Final Registration Numbers 9100

You're competing with 9,100 other students!

This final registration figure was announced Thursday by Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, director of admissions. Dr. Rosenlof also estimated that incoming graduate students will swell the university population at 9,200.

As for the enrollment decrease, he stated that Nebraska has taken only an 8 percent drop while other large universities have had cuts of as much as 15 percent.

This is the result of a smaller veteran registration but the veterans' administration estimates that there is still an excess of 300 veterans on our campus—more than anticipated.

Foreign student population has increased to 150 this semester and the registrar's office expects even more to enroll during the coming year. The increase is 10 percent over last year.

Leading the other colleges in enrollment is Arts and Science, followed by Engineering, Teachers and Business Administration.

Yell King Calls Husker Boosters To Year's First Pre-Game Rally

Higher Costs Boost Price Of Yearbook

"Increased costs, coupled with the fact that the 1949 Cornhusker was barely able to meet expenses, have made it necessary to raise the purchase price of the 1950 Cornhusker to $6.00," Bud Gerhart, this year's business manager announced yesterday.

This decision was reached last spring after a thorough study of the entire situation.

No Outside Assistance

The Cornhusker receives no outside assistance and therefore expenses must be balanced with the income. A higher purchase price will balance the increased costs of printing and engraving. Besides this, there have been increases in many of the other services connected with the publication of a yearbook.

May Decrease Later

The faculty and the Cornhusker staff are investigating every possibility for lowering the cost, but the only hope is that, as money gets tighter, expenses may in turn decrease. If this does not materialize, it may be necessary to cut down the size of the book and the volume of sales.

Only $450 Profit

Gerhart declared, "At the present time the balance sheet shows a profit of $450, which any

A speech by Athletic Director George "Potsy" Clark will highlight the festivities at the Coliseum. Yell King Piccolo and the other 12 members of the yell squad will lead the songs and yells.

NU Directory Seeks Correct Information

The Student Directory needs campus cooperation.

To correct errors in last spring's registration, the Directory staff needs the help of upperclassmen.

According to the Registrar's office, some students failed to record, or recorded incorrectly, addresses and other information during pre-registration. To insure a correct edition of the Student Directory, Editor Audrey Flood asks that each student who has changed his address or college since spring return the blank on page 3 in this paper to Builders office, 308 Union. Blanks may be delivered in person or mailed.

The changes involve only students who do not live in organized houses. These houses will be contacted for corrected lists of their memberships. Only students who failed to give the following correct information during last spring's registration need return the blanks. The following is required: student's name, home town, Lincoln address, phone number, college and year.

Address information to Audrey Flood, Student Directory, University of Nebraska Builders, 308 Student Union.

Freshman and transfer registrations made this fall are presumed to be correct.

MISS ROSENBAUM

The information used by the Directory is secured from IBM lists made by the Registrar's office. These lists are made up from student registration cards. If the information on the registration card is wrong, the information in the Directory will also be incorrect.
