A Success? . . .

A letter was published in The Daily Nebraskan last week from a Greek student thanking the AUF for its contributions of money and clothing to Greek students.

Made possible by the World Student Service Fund, a part of the AUF, the letter went on to say that approximately $1,000 enables students of Greece to buy books, pay registration fees, etc. Because of this money, we may rightly construe the letter to mean that more Greek students were able to reach a higher education.

And other sources such as AUF representatives on the campus, and WSSF information confirm the content of this letter.

This writer was one of those who believed AUF was just one of many campus organizations which met us on every corner with a plea for more money. But yesterday's letter has changed our opinion.

There is no cause for melodrama or radical plea for international sympathy after reading this letter. Every sensible student should see the sensibility and intelligence behind his or her giving to the AUF.

The drive will begin Nov. 7. For no other reason than to help foreign students receive a better education, we believe the students at the University should make the AUF drive a success.

From the Union

By Marilyn Moomey and Hugh Folmer

Handshakes, spooks, dancing and informal coffee hour; all of these were to be found in the union's busy schedule this week.

Gladhanding was especially noticeable at the AWS activity mart and we of this column would like to extend a cordial welcome to all the potential Mortar Boards in behalf of the Union board.

The Halloween dance Friday night gave those who attended their first taste of the Halloween spirit. A precedent was set as Betty Roessler and her fifty charming hostesses met the usually unanswered demands of the stag line. Attendance records will surely hit a new high with such hostesses as Barb Young, Donna Pilcher, Ginny Koch, Sal Pinney, Donna Ruddock and Jo Hinds. Favorable comments were heard throughout the evening on the Union Ballroom Chamber of Horrors. We also think that Norma Gamert and Priscilla Jones deserve a pat on the back for their fine job of decorating. We wonder if Jack Greer had Union interests at heart or if his work was all to help Priscilla.

Those of us that couldn't travel to Missouri Saturday saw the advantage of the pigskin party in the Union lounge. The game seems much closer when one can watch Marv Grimm chart the plays and buy apples from Ginger Meehan.

The Sunday afternoon coffee hour was even more popular this week due, perhaps, to the advent of cold weather. Coed Counselor officers Dorothy Borgen and Jan Cochran were serving for the occasion.

Negro Tenor To Appear At St. Paul's

Roland Hayes, negro tenor, will be featured in a recital at St. Paul's Methodist church, Nov. 21.

Hayes has appeared in many concert halls in the past few seasons, not only in the United States but in Canada, Mexico, and England. He also gave several overseas performances to the armed forces. Among the awards given him were a degree of Doctor of Music from Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, O., and Doctor of Laws from Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia.

Hayes was the first negro artist in the field of music to appear at the 75th anniversary of the Thirteenth Amendment, on Dec. 21, 1940. The performance took place in the concert hall of the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C.

A command performance before King George and Queen Mary adds to the distinction of the tenor. Other concerts include an appearance with Dame Myra Hess at the National Art gallery in London, and a performance in Royal Albert Hall, London, England.

session on local institutional service.

Wilson Speaks

Howard Wilson, member of the Red Cross national board of governors, told convention delegates at the luncheon meeting about Red Cross fund-raising practices. He was introduced by Vernon Zimmerman, general field representative of Nebraska.

The afternoon session of the convention was devoted to a discussion of public relations and public information. Student chairman for the session was Gene Berg; Tom Hawk, assistant director of public information, mid-western area, led the discussion.

A coffee-coke-and-brownie hour from 4-6 p.m. closed the conference. Entertainment for the period was provided by Ruth Hiatt, accordionist; and Anne Jane Hall and Margaret McCoy, vocal and piano duet.

Delians Feature Screwball Party

Skulls, bones, a monster with a blue and green face, and a seance added screams to the Delian Union's Screwball party Friday.

The party was given for all independents and featured a corpse hunt, fortune telling, and a story by Marvin Malone acted out behind a sheet.

Cider and pumpkin pie were served after a session of square dancing. Thinking only of drowning spooks, or creating a few, one Halloween spirit made off with two gallons of cider.

All independent students are asked to watch The Daily Nebraskan and the library bulletin board for the announcement of the next party.

Cay Worcester, blue-eyed and blonde, was the ideal type for the role of Gretchen. Her transition from that of a naive country girl to that of a murderess, was handled with the proper insight and emotion necessary to the part. As the helpless creature dominated by Faust, a "superman," she clearly showed the tragedy that was Gretchen's.

Adding a proper and original cynical touch to his acting Dwight Smith made his debut in his first major University Theatre role a success. As the evening progressed, he grew on the audience in such a way that he seemed to dominate the sordid events developing onstage. Although credit is due to the richness of the role, Smith made the best of his task.

As the sex and fund-starved widow, Martha, Sharon Fritzier used a variety of motion and movement to display her appreciated skill.

Other successful parts were played by Ced Hartman as the youthful, eager student; Twilla Walker as Gretchen's sister Lizzie; and Marilyn Morgan as Lilith.

All in all, the production was a brilliant one combining novel technical affects and simple stylized setting with a fast moving acting tempo.

Yearbook Space Contracts Due

All contracts for space in the 1950 Cornhusker must be returned with the money by Friday, Nov. 5, according to John Connelly, Cornhusker editor.

Contracts should be signed by the president, treasurer, and advisor of the organization before they are returned.

Organizations will then be contacted as to time for their group pictures.

Student Directory Printing Begins

All material for the annual Student-Faculty Directory is now in the hands of the printers.

Directory Editor Audrey Flood said today that all copy was turned over to the Journal Printing company a week ago.

Directories will be ready for sale as soon as the printers complete their work on the books, said Miss Flood. She estimated printing time at twenty days.
