Good Luck, Glasfsford's Gang

BY JERRY WARREN.

Who cares if the Yankees are playing the Dodgers in New York Saturday? The big athletic contest of the day will be played in Manhattan, Kansas where the Nebraska Cornhuskers meet Kansas State in their first conference game of the season.

It will also be the first Big Seven test for Coach Bill Glasfsford, starting his first term as Husker head mentor. All fans who can possibly make it should attend the game and give Bill and his faithfuls all the support they deserve. The team will leave from the Coliseum at 9 a. m., Friday, and I think everyone needs to be there to see them off.

This is the first time in many years that the Huskers cannot look upon the Wildcat game as a breather. K-State shares the league lead with Iowa State, another perennial conference door-mat, after winning their first Big Seven game in five years last week.

Kansas State will be led by "Hi" Faubion, sensational sophomore halfback, who scored three touchdowns and passed for another against Colorado Saturday. Don't forget Nebraska has been said to be more powerful than in the past five years so a good game is promised.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS—Four officers were chosen at the first meeting of the 1949-50 Student Council Wednesday. They were elected to serve with Roz Howard and Louise McDill, who were elected last spring. In the picture (left to right) are Rob Raun, treasurer; Norma Chubbuck, secretary; Shirley Allen, corresponding secretary; and Don Stern, judiciary chairman. The new Council is composed of 19 representatives from campus organizations. Its job will be to carry on the work of the regular Student Council, as well as study the problems of elections and representation. The Council is meeting an hour earlier this year, at 4 p. m., in order to handle the two jobs. Old Council business will be handled in the first hour, and problems related to the revision of the constitution will be discussed the second hour.

Ag Students to Sport Jeans, Calico at Farmers Formal

... Dancing Begins at 8:30

Informality will be the keynote tonight at the Farmers Formal.

Everyone is breaking out blue jeans and calico's and laundering bright colored shirts and blouses to go dance among the hay bales and cornshucks.

A brightly decorated false ceiling and the barnyard fences will also lend atmosphere. Lee Williams and his informal gang will tune at exactly 8:30 p. m. The dancing will continue till midnight except for a short intermission when the second queen of the year will be presented.

Queen to be Presented.

At 10:30 p. m. some lucky senior home economics girl will steal out from behind a haystack to be presented the crown of the 1949 Farmers Formal Queen.

The crowning will be conducted by Bob Scheve, master of ceremonies. Plans for the crowning are secret, but something new and novel is promised.

The Ag-Exec Board, sponsors of this yearly dance, emphasize that you don't have to be an aggie to get in on all this gay festivity. Tickets will be on sale all day in the Ag Student Union; and at the door. They are $2.00 per couple.

Evening of Entertainment.

For an evening of informal dancing attend the Farmers Formal at the Ag College Activities building tonight. When you come sliding into the dance you will be thrilled at the sight of all those soft piles of hay to land on. If you like swings and slides you will enjoy the Farmers Formal.

Committee Plans Sunday Activity

Members of the Union Activities committees have been busy this week planning a full program of entertainment for students on Sunday afternoon and evening.

The first event of the afternoon will be a Coffee Hour in the Union lounge under the direction of a special committee headed by Gene Wiedmaier and assistants Jo LaShelle and Eleanor Bancroft.

Organ music will be provided during the hour while coffee and cookies are being served.

"Sitting Pretty," a comedy featuring Clifton Webb, will be shown in the Union ballroom on Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. as a climax to the day's activities. It is the second in a series that will be shown free of charge to University students.

'Producer' Race To End Saturday

All campus organizations competing in the Honorary Producer contest are again reminded that no sales entered later than noon Saturday will be counted in the competition.

A suggestion that they get their sales in by Friday to avoid last minute confusion came from Mrs. Margaret Denton, Theatre business manager. Reservations for the season tickets will also be closed on Saturday.

The schedule of plays for the season includes Goethe's "Faust"; Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie"; Sheridan's "School for Scandal"; Martin Vale's "The Two Mrs. Carrrolls"; and Kaufman and Hart's "Once in a Lifetime." The first production, "Faust," will be given October 31, and Nov. 1 and 2.

Red Cross Unit Sponsors Fire Prevention Campaign

Every 36 seconds a fire breaks out in the United States.

One of these fires could be on the University campus according to Don Cooper, Fire Prevention Week co-chairman.

Cooper and Frank Jacobs will head a drive on the campus Oct. 9-15 in line with National Fire Prevention week. Both are members of the Red Cross College Unit board which is sponsoring the drive.

Part of the work of the drive will be to make the campus conscious of fire hazards. This will be done through posters and lectures.

A second phase of the drive involves location of hazards. The Red Cross will survey the entire campus to determine where fires are likely to occur. Reports of the committee's findings will be submitted to the state fire marshal.

The fire prevention group will aid houses in detecting and removing possible fire traps.

Fire damage in the United States alone amounts to $700,000,000 according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The national figure dropped somewhat last year under the 1948 level. This drop was the first since 1940, and in part can be attributed to national fire safety campaigns, the board believes.

According to the board's reports, careless handling of cigarets and matches is the leading cause of fires. Approximately a third of all fires are traced to this hazard.

An ounce of prevention, the board emphasizes, is worth a pound of cure, but just in case they offer some helpful tips on how to keep from being one of America's 11,000 yearly fire victims: (1) learn how to turn in a fire alarm. Getting firemen to your home quickly might save your life. (2) figure out two different ways to get to the ground from your bedroom.

Dodgers 1, Yanks 0 . . .

Preacher Roe turned the tables on the New York Yankees in the second game of the World Series as he pitched his Dodgers to a 1-0 victory, evening the count at one win apiece. The tricky southpaw allowed only six hits and walked none.

Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson scored the only run of the game when he scored from third on Gil Hodges' single in the second inning.

The line score:

Brooklyn	010	000	000—1 7 2
New York	000	000	000—0 6 1

Batteries: Brooklyn—Roe and Campenella; New York—Raschi. Page (9) and Silvera.

Bull sessions will be held Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in the Temple lounge. Coffee will be served.

Thursday night a student will go on trial for "sanity." Dr. Blain will act on the panel of judges. The audience, as jury, will make the final decision on the defendant's guilt.

Religion in Life Week is sponsored by the Religious Welfare Council. The week's activities are under the direction of Alice Jo Smith.

"Are you spiritually sane?" That's the question students will be asking during Religion in Life Week, Oct. 9 through Oct. 16.

The answer will be found in a series of convocations and informal get-togethers beginning with a dinner Sunday at 5:45 p. m. The dinner will be held in the Union and will feature Dr. Arnold Nash, professor of religion at the University of North Carolina.

Two Appearances

Nash is the author of a number of works on religion including "Education for Christian Marriage." He will appear twice during religion in Life Week.

Following Dr. Nash a movie, "Miracle on 34th Street," will be shown. Tickets for the evening may be purchased for 85 cents.

The week's activities will be highlighted by four convocations. The first, on Oct. 10 at 11 a. m., will feature Dr. Daniel Blain, medical director of the American Psychiatric association. Dr. Blain appeared on the campus last spring as a part of the University's regular convocation program.

Other convocations will be held Oct. 12 at 10 and Oct. 13 at 11.

'Pigskin Party' Scheduled for Stay-at-Homes

Do you have that strong desire to attend the Kansas State game at Manhattan?

Yet are you prohibited from doing so, because you have 1) no car, 2) no money, and 3) no time?

If the above applies to you, then the Special Activities committee of the Student Union has a suggestion for you—come to the Pigskin Party, in the lounge of the Student Union, Saturday afternoon at gametime.

Game Will be Broadcast

It is then that the radios of the lounge will be tuned in to Manhattan, and all Huskers will gather around. Bob Russell, chairman of the committee, expressed the hope that enough students would turn out to create a resemblance of the Nebraska cheering section. According to Russell, "The more the merrier."

Chalk diagrams will accompany the play-by-play accounts given by the radio announcer. In order that fans may have some way of expurgating their spirit, free apples will be doled out—also providing less competition for the radio announcer. In addition, popcorn will be sold.

Completing the afternoon in the Union, the pigskinners will traipse upstairs to the ballroom where a dance will be held.
