Council Clamps Lid on Ball Prices

$1500 Limit Fixed On Band Contract ... To Cut Ticket Costs

The Student Council lowered the boom on exorbitant dance ticket prices last night.

With the acceptance of a proposal by the "Big Name Band" committee to limit the amounts which organizations may pay for bands, the Council took a definite step towards slashing the ticket prices for major campus dances.

The committee, headed by Gene Berg, presented a four-part recommendation which was unanimously accepted by the Council.

Berg's report suggested that the council (1) place a $1500 limit on the amount organizations may pay for a band; (2) hire R. H. Pauley, manager of the Turnpike ballroom, as a semi-official agent to schedule bands for university functions; (3) establish a regular dance subcommittee in the Council; (4) recommend re-vamping of the Coliseum with a false ceiling, colored lights and a P. A. system.

Limit On Major Dances.
The $1,500 limit will apply to all major campus dances with over a $500 budget. No group will be permitted to employ a band for more than this figure. The University will be asked to send an official statement to booking agencies informing them of this limit, according to the report.

Pauley will be available for any student group wishing his services. He will supervise the dances at which he books bands. "Mr. Pauley has been able to schedule bands for as much as 50 percent less than student organizations," Berg said. "Through the contacts which he makes in his own business, Pauley will make a vast amount of experience and know-how available to the campus."

As agent for the organizations, Pauley will receive a 10 percent commission, based on the figure paid each band.

Wants 'Good Will.'
When asked why the Turnpike manager wants to take on these extra duties, Berg explained that Pauley is desirous of student good will. He added that this will prevent conflict between big name bands at the Pike the same night bands are scheduled at the University.

To supervise the project, the Council will set up a dance subcommittee under the student activities committee, also headed by Berg. This sub-group will approve all plans and budgets for major student dances.

The committee will supervise dates of dances, costs and ticket prices. Each dance must be approved four months ahead of its scheduled dates.

The Coliseum project is already underway, administration officials assured the council committee.

"The purpose of the entire project is to give students good entertainment at a reasonable rate," Berg concluded.

The Council also set-up a working system for the year when President Ros Howard appointed seven committees:

- Finance—Rob Raun.
- Publicity—Bruce Kennedy.
- Student-Faculty—Louise McDill and Ros Howard.
- Judiciary—Fred Chael (chairman), Phyllis Cadwallader, Ray Simmons, Don Stern, Rod Lindwall and Dr. Curtiss Elliot.
- Elections—Louise McDill (chairman), Bob Parker, Harry Kenyon, Betty Green and Ray Simmons.
- Student Activities—Gene Berg (chairman), Ben Wall, Alice J. Smith, Janice Cochrane and Janet Carr.
- Campus Improvements—Phyllis

Ag Union to Show Football Movies

Nebraska football movies will be shown every Thursday noon in the Ag Union lounge, according to John Killeen, Union director.

The movie, "Scudda Hoo-Scudda Hay," will be shown Sunday, Oct. 23 in the lounge. A coffee hour will follow.

Also on the schedule for Ag Union activities are the Wednesday afternoon hour dances from 5 to 6 p.m. in Ag Activities auditorium.

Convo Speaker Will Discuss Children's Art

"The Importance of Creative Art for Children" will be the subject discussed by Miss Nora McCullough, secretary of the Saskatchewan Arts board, at the convocation in Love Library auditorium Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 2 p. m.

Miss McCullough, who was associated with Dr. Arthur Lismer, artist and educationalist, studied at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto. While with Dr. Lismer, she worked at the Art Gallery of Toronto.

After this she went to South Africa, where she organized children's art classes in Pretoria. Miss McCullough then did the same type of work for the Cape Province Education department.

In 1946 she returned to Canada and did extension work for the National gallery. She then took up her present duties in western Canada.

Howard Names Final Deadline On Pub Filings

Filings for publications board will close Friday, according to Council President Ros Howard.

All applications for positions on the board must be left in the Student Council box in the basement of the Union before that date.

Applications must include name, college and year of candidate. Applicants are also requested to state experience with publications work and qualities which fit them for board positions, Howard said.

Selection of pub board members will be made by the Council at their next meeting, Oct. 26. The Council will choose one sophomore, one junior and one senior to serve on the board. Candidates may not be staff members of publications.

NU Foreign Students Speak at Wesleyan

Vladimir Lavko, Edward Saad and Walter Willi, University students, launched the World Student Service Fund drive at Nebraska Wesleyan Thursday by speaking at a convocation at 10 a.m.

"The Road to Recovery" was the general topic of the convocation. Lavko, from Czechoslovakia, spoke on the values and beliefs; Willi, from Switzerland, education; and Saad, from the Arabian zone of Jerusalem, technical problems. All Wesleyan classes were dismissed for the convocation.

Lavko, Cosmopolitan club representative on the Student Council, is working on his masters degree in geography, having received his B. A. from the University last year. He has been in the United States for two years and plans to stay here, not wishing to go back to Czechoslovakia while the Communists are in power.

This is Saad's second year at the University, also. He is studying architectural engineering. He is at the University because there are no schools of architecture in his native country.

He had been told that he could get along better with mid-westerners than easterners. He is president of Men's Dorm B.

Walter Willi
Walter Willi is a graduate student in economics. When he receives his masters degree, he plans to return to Europe for his Ph. D.

The three students were sent by the speakers bureau of NUCWA, headed by Pat Stoural and Claude Hannezo.

SOONER CO-CAPTAIN—Jim Owens, star left end will lead the defending Big Seven champions against Nebraska Saturday. Owens is one of Oklahoma's best pass receivers.

American, Foreign Students To Hold Friendship Dinner

Truly international will be the atmosphere of the International Friendship dinner Thursday at 6 p.m. in the Union ballroom, with food, entertainment, decorations and guests from many nations.

The menu will be really cosmopolitan. The main dish will be prepared by Codul Ayazi of Afghanistan. He began preparing the rice dish early Wednesday afternoon. Claude Hannezo, France, will toss the French salad for the dinner. Oriental tea and an international desert, ice cream, will also be served.

International Entertainment
The international flavor will carry over into the entertainment. The program includes: Charlene Dudley, International house, piano solo; Gsarwar Habme, Afghanistan, vocal solo; Eleanor Wi-berg, International house, piano solo; Gieta von Knueberg, professor of modern languages, flute solo, and Lee Linberg, Gordon Magnussen and Lee Stauffer, Lutheran Student house, Negro spirituals.

Decorations, planned by the Bharat Dixit, from India, will carry out the international theme. They will feature a king-size map of the world.

Fosters International Relations
The annual International Friendship dinner, sponsored by the Religious Welfare council with the cooperation of NUCWA, Cosmopolitan club and International house, is held for the purpose of fostering better international relations.

According to Ruth Shinn, executive secretary of the YWCA, if any overseas student has not yet been invited, it is because his host has not been able to contact him. All have been invited and, if not contacted by hosts, should meet them at the dinner.

Each foreign student will attend the dinner as the guest of an American student. "We feel that it is a real chance for American students to become better acquainted with the foreign students on this campus on a social level," Miss Shinn said.

Union to Hold Free 'Foot Ball' Friday Night

Something new is promised for the Union dance Friday night.

According to the Union Dance committee, students are invited to attend the free "Foot Ball" in the Union ballroom, from 9 p. m. to 12 following the rally and street dance.

A complete entertainment program has been provided with participants including Bob Vollmer, pianist; H. E. Pederson, accordionist; and the Pi Phi Trio, composed of Marilyn Legge, Ernamarie Trefz and Bev Larsen.

The Ball is an informal juke box dance and all students are urged by the committee to come in rally clothes.

Candle-lighted tables will be arranged around the ballroom floor and refreshments including popcorn and cokes will be available.

This will be the third in a series of dances planned by the dance committee, Ralph Taylor in charge.

Ag Meat Judges Place in Contest

Nebraska's meats judging team won 11th place in a contest held in connection with the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City, Mo., it was announced yesterday.

The team was fourth in pork judging. Individual placings included: Merwyn G. French, fifth in pork judging; and Grant Cornelius, sixth in the entire contest and fifth in pork.

Other University students making the trip were Neal Baxter and Loren C. Schmidt.

Prof. Charles H. Adams is team coach.

Faculty Recital Scheduled at Union Sunday

A faculty recital, first in the series for this season, will be presented at 4 p. m. in the Union ballroom, Sunday, Oct. 23.

Presented by the University School of Fine Arts, the soloists are: Kathryn Dean, contralto; Charma Davies, pianist; and Dale B. Ganz, baritone. Each will present four separate renditions.

Sponsor Marcia Pratt and chairman Rod Riggs of the committee extended an invitation for everyone to attend.

All students and faculty members are also urged to attend the weekly Coffee Hour, directly following the recital, and held in the Union lounge.

Faculty wives Mrs. David Foltz and Mrs. Dale Ganz will pour. Coffee and tea cakes will be served as music is provided by a performer at the Hammond organ.

In charge of arrangements is the Union House and Hospitality committee, Gene Wiedmaier, chairman.

Filings Open For Position on ISA Magazine

Filings for the position of Nebraska associate editor on the national Independent magazine, "Smoke Signal," open today and will remain open until Oct. 21.

Interested journalists who are interested in the position may file applications in the ISA mail box in the Union basement. Applications should include the student's average and experience in journalism.

Applicants will be interviewed at the ISA council meeting next Monday. A journalism professor will be on the electing committee.

The "Smoke Signal" is the official magazine of the Independent Students association. Original work of any kind may be submitted. The magazine is published at the University of Oklahoma. Each university with an ISA chapter has an associate editor who submits work from his school to the magazine.

IVCF Will Hear Mission Worker

"Missionary Outlook in Africa" will be the subject Thursday evening when Betty Zumhingst, arts and science senior, speaks to the Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., in Room 315 of the Union.

Miss Zumhingst, a graduate of St. Paul Bible institute, St. Paul, Minn., is studying at this university in preparation for missionary work in Africa.

Music, besides group singing, will include a solo by Paul Andrews.
