

Henry Schulte Memorial Dedicated at Track Meet

"Pa" would have been smiling. His boys were in good form. Theirs was good, healthy competition.

And then, in the midst of their track and field chores, they stopped to pay respect to him, Henry F. Schulte.

They watched the dedication that immortalized their "Pa", the Big Seven "Indian."

With words like "the bigness of his body eloquently revealed the bigness of his spirit," and "a rare and wonderful human being," the plaque commemorating his service as The Coach was unveiled.

"Pa" would have smiled at the words of the plaque, as well as those of Frederick Ware in his dedicatory address. For cast in bronze were: "Dedicated to the spirit of Nebraska as exemplified in the life of Henry F. Schulte, friend of youth, builder of men."

He would have been touched by the music of the marching band, the appearance of Corn Cobs, Tassels, Innocents, and N-Club men, the sentiments of Dr. G. E. Condra, Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, Robert Devoe, Fritz Daly, Coach Ed Weir and Mr. Ware.

The Nebraska coach of 1919 to 1933, who died in 1944, would have been overwhelmed at the response to the dedication—revealed in a number of letters and messages sent to his wife.

But most of all, he would have been pleased by another successful running of the Big Seven Outdoor Track events. Those were his boys out there

Four Masquers Named Purple Mask Members

Purple Mask memberships, the campus theaters' highest honor, were awarded last night to four Nebraska Masquers at the group's annual awards banquet.

Jack MacDonald, Clare Denton, Jack Wenstrand and Margaret Denton were elected to the honorary thespian group.

New Nebraska Masquer members, revealed at the banquet, are: Jack Thronburg, Dwight Smith, Ruth Ann Richmond, Elizabeth Fullaway, Elaine Lamphear, Michael Shanahan, Jo Speidell and Jerry Deibler.

THE MASQUERS, in a Continental cafe setting, dramatized their selection of initiates by a moving spotlight which picked out each new member at his place.

The acting society announced the recipients of their special awards for University and experimental acting chores. Margaret Dutton was honored for her portrayal of Georgina Allerton in "Dream Girl" in the University Theater department. Jack MacDonald won "best actor" honors for his Mic in "Winterset." Supporting actor and actress highlights placed Jack Wenstrand, Judge Gaunt in "Winterset," and Janis Crilly, Mrs. Atkinson in "Beyond the Horizon" in top places.

GAYLORD MARR'S performance as Chris Mann in "Due Unto Caesar" earned him Experimental Theater "best actor" selection. Mary Lou Thompson, Linda Seaton in "Holiday," won the actress honors. Two other performances in "Do Unto Caesar" merited supporting actor and actress awards. Michael Shannahan, who played Goliath in the play, and Elaine Lamphear, Grandma in "Caesar," were recipients of the honors.

Freshman acting awards were presented to Dwight Smith and Marilyn Morgan by the Nebraska Masquers chapter. Service awards were won by Mary Sigler and Tom Stimfig.

Exam Schedule Changed

One last minute change in the final exam schedule was announced by Dean Thompson's office Friday afternoon.

The correction will only affect students taking civil engineering 1, Dean Thompson said. This exam has been changed from Thursday, June 2 to Saturday, June 3. The exam will be held from 9 a. m. to 12 p. m.

Publications Board Names 'Cub' Clem 'Daily' Editor

Rag Presents Pix Review

The pictures in today's issue of the Daily Nebraskan are taken from the past year's files. They are shots which concern the major news events of the year.

For a complete resume of the year's activities see a compilation by Frank Jacobs. The story appears on page 3.

Raun Heads Ag College Exec Board

Robert Raun will head the Ag Exec board for the coming year.

Elected president at a board meeting Friday, Raun will be a junior in Ag college next year. He also serves as president of Alpha Gamma Rho and is a new member of Kosmet Klub.

Neal Baxter was named vice president of the group, Rex Crom was selected secretary and Sue Bjorklund was chosen for the treasurer's post.

BAXTER IS a junior in Ag college and is treasurer of Corn Cobs and a member of Farm House fraternity. He represents Coll-Agri-Fun board on the Exec board.

Crom is the sophomore representative on the board and a member of Farm House.

Sue Bjorklund is a senior in home economics and was elected senior at large member of the board in the May 12 elections.

A member of Farmers Fair board, she is a pledge of Sigma Kappa.

Other board members to serve next year are Jack DeWulf, Mary Chace, Joan Raun, Don Knebel, and holdover members Louise McDill and Lloyd Wirth.

Tyler, Glen Win Pharmacy Honor

Varro Tyler and Carl Glen, Jr., were honored Friday as the top scholars in the College of Pharmacy senior class.

Tyler was presented the Lehn and Fink medal at the annual banquet of the student branch of the American Pharmaceutical association. Glen received the Merch and Co. award consisting of a collection of valuable reference books.

Tyler is a member of Sigma Xi, Rho Chi, honorary pharmacy society, and Kappa Psi, professional pharmacy society. Glenn is a member of Rho Chi.

Keith O'Bannon Heads New 'Nebraskan' Business Staff

No longer "Cub," Alan Clem has been named editor of The Daily Nebraskan. Clem was appointed by the Publications board Saturday to head the new staff. The board named Keith O'Bannon as business manager.

Fritz Simpson was reappointed to the position of managing editor. Susan Reed will fill the other managing editor vacancy.

Business assistants are Charles Burmeister, Jack Cohen and Ted Randolph.

Five news editors were also chosen by the board. They are: Gene Berg, Norma Chubbuck, Jerry Ewing, Bruce Kennedy and Juanita Rediger.

Clem O'Bannon

Other appointments include: Jerry Warren, sports editor; Arlen Beam, Ag editor; and Ruth Ann Sandstedt, features editor.

Clem has served on The Daily Nebraskan staff one year as the sports reporter, one year as news editor and one year as managing editor. He is president of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary, and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

O'Bannon worked in the business office for one year and has served as assistant business manager for the past two semesters. He worked last year on the Cornshucks editorial staff and was recently appointed business manager of the summer "Rag." He is a member of Delta Upsilon.

MANAGING EDITOR of the "Rag" for the past semester Simpson also served one semester as news editor, one semester as sports editor and a year as reporter. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Interfraternity Council, Student Council and AUF advisory board. He is the new secretary of Innocents and a member of Phi Kappa Psi.

Miss Reed has been a news editor for two semesters. She is publicity chairman of both Tassels and NUCWA. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Arts Awards Presented at Annual Dinner

Outstanding students in the departments of music, art and speech were honored at the annual Fine Arts banquet Thursday evening.

School of Music awards were as follows: Phi Mu Alpha Sifonia scholarship, 1949, Wallace Smith; Delta Omicron scholarship, 1949-50, Jeanne Wood; Sigma Alpha Iota scholarships to Helen Murray and Kathleen Forbes.

Memberships in Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity went to Gretchen Hemminger, Muriel James, Shirley Laflin, Rosalie Mitchell Paul, Dorothy Taylor, Ila Faye Ullstrom, Mary Alice Spider, Jean L. Stult, Lawrence E. Tagg.

New members of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary educational fraternity are Darwin Fredrickson, Jack Snider, Ralph Hoyt, Gordon Flood.

Prizes and honor awards from the department of speech and dramatic art included: Long freshman debate award, Natalie Samuelson; Discussion and debate, Eloise Paustian; Radio production Shirley Sabin Quisenberry; Theatre production, Gaylord Marr; Speech education, Dewey Ganzel, and Speech and hearing therapy, Cora Ann Didriksen.

Art Department awards include a scholarship for one year to the Arts Students League in New York City and Delta Phi Delta graduate scholarships to Roger and Wynona Crossgrove.

Students honored for high scholarship were: Freshmen, Cynthia Beckman, Chole Ann Calder, Lois Friedrichs, Shirley Kresbach, Dorothy Kutler, Donna Sallander, Sophomores, Joan Raysor and Sidney Tingle, Juniors, Nancy Glynn and Shirley Seright. Seniors were Donald Ellis, David Carlson, James Carmel, Roger Crossgrove, John Kirsch, Rolland Mills, Dana Rasmussen, and Anna Semenec.

Rag Names Harris, Johnston Top Seniors

Jerry Johnston and Phyllis Harris, both seniors who will graduate in June, have been named by The Daily Nebraskan staff as "Man of the Year" and "Woman of the Year" respectively. When these students graduate, they will have completed two of the most outstanding college careers of all '49 graduating seniors.

Editor of the Daily's bitterest rival publication, The Cornhusker, Man of the Year Johnston may look askance at his new title, but it will do him no good. By virtue of the voting of some fifteen members of The Daily Nebraskan staff, the shoe is on Johnston's foot. And he'll wear it whether he likes it or not.

BASKING IN GLORY is no pastime of Jerry Johnston. He is too busy getting out a yearbook which is predicted by the greater majority of campus journalists to take an All-American rating hands down. Typical of Johnston's humor and self-ribbing attitude he takes toward himself is a comment he offered at the annual banquet for the Cornhusker staff. In making an after-dinner speech, newly appointed editor John Connelly praised the work of the past editor and declared that "this year's Cornhusker will undoubtedly be the best one in twenty years." Without batting an eye, Johnston, in a suave and just possibly sarcastic voice, made the succinct quip, "John, you're SO right."

JERRY JOHNSTON

TO ATTEMPT to put into words the excellence of the forthcoming yearbook would do Johnston's outstanding work little justice. During this three years of working on The Cornhusker prior to his appointment as editor, Johnston made many observations and conclusions as to what would make a good yearbook. The profitable results of those years will be evident to the subscribers.

GOOD COLOR SCHEMES, in-

PHYLLIS HARRIS

teresting layouts, an invaluable

pictorial coverage of University history and a complete photographic record of the life at the U during the past year are only a few of the outstanding features to be found in the book.

Making the trek to the Union basement six days a week has not been the only activity of the art major and crew cut editor, Johnston served as class president his junior year and wielded the trowel in the usual Ivy day ceremonies with ease and agility.

JOHNSTON HAS SERVED his fraternity, Phi Gamma Delta, as well as he has the publication he heads. When the Fijis walked off with honors in two successive Kosmet Klub fall reviews, Man of the Year Johnston was in no small way responsible for the honors won. When the Fijis took first place in the Homecoming decorations, fall of '47, the John-

See "Year Awards" page 7