The Big Seven conference race is under way with Colorado leading, following their 13-12 sneak by Kansas last Saturday.

However, in all games played the Buffaloes are tied with Kansas State, Nebraska and Oklahoma. K-State rolled to an easy 55-0 win at the expense of Ft. Hayes, while Nebraska and Oklahoma also were winning. Nebraska and Oklahoma trounced their opponents, South Dakota and Boston College, in a fairly easy fashion.

In the statistics department Iowa State who held mighty Illinois to a 20-20 tie, is out in front with one victory and one tie. Their one victory was a lopsided affair with the Cyclones coming out on top of Dubuque U. 64-0.

Bill Weeks, Sensation

The Cyclones have amassed 632 yards on the ground and 406 yards in the air for a grand total of 1,038 yards. Two men are definitely responsible for this Iowa State surge of power. They are Bill Weeks, sophomore passing sensation, and Bill Chauncey, hard charging fullback. Weeks has completed 15 passes of 30 attempts for a net yardage of 352 while Chauncey boasts a net gain of 171 yards.

Other individual standouts are: Dolph Simons, Kansas; Darrell Royal, Oklahoma; Dana Atkins, Kansas State; Harry Narcisian, Colorado; Elmer Klein, Missouri; and Ray Magsamen, Nebraska.

Dolph Simons, Kansas guard, leads the list of punters with a 49.0 average.

Missouri boasts an all around player in Elmer Klein. Klein has a fancy 39.0 punt average while leading in total points and second in pass attempts. He has completed 10 out of 14 throws for 169 yards.

Darrel Royal although not a standout in any one division of statistics is mentioned in every one.

Atkins Leads Punt Returns

Dana Atkins, 153 pound quarterback of K-State, returns this year to the punt return column and at present is in first place.

Colorado speed merchant, Harry Narcisian is also an able passer, punt returner and signal caller for the Buffaloes. His fifty percent accuracy in passing should worry the best of coaches.

Ray Magsamen, Nebraska's contribution to the Big Seven's star pass receivers, is out to better his average this week in the Minnesota-Nebraska clash. Ray caught three passes in the South Dakota encounter.

Starting the 1949 football season Iowa State is well represented.

Ag Varsity Teams Enter Competition

The varsity dairy judging team left for Waterloo, Iowa, Wednesday to participate in the Dairy Cattle Congress judging contest.

Team members will visit several dairy herds in Iowa and Illinois before arriving at the contest. The team will judge all prominent dairy breeds for type as well as milk production.

The four members of the team who will make the trip are Charles Fairly, Bob Epp, Bill Steinkruger and Joe Havelka, as announced by Dr. Crowe.

The contest is to be held October 3 in conjunction with the congress.

A special Varsity Dairy club meeting was called Monday to appropriate funds for the trip. It was also announced at this meeting that applications for membership in the club can be obtained in Dr. Crowe's office, room 308, Dairy Industry building. All who are interested are invited to join.

Student Managers are needed for all sports. Walter Rechett, baseball manager has announced.

Anyone interested will be welcome at a meeting to be held in the N Club room, Thursday, Sept. 29, at 5 p.m.

sented with three men in the top nine leading scorers. Kansas State also boasts having three men in the top group. The supposed two contenders for the Big Seven crown, Oklahoma and Missouri, have only one man each while Nebraska rounds out the top nine with one representative.

IM Football Opened with Games at Ag

Success for some, not for others. That was the story as the 1949 intramural touch football league opened last Tuesday on the Ag Campus fields.

In League 3, the Pioneer House opened the season with a 7-0 verdict over Delta Chi. The Pioneer's pushed over a score late in the 4th quarter for the win. Also in League 3, Farmhouse overpowered the Cornhusker Co-ops by the score of 18-0.

In League 4, Sigma Alpha Mu beat Pi Kappa Phi by a close 6-0 decision. The Theta Xi men took the measure of Tau Kappa Epsilon by a 7-0 score.

High Score for Betas

Beta Theta Pi ran up the biggest score of the afternoon in their 37-0 whitewashing of the Zeta Beta Taus. This was a League 2 game. In the other League 2 game played, Kappa Sigma beat Sigma Nu, on a 35 yard pass play by Long of the Sigs. The game ended 6-0, this being the only score.

Following is the schedule for Thursday Sept. 29. All games begin promptly at 5:10.

Methodist House vs. Cotner House
Lilies V-5a vs. Student Union
Phi Kappa Phi vs. Delta Sigma Phi
Pioneer House vs. Brown Palace
Newman Club vs. Inter-Varsity
Beta Theta Pi vs. Sigma Nu

Good Year Seen By Pat Patterson

"This looks like a good year," said Wrestling Coach Pat Patterson. "The boys are really out to win."

"It seems the sophomores are going to be the boys to beat," the coach went on to explain. "The sophomores have to be watched because they seem to forget that this is only drill. They have to be cautioned not to injure each other."

"The team is only having three drills a week now and we're trying to toughen up slowly. We have a hard year ahead with Oklahoma and Iowa State coming back stronger than ever. Both teams have quite a few outstanding sophomores coming up," Coach Patterson went on.

The wrestling team is putting out a call for freshman. Any freshman that wants a chance to make the team is invited. No experience is needed and all are welcome.

NU, K-State Popularize Square Dancing Classes

Grandfather's recreation, square dancing, is right up to date on both the K-State and NU campuses. At K-State, square dancing is being sponsored by the YM and YW.

At NU a series of classes is now under way on the Ag campus. The classes, directed by Dave Sander, are designed to teach Ag Country Dancers both to dance and to call the dances. Music is being furnished by a three-piece square dance.

Intramural Golf Into Second Round

Tee-off time for the second round of the IM Fall golf tourney is 8:30 a.m. to 8:45 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 1.

71 men competed in last Sunday's round. Four independent men competed and the rest represented 14 fraternities.

Contrary to previous notice in The Daily Nebraskan, the low score was held by two men. Dick Spangler, Sigma Chi, had 37-39 rounds for a total of 76 instead of 77 as was printed before. Garth Lof, independent, also shot a 76.

Leading in the fraternity race is Phi Delta Theta with a 318 low four-man total. The Phi Deltas had 11 men in the tourney. The four low men were Bob Allen, 78; Chick Battey, 79; Bob Kinsey, 80; and Tom Shea, 81.

Seven strokes behind the leaders are the Sig Alphas with 325.

A meeting of all concession sellers will be held Thursday, Sept. 29 at 7:30 p.m., in the N Club room.

All sellers must attend, announced L. F. Klein, director of concessions.

Alpha Tau Omega, last year's champions, have 334; Phi Psis, 340; and Sigma Chi, 341, for third, fourth and fifth places.

Joe Gifford led the Sig Alphas with a 78 while ATO Doug Dale tied Bob Allen for second low honors with a 77.

Deadline for entries in the golf team doubles tourney is Tuesday.
