

GAME CAPTAIN for the Cornhuskers against Oklahoma's Sooners Saturday in Memorial Stadium will be Center Tom Novak, 207 pound bulwark of the Nebraska line. Novak, playing his last year for the Huskers, is a strong candidate for All-Conference honors for the fourth straight year.

GAMES THIS WEEK

Conference
Oklahoma at Nebraska,
Missouri at Iowa State.

Non-Conference
Kansas at Oklahoma A. & M.,
Kansas State at Memphis State,
Colorado at Utah State.

The Oklahoma-Nebraska game at Memorial Stadium will share the Big Seven's interest this week with the Missouri-Iowa State game at Ames.

Incidentally, neither home team will be considered the favorite—in fact, they will both be decided underdogs. Iowa State is given an outside chance to dump the Tigers, but possible as it is, it isn't very probable.

OU Bowl-Bound

Oklahoma, who is almost certain to retain the conference crown along with an invite to the Sugar Bowl, is expected to breeze through the Huskers in the same manner that they did last year when the Sooners walloped the Huskers 41-14 at Norman.

Kansas drew the task supreme this week, drawing powerful Oklahoma A. & M., while Kansas State will have the meager chore of dusting off the "Southern Gentlemen" from Memphis State.

Wildcats to Rebound

The Wildcats had been riding on their longest win streak since 1942, but Nebraska turned the victory tide and sent the Wildcats on a two game losing streak. It should be broken this week.

The other Big Seven team, Colorado, travels to Utah State. Last year the Buffs pulled a mild upset and dumped Utah State 28-14. Saturday will again find the Buffs not in the favorite's role, but there is little possibility for another upset.

Offense Sparkles In Varsity Drills

Bright spot of the Cornhusker scrimmage with the freshmen Tuesday night was the varsity's offense.

Contrary to last Saturday's game with Penn State, the Huskers were able to get that spark that sets their offense on fire.

Bill Mueller was the bright spot of the scrimmage, breaking loose for a couple of spectacular runs. One of them would have been called back had it been in a regular game because the varsity was guilty of illegal use of their hands.

Passer Fran Nagle was suited up in complete pads, but Glassford did not use him in scrimmage. Nagle is still nursing a bruised hand. Gerry Ferguson was out, but he was not in pads. He injured his knee and was not able to work out.

Reynolds Works T

The freshmen, using Oklahoma's split-T formation offense, had the Varsity reeling. Bobby Reynolds worked the T for the freshmen. Reynolds proved to be very adept in the formation as he out-foxed the Varsity time and time again.

Glassford was very much concerned about the way the Frosh went through his boys. The Cornhusker head coach tried several different defensive formations, but was not able to find one that could definitely stop the Frosh.

In the offensive department, Harry Meginnis shared honors with Mueller in breaking away from scrimmage. Meginnis, fleet-footed trackman, consistently broke loose for long gains.

Fergie Leads Rushers

Ferguson, who has been moved to fullback, has the leading rushing average, 8.1 yards per try. Mueller has proved to be the workhorse for the Glassford gang, grinding out 248 yards in 57 trips with the ball.

Ron Clark, Ravenna's contribution to the "Cornhusker football team, leads the Huskers in three departments and is tied with Don Bloom for scoring honors with 12 points.

Clark has a 34.4 yards punt average and has returned six punts for 161 yards. His four kickoff returns have netted 142 yards—one was 100 yards for a touchdown.

Bob Schneider and Ray Magsamen lead in pass receiving, both having caught five. Schneider has gained 108 yards via the air and one of his completed passes was marked for six points.

Novak Captain

Center Tom Novak, who has been tabbed game captain for Saturday, leads in pass interceptions, having gathered in three opponent aeriels. Novak was named game captain because the team always plays better behind him. Novak, incidently, captained the Huskers against the Gophers—one of Nebraska's better games.

Even though Ferguson was not in pads Tuesday, he should be ready to go at full speed against the Sooners.

Frank Silva, the Sooners' ace sophomore quarterback, may miss the game Saturday. Silva suffered a fractured jaw in the Boston College game and later on injured his ankle. He did not play against Kansas University.

Presby House, Newman Club Gain IM Wins

Presbyterian House and Newman Club climbed into a first-place tie in the Denominational League Monday night by virtue of their victories. Presby House took a hard-fought 12-0 verdict over Inter-Varsity while Newman Club handled the Methodists, 26-12.

Pioneer Co-op handed Delta Chi their fourth loss of the year, winning 6-0. The win assured Pioneer with no worse than third place in League III.

Theta Xi continued along their unbeaten way blasting the Tekes, 18-0. The win kept the Theta Xi boys at the top of League IV. Also in League IV, Sigma Alpha Mu kept right behind the leaders with a 6-0 victory over Pi Kappa Phi.

Farm House had to do no work in keeping their record clean, getting a forfeit win from Cornhus-
