Czech Pastor Gives Opening Convo Address Wednesday

The Christian church, teaching the justice of God, must lead the way in the reorientation of European young people, Jan Mirejovsky, youth department secretary for the World Council of Churches, said Wednesday.

Entertains 24 New Pledges

Active members of Kosmet Klub entertained new workers of the men's dramatic society at an informal smoker Tuesday evening at the Union.

President Bob Sim officially welcomed the new Kosmet Klub workers and told-them a few of this year's future plans. Introductions were made of the officers and actives to the new workers.

Max Whittaker, University Theater director, and Clare Denton, Nebraska Masquers president, told the club that this year's theater productions were "outstanding" in their particular field and urged all Kosmet Klub salesmen to impress their value on the buying public.

Merle Stalder, Kosmet Klub active, emphasized the importance and traditions of Kosmet Klub in the past and future.

"Kosmet Klub is not a group of salesmen, but men actively interested in good dramatic produc-tions for the University," stated

New workers for Kosmet Klub in 1949-50 are:

George Wilcox and Bob Reichenbach, Kappa Sigma; Jim Thomas and Jim Downey, Sigma Chi; Dick Worral and Chuck Burmeister, Delta Upsilon; Clayton Yeut-ter, Farm House; Harry Kimbriel and Al Blessing, Alpha Tau Omega; and Dick Billig and Kent Ax-tell, Phi Kappa Psi.

at the semester's first all-University convocation. The youth of Europe, he pointed out, must not be blamed for their loss of faith. They are the victims of a crisis for wheh they were in no way responsible.

Previous Belief

Before the war, Mirejovsky explained, Europeans were educated to believe that man is basically a decent being who goes through stages of development to a successful and happy life. The present generation, he said, does not accept these convictions. Its young people see that science, which can make life so much easier, can also create tremendous complications in modern society.

They have seen the terrible changes that power can make in men; they have been even more conscious of the changes that hunger can bring.

"Young Europeans have been faced with so many different conceptions of truth and justice that they have lost their confidence in these and other moral and spirit notions," the minister declared.

Masses Lose Faith

For the great masses of work-ing people and the intelligentsia life has very little meaning. With them the church has lost ground, because it took its message too long for granted. "Now," Mirejo

"Now," Mirejovsky said, "the church is on its way to repentence. It is reaching out to bring hope to the hopeless-to the man in the slums and in the factories -to the young fellow who doesn't believe in anything and smiles at what he is told. "Youth work is growing," he said, "not rapidly, but it is bring-ing results. The uneasiness is still there, but the effort being made by the churches is bringing greater certainty that life is worthwhile." Requires Courage

Religion is not so often taken for granted as previously, he told the group. It is now something which requires courage and the strength to defend personal convictions against non-believers. The solidity of American churches and their gifts of money and supplies have done much to brighten the situation of Euro-pean youth, Mirejovsky said.

He explained that the popular-ity of Communism at the present time is due chiefly to the fail-ure of democracy to have a positive program to offer nations. The churches' position, the minister believes, must be not as an instrument of any political group; its duty is to state the message of Christ.

Mirejovsky is touring country to consult with students and leaders on the activities and program of American church youth. His appearance on this campus was sponsored by the convocations committee and the Religious Welfare council.
