

Patients Elect 'Spook' At Red Cross Party

A real "Spook" was crowned last night as the climax to the Red Cross Hallowe'en party at Vets hospital.

Patients at the VA hospital elected the "most outstanding spook" from among their members. He was presented with the "Spook award."

The announcement of the "Spook" came after University students had presented eight acts of entertainment at their first Red Cross-sponsored auditorium show of the year.

Includes Ward Visits

The show, planned by Carla Renner, Jean Bay and George Wilcox, began at 7:30 p. m. at the hospital and lasted until 8:45 p. m. It included visits to the hospital wards, in addition to the auditorium entertainment.

Student acts included in the show were: tap dance by Cherie Bengston, Chi Omega, "You Can't Stop Me from Dreaming," accordion medley, Ruth Hiatt, Sigma Kappa; quartette numbers, by the Beta Sigs; piano solos by Bob Vollmer, "Music in a Modern Manner," trumpet interpretations, Stuart Reynolds, Beta Theta Pi; romantic novelties, Patsy Dutton, Delta Delta Delta; ventriloquist act, Jack Lange and his dummy, Chester, in "Talking Things Over;" and the Delta Gamma trio, "A Drum, a Piano and a Girl," Donna Doran, Sarah Devoe and Norma Meyer.

Master of Ceremonies

Master of ceremonies for the show was George Wilcox. Miss Renner served as stage manager. Miss Bay conducted the first four acts of the show on a tour of the hospital wards, to entertain bed-ridden patients.

The Red Cross unit prepared programs for the show, while the local Red Cross entertainment chairman, Mrs. Pat Lahr Smith, supervised the Hallowe'en decorations.

Parade Entries For Homecoming Due Immediately

All houses who are planning to enter the Homecoming parade, Saturday morning at 10:30, are urged to submit their entries immediately.

Entries should be given to Harold Gloystein at the Beta Sigma Psi house either by letter or by telephone.

In order that positions in the parade may be determined a few days before the parade, all organizations must submit their entries.

If organizations have already been contacted by members of the parade committee, it is not necessary to submit entries again.

Air Force Recruiters Here Nov. 7-10

University of Nebraska men junior and senior students interested in pilot training and officer careers in the U.S. Air Force will have a chance to talk it over with an Air Force procurement team here November 7 through 10.

The team, Capt. Robert R. Council and Calvin D. Mosher, will set up shop at the Union and be available for interviews from 8 to 5 each of the four days.

Capt. Council, here on a preliminary visit, said he and Capt. Mosher will have full information on the Aviation Cadet training program and will give preliminary examinations to prospective eligibles, aged 20½ to 26½.

He said the Air Force has reserved places in summer and fall Aviation Cadet classes for acceptable candidates who are now in school, and one of the aims of the procurement team is to assure quick assignment of candidates for those spots.

trophies, and a bouquet of red roses.

Runners-up in the annual contest were: Donna Michlick, Sigma Kappa, and Milton Maisel, Zeta Beta Tau, second; Cay Worcester, Delta Gamma, and Paul Reiter, Norris House, third; Margaret Kolhoff, International House, and Harry Geiselman, Beta Sigma Psi, fourth.

Pictures of the winning Producers have been sent to 300 universities and colleges throughout the United States. The winners will also have large portraits taken of themselves for display in the Theater lobby.

The winners' pictures will also appear on all Theater programs for the coming year. They will act as official sponsors of campus productions.

All organized house or group candidates for Honorary Producer sold 800 Theater tickets this year, the second for the competition. Less than 400 were sold by contestants in the previous year.

uates, Capt. Council said, are given regular commissions upon graduation from the year's course. All others receive reserve commissions.

Union Dance Attracts 400

Corn stalks, a chamber of horror, and musical entertainment were the factors which made the Union Hallowe'en dance last Friday a success.

This was the information provided by Ralph Taylor, dance committee chairman, who termed the dance as the biggest yet this year. An attendance count revealed that over 400 students were present.

Fizz Powell, who had appeared previously this year in the Union ballroom with his combo, provided the music for the occasion. In addition to regular numbers, Powell featured two novelty numbers.

NU alumnae, Sue Kent, gave several renditions of her specialty, blues singing.

An abundance of hostesses numbering over 50, encouraged stags to attend later in the evening.

Teaching materials are inexpensive as the records cost only a few cents and can be used many times.

Carillon Tower Donor to Attend Dedication

Dedication ceremonies of the Carillon tower Friday night at 7 p. m. will be attended by Ralph S. Mueller of Cleveland, O., who donated $90,000 to build the tower.

Perry W. Branch, director - secretary of the University Foundation said Mueller will speak briefly at the program which highlights the pre-Homecoming activities. He will be accompanied by his wife and children.

Mueller, a native of Council Bluffs, Ia., received a Bachelor of Science degree from Nebraska in 1898 and was prominent in student activities. In 1908 he founded the Mueller Electric Co. at Cleveland and is now its president. The firm has developed many special electrical devices which are sold in every state and 70 foreign countries.

In 1935-36, Mueller returned to the campus for two semesters to earn the professional degree in electrical engineering. In 1943 his alma mater awarded him an honorary doctor of engineering degree.

The carillon tower is one of several gifts to the University. Among other gifts are electrical engineering equipment and the establishment of a student loan fund with the Foundation.

Craft Shop Opens Leather Sessions

Ever wonder what happened to a cow's hide after it was butchered?

If you want to find out, then you are invited to attend the session of leathercraft instruction offered by the Union craft shop. Classes will be held tonight and tomorrow night at 7-9 p. m., in Room 12 in the Union basement.

According to Wendy Gauger, in charge of the Craft Shop committee, most attention will center on the construction of leather goods such as purses, belts, moccasins, and billfolds.

The committee invites all students to attend the free instructional period.

"The craft shop provides a wonderful opportunity for students to have good fun and at the same time solve their Christmas gift problem," said Gauger.

Thousands Await CCCC Definition

As thousands cheer, the final clues to the mysterious, baffling, weird, mystifying C C C C are now coming to the fore.

Literally eons of guesses have been submitted—all wrong. So far, all anybody that is anybody knows is that it has something to do with a campus publication, that the second letter of the third word is the same as the third letter of the second word, that the second word is a synonym for insane, and that the whole matter is chucked full of corn.

Tomorrow will bring the final to C C C C. Watch for it!

Today's clue: If you haven't already put your dollar down, do it now!

Bridge Sessions Will Start Today

Bridge lessons begin today at 4 p. m. in the Union under the instruction of William Tyson, jr. Students who want to learn to play bridge or who want to improve their playing are urged to attend the classes.

Lessons will be given each Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 p. m. in the Union. Those attending today should meet in the Union game room.

Registration is still open, and those wishing to enroll are asked to sign up in the Union activity office today.
