Employment Service Offered to Seniors

Dean Thompson To Give Details At 3 Meetings

Seniors who are interested in the University employment placement service will have a chance to hear details on the service at one of three meetings to be held Oct. 24, 25 and 27.

For students who plan to graduate in February or June, the meetings will explain the University's Committee on Occupational Placement. Meetings are scheduled for 5 p. m. Monday, Oct. 24 and 7 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 25 in Social Sciences auditorium; and Oct. 27 at 7 p. m. in Room 301 Dairy Industry hall, on Ag campus.

Executive Secretary.

Headed by Dr. T. J. Thompson, Dean of Student Affairs, as executive secretary, the committee office is in Room 104 Administration hall.

The committee works this way: Each year many companies desire to interview students and write the University asking to make the necessary arrangements. The committee has a private interview room where the conference between the company's representative and the students are held.

To make sure that all interested students are contacted, the committee contacts the university instructional departments involved. By acting as a go-between, all students get a chance to apply for jobs and the companies have the opportunity to interview all eligible students.

Departmental Interview.

When only one department is involved, the committee arranges for the interview to be held in the department.

There is one exception to the committee's work. If the student is in the Teachers college, the Department of Educational Services, located on third floor of Teachers college will interview them.

Successful Placement.

The system has worked well. Dr. Thompson said, and in the past few years the University's record of placing its graduates with reputable firms has been high.

"Economic conditions are slowing down somewhat," Dr. Thompson said, "which means that the 1950 graduates may find it tougher to get the line of employment he wants. If the students will let us know what type of work they want it will go a long way toward making our program more effective."

Union to Feature Gershwin Albums

University music lovers are invited to hear an Album Hour of Gershwin records in the Union music room Thursday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock.

Sponsored by the Union Music committee, it is the first program of this kind to be offered to students. Records from George Gershwin albums will be played during the entire hour and free coffee will be served.

Marcia Pratt, sponsor of the committee, says that more Album Hours will be held in the future, and that the committee is "open for suggestions as to albums that are most popular to students." Different composers and musicians will be featured at each Album Hour.

The music room, 209 Union, is open from 12:00 noon to 2:00 p. m., 4:00 to 5:00 p. m., each week day except Monday. Students may use the room and listen to the collection of records at any of these times.

Rod Riggs is chairman of the committee. Other members are Kathy Schneider, Marlyn Vorhees, Sally Sippke and Aaron Schmidt.

Carillon Tower Dedication Set For Nov. 4

The University's new Mueller Carillon Tower will be dedicated at ceremonies to be held on the campus Friday evening, Nov. 4. Prof. Linus Burr Smith has announced.

The $90,000 limestone tower is a gift to the University from Ralph S. Mueller, Cleveland, Ohio industrialist who graduated from Nebraska in 1898.

The dedication ceremony will be a highlight of the University's traditional Homecoming week end program, according to Prof. Smith, head of the architecture department and head of a campus dedication committee.

A brief speaking program will include talks by Prof. Smith, Howard S. Wilson, Lincoln, president of the University Foundation, Mueller and Chancellor R. G. Gustavson. A half hour recital of carillon music will conclude the program.

Special guests at the dedicatory program will include members of Mueller's family, members of Mueller's graduating class, trustees of the University Foundation, and members of the Board of Regents and other university officials.

UN Week Continues With Dinner, Exhibit

UN week is underway, but several programs still remain on the calendar of activities.

The Cosmopolitan club exhibit will be on display all day Wednesday on the main floor in Morrill hall. The exhibit includes articles from various foreign countries which will be explained by overseas students.

Wednesday night, Bharat Dixit, Nebraska foreign student from India, will give a talk at the Phi Gamma Delta house. His topic will be "Religion and Education in India."

Wesleyan Convocation.

Another convocation with foreign students as speakers is scheduled Thursday at 10 a. m., at Wesleyan. Eight hundred students will hear Walter Willi, Switzerland; Edward Saad, Jerusalem Arabian zone; and Vladimir Lavko, Czechoslovakia. Classes will be dismissed at Wesleyan for the convocation.

Communism Will Win Out In Atomic War--Gustavson

Names Bomb 'Moral Problem'; Hopes in UN

"There is only one possible winner in an atomic war—communism," Chancellor R. G. Gustavson told a joint meeting of NUCWA and the Cosmopolitan club Tuesday evening in the Love Library auditorium. "The effects of the bomb would be mass destruction, disease and disheartenment—the things that breed communism," the Chancellor explained.

Gustavson said that the only solution to the problem of the atomic bomb can come by attacking it as a moral problem, a problem of international morality. "The UN is our only hope. It has kept a fire that could become a great conflagration at a smoldering stage," the Chancellor declared.

"Tragedy."

The tragedy of the problem, Gustavson said, is that the nations are not getting together. They are not talking of the peacetime uses of atomic energy. We talk of producing more atomic bombs and Russia talks of producing more bombs. "Arms have never brought peace," Gustavson stated.

"We don't trust Russia, and Russia doesn't trust us," was the reason the Chancellor gave for the failure of these two countries to co-operate in the UN on atomic control. The US has a military point of view in wanting international control of atomic energy, while the Russian plan is from the standpoint of peacetime uses, Gustavson declared.

The reason the Chancellor gave for our objections to the Russian plan was that a peacetime power plant is a potential atomic bomb plant. "If you are ready to have one, you are equipped to do the other," he said.

"No Atomic Secrets"

"Talking of secrets in connection with the atomic bomb doesn't make sense, despite the talk in Congress," the Chancellor sated. Speaking of Joliot, a French communist who made some of the initial discoveries in the field of nuclear physics, he said, "It's just too bad communists have the same brains as anybody else." "If conservatives ask a question of nature in the right way, he gets the same answer as anyone else," the Chancellor said of Fermi, an Italian Conservative who also made basic discoveries in this field. "Nature doesn't ask what party a scientist belongs to, she just gives the answer to the question."

"No Protection"

"The only protection from the atomic bomb is not to be there when it goes off," Gustavson stated. As to whether we could keep the bomb-carrying planes away, Gustavson asked, "Did Germany or England keep the bombers away?"

"War is the killing business, and when you're in the killing business it is better to play it to the maximum and kill efficiently," the Chancellor said in reply to the question of whether the United States would use the atomic bomb in a war. His solution was to find another way to settle world problems.

Gustavson believes that it is necessary to educate the people on the basic facts on the atomic bomb, especially people who are in the position to have something to say about atomic energy. He cited the example of the Congressman who asked, "Do you think the Russians will get the atom?"

Traffic Problems

The U of N isn't the only place where parking is a problem. 2,500 to 3,000 cars at the Universities of Arizona and New Mexico are causing traffic jams at those schools.

Feeling Doggy? NU Theatre Calls

Are you growling over six weeks exams? Why not put this talent to a good use? Tryouts for the part of a dog in "Faust" are being held today.

It is not necessary for applicants to look the part, since only the sound effects—a bark and growl—will be used. Tryouts will be held between 3 and 6 p. m., in the Temple theater.

Experimental Theater Play Dates Disclosed

Production dates for the Experimental Theater play, "Home of the Brave," by Arthur Laurents, will be Nov. 18 and 19, announced Director Abe Katz.

"Home of the Brave" in three acts, won the Critics Circle Award in New York in 1946. This is a war play with a World War II theme. The play itself retains the Jewish protagonist. It was successfully made into a movie this year, but the basic theme was changed from Jewish to Negro problems.

War Situation.

The play is a partial analysis of six men within a war situation. Central figure in the drama is Private Peter Coen who is Jewish. Private Coen's adjustment to the Army both as a soldier and a Jew constitutes the crux of the drama. "Home of the Brave" is not a play with a social message, but a story of six men affected by war.

Cast Named.

The cast includes Bill Line, the Doctor; Joe Moore, Sgt. Mingo; Dick French, Pvt. Finch; Milt Hoffman, Cpl. T. J. Everitt; Denny Vernon, Maj. Robinson; Abe Katz, Pvt. Coen—"Coenee."

Rival Coaches To Join "Navy" At Grid Festival

Rival coaches this week end, Bill Glassford of Nebraska and Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, will be commissioned "admirals" in Nebraska's navy, Friday night at the third annual Fall Football Festival.

A full-fledged rally, complete with the marching band will begin the festival. The rally will proceed from somewhere on the campus to the corner of 12th and O streets. The corner will be roped off for a street dance which will follow the presentation of the "admirals" by Chief Justice R. G. Simmons.

The American Federation of Musicians at Lincoln, have furnished a 12 piece band to play for the dance.

Chairman of the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce, Bill Gold, estimates an approximate crowd of 10,000 will be present if weather permits.

The festival is sponsored by the JC's in co-operation with the Corn Cobs and Tassels. Katy Rapp, president of the Tassels, Rod Lindwall president of the Corn Cobs, and Wendy Gauger, chairman of the Corn Cob committee have also been working on the festival.

Officers for the 1949-50 year are: President, Benjamin Boyce; vice president, Harold Manter; secretary, Clifford M. Hicks; treasurer, Laurie Robertson, and historian, Lenore Laymon.

Gals Still Tops

Kansas State "bus" boys have given their opinion about gals at Greek houses. Despite all the hardships they endure—the lipstick that is so hard to clean off silver and early morning dullness—gals are still tops.
