First Issue of Builders Paper Out This Week

Over two thousand copies of Scarlet and Cream, a monthly newspaper published by Builders, will go into the mails this week for Nebraska prep students.

The October edition, the first of seven for the year, will include articles on the new Mueller Carillon tower, the high school press convention, University sports and other news of interest to high school students.

Staff for the newspaper includes Dick Kuska, editor; Bruce Kennedy and Poochie Rediger, managing editors; Kent Axtell, sports editor; Dick Billig, feature editor; Susan Pryor and Kiki Bock, circulation managers; and Jerry Warren, Jerry Ewing, Susan Reed, Arlen Beam and Fritz Simpson, all reporters.

Future issues of Scarlet and Cream will include high school news reported by the prep students themselves. The second edition will be mailed in November.

Final Exams Out?

At San Diego State College, investigations showed that final exam grades determined one third of the semester grade and covered the entire course.

One third of the faculty agreed that two-to-four extra sessions a week would be a desirable substitute for finals.

Wildlife Films To Promote Conservation

"Trails for the Millions" is the title of the first in a series of color motion picture-lectures depicting all types of wildlife and wilderness.

The movie, which will be given Oct. 25, at the Love Library auditorium, is the story of the amazing variety of wildlife living in New York City. Explaining the movie as it is in progress, will be Allan Cruickshank, a nationally known photographer.

Sponsored by the University Extension, the State Museum and the National Audubon Society, the films are offered in the interest of wildlife protection and conservation.

According to James Taylor, of the Extension Division, these Programs, known as Audubon Screen Tours, are being presented in 100 American cities this year, including Lincoln.

Taylor stated, "The Tours bring the finest natural history lecturers, who personally present the best in all-color outdoor motion pictures on a variety of wildlife subjects."

Areas shown in the photographic records include Arizona, Mexico and Michigan.

Season tickets may be purchased from either the Extension Division or the State Museum for $2.40.

Ag Meat Judging Team Announced

Team members comprising the meat judging team which will represent the University at the American Royal Intercollegiate Meat Judging contest were announced recently by Prof. Charles H. Adams, team coach.

The men who will participate in the contest at Kansas City on Tuesday, Oct. 18 are Neal Baxter, Grant A. Cornelius, Merwyn G. French, and Loren C. Schmidt.

All of the men are seniors in the College of Agriculture. The team is made up of three members and one alternate.

The American Royal Intercollegiate Meat Judging contest is held each year in conjunction with the American Royal Livestock show.

Rutgers Course

A new four year course is being added to the curriculum at Rutgers University this semester in engineering administration.

The course will include two years of technical training and then the student will be required to study in the various business fields in addition to engineering courses.

This is for the benefit of the many engineers who would enter management without previous business experience.

The soccer baseball schedule for Tuesday is:

Kappa Delta versus Alpha Phi and International House versus Pi Beta Phi.
