Water Safety Course Slated For Coliseum

The Red Cross Water Safety course, originally scheduled for the Coliseum and then later moved over to the YWCA, has again been moved back to the Coliseum, Warren Emery, county Red Cross Water Safety chairman, has announced. The change was made because of the large number of students planning on taking the course.

The course is open to anyone who has received his or her Senior Life Saving certificate, or to any persons who wish to review their Water Safety tests. Any person who is registered for the year as an instructor is also invited to come over and help lead the groups.

The course, sponsored by the Red Cross College Unit, will be given on five nights from 7:30 p. m., to 10:30 p. m., May 19, 21, 25, 26 and 28 in the swimming pool in the Coliseum.

Marvin Hersey, Nebraska field representative for the National Red Cross, will be in charge of the course.

Who are America's Most Successful YOUNG Men?

In anybody's book, one of them is Marion Harper, Jr. of Advertising's McCann-Erickson. Said TIME—late last year:

Just ten years ago, Marion Harper, Jr., fresh from Yale, got a job as office boy at McCann-Erickson, Inc., one of the six largest U.S. advertising agencies. Tall (6 ft. 1 in.), strapping (190 lbs.) Harper was far from the out-sider's idea of an advertising man. He was quiet and studious; he did not wear hand-painted ties, didn't smoke, showed not a single huckster characteristic.

But he had been an office boy only three months when he was moved into the copy research department where he could put his liking for market research to work. Not long after, Harper was made manager of copy research: at 28, only seven years after he had left Yale, he was vice-president in charge of research and merchandising.

By bearing down on market studies, he helped boost the agency's billings from $46 million in 1946 to a 1948 rate of more than $50 million. Last week in Manhattan, at 32, Marion Harper was made president as Founder H. K. McCann, 68, moved up to board chairman. Said an awed agency director, in summarizing Harper's rise: "He energizes people . . . he's got so much energy himself. The agency has never had such good teamwork before."

On Harper's team is his wife Virginia, whom he met while she was a clerical worker at the agency and married in 1942. She is now assistant director of McCann-Erickson's copy research department. Having no children, Mr. & Mrs. Harper sometimes stay at the office until 2 a.m., working together. Says Mrs. Harper: "I think he's quite bright."

TIME Successful adman Harper reads TIME each week—as do more than 1,500,000 other U.S. college graduates who find in TIME the news they can't afford to miss.

NU Explodes In 9th; Halts K-State, 5-3

Big Tom Novak's round tripper in the top half of the ninth inning proved to be the spark necessary as the Husker baseballers went on a four run spree to cop the second game of the series against Kansas State, 5 to 3. The Huskers lost the first game Monday by a score of 4 to 0.

Up until the last canto the game was a pitchers duel between Kansas State's Duane Holder and Nebraska's Jim Sandstedt. The score was tied one to one until Novak put the Huskers into a lead which they never relinquished.

Bob Grogan followed with a triple and came in on Cerv's single. A walk sent Cerv to second and Joe Benak ended the scoring with another single.

The Wildcats to come back fighting in the last of the ninth as they scored two runs. With a man on first base, Kansas State third baseman Al Sheriff hit into a double play to end the game and give the Huskers a split in the series.

NEBRASKA'S next conference series will be May 16 and 17 when they play host to the University of Missouri in two game series.
