Pastors, Y Leaders Urge AUF Support

AUF Week, the only campus charity drive of the year, starts November 7, less than two weeks from today. As the All University Fund drive comes into focus, campus leaders have turned their attention to AUF and its two beneficiaries, World Student Service Fund and the Community Chest. Eight University pastors and

Spirit Groups Preview Plans For Migration

Going to the Iowa State migration Nov. 12 via train? Here's just a preview of plans for the day's celebration as outlined by the Student Spirit and Student Rally committees.

The migration train leaves Lincoln at 6 a. m., arriving in Ames shortly after noon.

When the migration arrives at Iowa State, yell squad members and University band members will lead a rally through the campus, making headquarters at the Union ballroom until game time.

A special section of bleacher seats for the Cornhuskers will be placed in front of the Iowa State stadium seats. An ample number of seats have been provided so that there should be room for an overflow crowd, if necessary.

Following the game, all Nebraska students have been invited to attend a "dime dance," sponsored by the Twisters, women's pep organization, in the Union ballroom.

Eating facilities have been investigated and restaurants and cafeterias in Ames and on the Iowa State campus have been notified of the expected crowd.

The migration train will leave that campus at 9 p. m. for Lincoln.

Tickets for the migration will be on sale for the next three weeks, but students are urged to buy or order their tickets early to insure better seating arrangements. Corn Cobs and Tassels are in charge of ticket sales in organized houses on both campuses, and booths have been set up in Ag Union, city campus Union and Love Library. Price is $14.75.

GI Checks

J. P. Colbert, director of the Veterans' Consultation board, announced yesterday that the VA has sent orders for subsistence checks to the VA disbursement office in Kansas City, Mo.

According to Colbert the checks should begin to arrive about Nov. 1.

YM-YW leaders praised the work of the AUF, WSSF and the Chest when interviewed recently.

'Students Help Students'

Father Harry Whitley, Episcopal minister, commented, "AUF gives students the opportunity to support people in a position to do the acts of assistance that we would render if we were on the foreign campus scene. Since a great portion of the fund goes to foreign students for books, lab equipment, tuitions, etc., students should be particularly interested in the drive."

Charles Kemp, executive secretary of the campus YMCA, told an interviewer, "The AUF gives us the chance to invest a part of ourselves in those who have been unfortunate. We should see it as a privilege to share our plenty with their want."

Presbyterian student pastor, Rev. Rex Knowles, remarked, "The AUF is the most important thing the University of Nebraska students do in the whole course of the year. I know all students will get back of the drive generously."

'Privilege to Give'

"The All University Fund is our way of extending a helping hand to fellow students around the world," says Rev. Richard Nutt, Methodist student pastor. "Count it as a privilege to be one of those who gave."

Rev. H. Erek, Lutheran minister, commented, "It is both humanitarian and Christian to help the unfortunate in the various communities in which we live. Certainly college students would wish to assume their share in the various endeavors of mercy."

Harold Nebelsick, vice president of the city campus YMCA, reminded students, "To live most fully is to give freely."

Shinn Boosts WSSF

The YWCA executive secretary, Ruth Shinn, commented, "The WSSF brings together all groups and all nations in mutual trust which is seldom done by any other group. The spirit of the gift, however small, means so much more than the gift itself. Through the World Student Service fund, it brings understanding to both the giver and the receiver. Gifts are given to those students in real need. There is no political discrimination whatsoever."

The Very Rev. Msgr. George Schuster, Catholic student pastor, emphasized that "the AUF is the one opportunity for students to share with the needy, both on a local and international level. What we give to the Community Chest is returned to a great extent to the campus itself; what we share with students of other nations brings even more far-reaching returns."

The pastors and Y leaders were unanimous in urging University students to "SACRIFICE FOR AUF."

Joe Sanders' Orchestra To Play at Annual Dance

THE OLE LEFT HANDER—Joe Sanders and his Nighthawks orchestra are scheduled to perform at the Homecoming dance Nov. 5 in the Coliseum. The Sanders crew have recently completed engagements in night clubs, hotels and campuses across the country.

Student Ducats To Cost $2.25

Admission to the first major all-student dance of the year, the Homecoming dance, will be $2.25 a couple. Joe Sanders and his Nighthawks orchestra have been engaged to play for the event.

The traditional Homecoming dance, the climax to week-end of homecoming activities for students and alumni, will be held Saturday, Nov. 5 in the Coliseum.

The ticket price, one of the lowest in recent years for a name band dance, was agreed upon by Corn Cobs and Tassels, sponsors of the annual event. Tickets last year were $3.

Sanders, "the ole left hander," is a popular entertainer at night clubs, theaters, hotels and college campuses across the nation. He has recently appeared with his orchestra at the Blackhawk restaurant and Martinique of Chicago, the Palace hotel of San Francisco, the Nicollet hotel of Minneapolis, the New Yorker hotel of New York and the Muehlbach hotel of Kansas City.

Hit Records

His current hit records include, "There Goes My Ball and Chain" and "Over the Rim of the Sun." He is the author of the hit song, "Beloved," which sold over a million copies.

The band leader is also a record holder in baseball with a world's strike-out mark of 27 in 9 innings. He is also a three-cushion billiards champion of Kansas City.

In fact, the late Robert Ripley cited Sanders in his "Believe It or Not" column for his pitching record. The National Billiards association presented the orchestra leader with a cue and case autographed by all past and present cue champions.

Honorary Kiwanian

Sanders is the only band leader ever to be tendered a membership in the Chicago Kiwanis club. Popular on many college campuses, he was made an honorary member of Kappa Sigma fraternity at Penn State.

He has three theme songs: an opener, "Do You Miss Me?"; early evening closing theme, "I'll Never Forget I Love You"; and late evening, "Nighty Night"—all his own songs.

Sanders was raised in Indian Territory which is now Centralia, Oklahoma. He got his early sense of rhythm from Indian tom-toms, but he started piano lessons at the age of nine and for ten years afterward. He started voice lessons at the age of eleven, exchanging choir singing for voice lessons.

Early Training

Later, he sang in a male quartet oratorio and finally grand

AWS to Hold Annual Activity Mart Oct. 27

Marking the opening of activities to freshman women after the six-weeks' ban, the AWS Activity Mart Thursday, Oct. 27, from 4 to 6 p. m. in the Union ballroom will act as a clearinghouse to give the freshmen a chance to learn about all activities.

'CCCCC' Puzzle Confuses Campus

Students awoke Tuesday morning to find the strange message, CCCCC, staring them in the face from every tree, telephone pole, and bulletin board.

No one seems to know just what the five letters mean or stand for, there being many sidewalk debates on the question. All that is positively known is that the magic monogram has something to do with one of the campus' many publications.

The Daily Nebraskan, in the public interest, has consented to print periodic clues as to the meaning of the mysterious mystery. Each day or so, there will be another article further clarifying the puzzle with hints and suggestions.

Fifteen campus activities will have booths with information on the work done in the activity and the time when work can be done. Explanations of each booth will be given over the loudspeaker during the afternoon. AWS members will also be present to answer questions on the activities.

In an effort to make the Activity Mart of more benefit than in the past, the AWS will call all girls who sign up for activities to make sure that the activities have contacted them.

Although the Activity Mart gives the freshman women a chance to see all activities, the AWS advises those attending to decide tentatively beforehand what activities they are interested in. Another tip from AWS is not to sign up for more activities than they can actively participate in.
