fair Board chairman in charge of the rodeo, said, "Gee." Prof. Lillian Piffle, animal husbandryman, said, "I was afraid something like this would happen when I hesitated to Ok the rodeo."

"GEE WHIZ," was Fair Board President Don Smith's opinion. Meanwhile the Historical Society is remaining firm. Definite action has been taken to start excavation sometime in 1953. In the meantime, the Society plans to prohibit anyone entering Students will be allowed past the guard's upon showing their identification cards and their registration sheets showing that they have a class during that hour.

Schirmer . . . to date. Nadine Anderson has been relieved of her duties as managing editor and now is allowed to clean out the office each night. When contacted, Schirmer was busy filing counter-charges against the publications board with the Student Council. He was demanding an investigation. All he would say is, "I'm like lucky Pierre caught in the middle."

Election . . . lieved most Motor Boats will stress the following qualifications:
1. An 80.001 average and access to a good set of files. (There isn't time for studying when you're a Motor Boat.)
2. A major in elementary education. (See above explanation.)
3. The ability to seem lukewarm to campus politics, when actually seeing all, hearing all and knowing all.
4. A position on the Student Council and a reputation for not having said a word all year.

'Love Is Unsafe' —Fire Marshall

In a long-awaited statement, the state fire-marshall today condemned Love Memorial library as unsafe. Said the marshall, "Why I wouldn't send my worst enemy into the place. It's a firetrap." Replying to the accusation, library head Bennett Creeps admitted, "It's true. It's a hole and there's nothing we can do about it. We're chucking all our books down the sewer and are having a dynamite party tonight."
