John Binning Named Orator; Ray Miller's Poem Chosen

John Binning and Ray Miller have been chosen as Ivy Day orator and poet, respectively. Binning will speak on "Young People and Politics" and Miller's poem is entitled "Directs the Ivy."

Binning was chosen by a committee from the speech department. Judges in the poetry contest were: Ruth Odell, Oliver Evans and Lowry C. Wimberly, all of the English department.

NU Builders Honor 23 as 'Outstanding'

Twenty-three outstanding members of University of Nebraska Builders (formerly Student Foundation) were honored last night at the year-end recognition meeting of the campus service group.

Nominated by the Builders board members from the membership of the organization because of "exceptional contributions to the purposes of Builders," the following were presented letters of commendation:

Joyce Buck, Dick Kuska, Jackie Sorenson, Marli Mooberry, Jackie Hoss, Don Kuxhausen, Janet Jenik, Sarah Fulton, Joan Rhoades, Ann Barger, Bev Larson, Jean Hedstrom, Jayne Wade, Marilyn Coupe, Beth Wilkins, Jan Hufard, Poochie Rediger, Kathy Dodson, Chuck Burmeister, Carol Strong, Cliff Christianson, Jan Lindquist and Jo Fickling.

Miss Mary Mielenz, faculty adviser of the organization, spoke briefly at the outset of the meeting on the meaning and growth of the group. Following the presentation of awards, a movie on Safety was shown, and refreshments were served.

Jeannie Sampson, Builders president, presided at the mass meeting. She announced that any honored member not present to receive his letter should pick it up at the Builders office.

Ag Exec Elects Wirth, McDill

Lloyd Wirth and Louise McDill will be hold-over members of Ag Ec board for ensuing year of 1949-50.

Miss McDill is a junior in the Agriculture college, Chi Omega and news editor on Daily Nebraskan. Wirth is in junior year at Ag college, Alpha Gamma Rho and member of Alpha Zeta.

Ag students are reminded that the deadline for election filings on Ag campus is near and interested persons are urged to file applications as soon as possible.

Upperclassmen Must Finish Registration by Monday Noon

Students not in the Junior Division should finish registering by Monday noon, according to Dr. Hoover, assistant registrar.

"Registration is going very fast and should reach the 2,800 mark by Friday morning," he said. "Two years ago it took six weeks to register; last year it took two weeks; this year we should be finished in five days."

Traditional May Breakfast Ends Ivy Day Weekend

Traditional climax to the Ivy Day weekend, the YWCA's May morning breakfast, will be held Sunday, May 8, in the Union ballroom.

All campus coeds, their mothers and other female relatives are invited to attend the event, held annually on the Sunday morning following Ivy festivities. Guests here for Ivy Day are especially urged to attend the breakfast.

PRECEDING this year's breakfast will be a service at 8:30 a. m. in the ballroom. Attendance at this service is not required in order to join in the 9 a. m. breakfast.

Following the YW affair, Orchestras will present a program of modern dance for all guests.

The May morning breakfast has been a YWCA tradition since the 1900's when the annual mother-daughter get-togethers were held in St. Paul's church and were open only to YW members. As the campus organization grew, breakfasts grew and were held first in Ellen Smith hall, and then, since 1940, in the Union ballroom.

Tickets for the event are 75c per person. They may be purchased from YW officers, cabinet members, freshmen working on the annual project or from the YWCA office. All reservations must be turned in to Ellen Smith hall by 4 p. m. Friday.

John Binning

ceive his L.L.B. here this spring. Miller writes for the Cornshucks and is a member of Sigma Nu.

Last year the Ivy Day orator was Ralph Nelson. Marion Collins, now on the English staff here, was Ivy Day poet.

The oration will start at 10:45 a. m. Saturday, May 7, and the poem will be read immediately following the speech.

Sunday's Flicker To Offer Variety

Flicker Nite, starring such old favorites as Charlie Chaplin, Laurel and Hardy, and others of screen history, will appear at the Union Sunday, May 8.

Accompanying the old-time "flickers" will be the Melodairs, local barbershop quartet, who will be on hand for a short songfest in addition to their featured numbers.

Sponsored by the general entertainment committee of the Union, of which Al Tully is chairman, Flicker Nite will also offer ice cream bars and popcorn to munch throughout the show.

At 9:30 a. m. on Saturday, May 7, "tradition" will walk onto the University campus for its 48th annual visit, when a band concert opens the Ivy Day program.

From the procession of the ivy and daisy chains to the tapping of the 13th Innocent, tradition will be the rule of the day. Site for the proceedings will be the campus north of Administration, where the May Queen and her attendants will reign. If it should rain, the proceedings will be moved to the Coliseum.

ONE OF the highlights of the morning activities will be the procession of the May Queen and her attendants. The queen is to be chosen from six candidates elected at the women's election. Senior women candidates for the honor are Betty Aasen, Joan Farrar, Lois Gillett, Phyllis Harris, Genevieve Mitchell, and Lois Thorfinsson.

In addition to the May Queen, a senior maid of honor, two senior, four junior, two sophomore and two freshman attendants will be revealed when the Queen's procession leaves the Administration building. The Ivy Day Court will be led by two underclasswomen as pages.

A TRADITION begun on June 11, 1901, at the first Ivy Day will be continued when Senior Class President Fritz Hedgwood, and junior president Bill Mueller plant the ivy.

The rest of the morning will be taken up by the Ivy Day oration, the poem, and the sorority sings. The afternoon activities will begin with the fraternity sing, and end when Mortar Boards and Innocents have revealed the members of their organizations for 1949-50.

All Saturday classes will be dismissed for the annual celebration, which will be the last official chance for celebration for students before final examinations begin. Last on the program for the day will be the initiation of Mortar Boards, and the See IVY DAY, Page 4

Palladians Give Vaudeville Show

Vaudeville and modern advances in the American theater since its celebrated end will be the theme of the Palladian Literary society's program Friday night.

The show, sponsored by the Palladians, will be presented also for members of Cosmopolitan club and the Delian-Union society.

Elliott Promises Consideration Of Assembly-Made Constitution

Consideration is what the Assembly's constitution will receive from the Senate sub-committee on student government, "Careful" and "sympathetic" consideration.

This was the promise made by Dr. Curtis Elliott, sub-committee chairman, in an interview Thursday.

"Without question, the committee will consider proposals of the assembly carefully and sympathetically and will use these proposals as the 'thinking' of the student body," Elliott said.

ASKED WHAT the fate of a constitution drawn up by the Assembly would be, Elliott replied, "Speaking as chairman of the sub-committee to study the problem of student government on the
