Plan Street Dance Rally

Display Rules Told

Innocents Outline Homecoming Plan

Rules for the Homecoming decoration contest Nov. 5 have been announced by Innocent Paul Weltchek, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

The Innocents have set the entry fee at $2.50 for all houses with a membership of 20 or over. Houses having less than 20 members are exempt from this fee.

Deadline for the completion of the decorations has been set at 5:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4. Any house turning their lights on between 6:30 and 7:45 p.m. will be disqualified. This rule has been made because of the possible distraction that such action would cause from the dedication ceremonies of the Mueller Carillon tower from 7 to 8 p.m.

Decoration expenses should not exceed $50. Expense records for the display must be turned into Weltchek by Thursday, Nov. 3.

Two trophies will be awarded to the top winners in the men's and women's divisions. Second and third place awards will also be given.

Bowling Green Revolt Fizzles; Coeds Walk

Let's take an old fashioned walk.

This is still the mating call of the men at Bowling Green University at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Yep, convertibles are still out of the question as far as bait for the sweet young things, so it's a case of strolling through the park or taking a brisky buggy ride for the evening's entertainment.

Rebellion Fails.

An attempted rebellion by the Bowling Green students failed Wednesday. The revolt came about in an attempt to force the university to revise rulings concerning student freedom.

Foremost on the list of age-old regulations and policies held up to attack was the law for bidding unmarried coeds from riding in automobiles. As one spokesman put it, the rule was set up for "the very small minority who have disregarded moral standards in the past and will continue to do so in the future."

Attacked Other Policies.

The strikers gave up Wednesday night after a day filled with parades and demonstrations.

Other points under attack were:

1. Complete freedom of expression by the school's newspaper.
2. Non-administrative interference in the student senate proceedings.
3. Relaxation of the campus police powers, "Restricting their operations to enforcing law, not exercising their powers in matters which are innocent, natural and trivial."

4. Backing by the university administration of an organized effort to have the 3.2 beer licensing restrictions removed.

The students say they will give up on all counts except faculty intervention in the senate and on the newspaper's operations.

WESLEYAN SPEAKERS—Discussing their topics for the all-university convocation at Wesleyan are the University students, left to right: Edward Saad, Jerusalem Arab zone; Walter Willi, Switzerland, and Vladimir Lavko, Czechoslovakia. Theme of the assembly which launched the WSSF drive on the Wesleyan campus was "The Road to Recovery." The speakers were from the NUCWA speakers bureau.

Plans Take Shape for Annual Ag Skit Night

Col-Agri-Fun board is completing final plans for its annual skit night Saturday, Oct. 29. The skits and curtain acts will be presented in the Ag College Activities building beginning at 8 p.m., Jean Beck, publicity chairman, has announced.

According to Miss Beck, seven skits and seven curtain acts have been entered. Any Ag college group is eligible for participation.

Traveling Plaque

A traveling plaque for the winning skit and a $10 cash award for the winning curtain act will be presented by the board. Miss Ruth E. Jones, home economics instructor; Miss Doretta Schlaphoff, assistant professor of home economics, and D. G. Hanway, instructor of agronomy, will judge the presentations according to quality of performance, time, interest of action and originality.

Presentation of the awards will be made by Jack Wilson, manager of the show.

Love hall's skit, "One Night in Love," and a curtain act by the YWCA, "The Lion Hunt," were last year's winners. Rex Messersmith will act as master of ceremonies for the program.

Dancing in Auditorium
After the skits there will be dancing in the auditorium, Miss Beck stated.

Final verification of all entered skits has been completed. There will be dress rehearsal Wednesday, Oct. 26, in the Activities building auditorium.

Football Festival On Tap Tonight

Nothing was stirring on Christmas eve, but the third annual Fall Football festival street dance and rally Friday night promise to create quite a "stir" on the eve of the Nebraska-Oklahoma gridiron classic.

The festival will feature a University-sponsored rally, a street dance, speeches by team coaches, and a Navy commissioning ceremony.

A pre-game rally, beginning at the Coliseum at 7:15 p. m. will begin the evening's festivities. The rally will move down fraternity and sorority row, continuing down 15th street to downtown Lincoln. Fireworks of some sort will highlight the rally.

The spirit committee has asked all cars to stay behind the rally so that accidents may be avoided.

Marching Band

For the first time this year, the University marching band will be present at the rally. The 108 piece band will be in full dress and will lead the rally to the corner of 12th and N street. This area will be roped off for street dancing later in the evening.

Cornhusker Coach Bill Glassford and Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson will become "admirals" in Nebraska's navy during the evening. Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons will confer the commissions. The two football mentors will also address the estimated crowd of 10,000.

A public address system will enable the spectators to hear the rally speeches and the commissioning of the "admirals."

Street Dancing

Street dancing will follow the rally and the commissioning service. Sponsored by the Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce, the street dance will begin about 8 p. m.

Through the courtesy of the Lincoln Federation of Musicians a 12 piece dance band will furnish the music for the evening.

The Fall Football Festival this year is the third annual event sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Corn Cobs and Tassels have aided the JC's in the planning of the festival.

Members of the committee for the event include: Bill Gold, chairman; Gould Flagg, jr., publicity chairman; Rod Lindwall, president of the Corn Cobs; Tassel President Katy Rapp, and Wendy Gauger, chairman of the Corn Cob committee.

Theatre Opens Reservations For 'Faust'

Students with season tickets to the University Theater may reserve their seats for "Faust" next week, according to Mrs. Margaret Denton, manager of the theatre box office.

The box office in the Temple building will be open for reservations from Oct. 24 thru 28, from 12:30 to 5 p. m. On the dates of performances, Oct. 31 thru Nov. 1 and 2, reservations can be made only at the Nebraska Theatre box office, from 12:30 p. m. to curtain time at 8:00 p. m.

Those students who reserved their season tickets for all the performances earlier in the month will not need to make any further arrangements. Season tickets and single tickets for the Faust performance will be on sale at the box office at the above listed times.

Since tickets for the entire season have gone fast and many reservations have already been made those wishing good seats are urged to make their reservations as soon as possible.

Got Talent?-- Make Plans for Union Tryouts

Talented? If you are, then plan to attend tryouts for the annual Union Talent Show Wednesday, Oct. 26, at 7:15 p.m. The show will be given Sunday, Nov. 6.

Sponsored by the Union, tryouts are open to all University students who are able to provide any form of entertainment.

Applications are now being accepted by the General Entertainment committee, according to Chuck Wiedmaier, chairman. Applicants should sign up at the Union Activities office.

"All kinds of talent are wanted," said Wiedmaier. He added that a list of all contestants and their talents will be filed for future reference.

He explained that many organizations are often in need of entertainment and the files will provide the needed information.

Members of the committee are serving as judges during the tryouts and the show. Cash prizes will be presented to winners of the show.
