KU Tops Huskers 27-13

THAT'S ALL ROCKY—Those could be the words uttered by the unidentified Jayhawk tackler who downed Bill "Rocky" Mueller after a six-yard gain. Four other Kansas U. gridgers close in to assist on the play.

Scarlet Lacked Scoring Punch

BY JERRY WARREN.

A mediocre Kansas University eleven ruined Nebraska's homecoming Saturday afternoon by dumping the Cornhuskers 27-13 before 36,000 fans.

Nebraska spent most of the game in Jayhawk territory but didn't have the scoring punch when they needed it. Had the field been five yards shorter, the Huskers would have won easily.

Kansas' vaunted passing attack was stalled by the stubby NU backfield and only one of the Jayhawk touchdowns was by passing.

On paper Bill Glassford's stalwarts looked good. They out-downed, out-rushed and out-passed their foes from the south. The Huskers racked up a total of 388 net yards on their journeys to the KU five-yard line, the most yardage gained in one game by the Scarlet and Cream this year.

Husker passing, which has remained almost dormant since the Minnesota game, accounted for 176 yards. The surprising thing was that ace aerialist Fran Nagle completed only four passes to amass the total and two of the four were touchdown throws. One of Nagle's long heaves was a 28-yard scoring pass to Ralph Damkroger, culminating a 78-yard Nebraska drive in the first quarter.

The Huskers found themselves in a hole early in the first period when Dean Wells, sophomore back, recovered Bill Mueller's fumble for Kansas on the Nebraska 16-yard line.

Three Jayhawk passes failed to connect, however, and the fighting Cornhuskers took over again on their own 22. A fine ground attack, highlighted by short gains

Homecoming Winners

Announced

Sigma Nu, Gamma Phi Houses Tops

Winners in the Homecoming parade and the house decorations were announced by the heads of the sponsoring organizations.

In the house decorations, Sigma Nu took top honors in the men's division. Zeta Beta Tau was second and Sigma Chi placed third. Honorable mention was given to Farm House and Theta Xi.

Gamma Phi Beta walked away with first place in the girl's division, with Sigma Delta Tau and Delta Delta Delta placing second and third respectively. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Kappa Alpha Theta received honorable mention.

Special mention was given to the Presbyterian House for their display.

Parade Winners

Parade winners were Phi Gamma Delta in men's division and Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship in the women's division. Alpha Gamma Rho took second place with Zeta Beta Tau placing third in the men's competition. Beta Sigma Psi and Sigma Phi Epsilon received honorable mention in the same division.

Amikitas won second honors for the women and the Cosmopolitan club took third. There was no honorable mention in the women's division.

Judges for the Homecoming decorations were: Prof. Walljarvi of the Architecture department, Gail Butt of the Art department, and Colonel Frankfurter of the Chemistry department.

The parade was judged by Head Basketball Coach Harry Good, James G. Porter, instructor in the Architecture building and Arnold Baragar, Ag faculty member

42 Houses Entered

Approximately 42 houses entered in the house decorations competition. The displays were judged following the rally and tower dedication Friday night. The houses did not turn on their lights during the tower dedication because of the possible distraction from the ceremonies.

Saturday morning at 10:30 30 organizations competed for top float honors. Beginning at the Coliseum the parade traveled down 14th and 15th streets to O. From there, the floats moved to 11th and continued back to the starting point.

Members of the University band who did not have classes led the parade. The Tassel float with Mary Helen Mallory this year's Pep Queen seated on the regal throne followed the band. The 1949-50 Pep Queen candidates came behind the Tassel float. Freshman pepsters, Corn Cobs, and Tassels also marched in the parade.

Year's Only Campus Charity Campaign Will Open Today

Charity, spelled AUF, will sweep the campus this week in the only student-faculty collections of the year.

The drive, with proceeds going to the Community Chest, World Student Service fund and campus displaced persons, begins today with the All-University - Fund Paul Revere Ride.

"Sacrifice for AUF" is the theme of the week's collections, Nov. 7-14.

'Ride' Starts at 5.

Reminders of the drive will blanket the campus throughout the week. Beginning with the Paul Revere Ride at 5 p. m. today, the AUF collections will take on a color reminiscent of the Homecoming festivities the past week.

Forty cars are expected to take part in the Ride. Each will be decorated by an organized house or hall, according to Ann Barger, chairman of the Ride. The cars will wind about campus, stopping at every house to "sound the alarm" of need by world students, local agencies and the campus DP students. They will leave literature on the drive at every residence.

Reminders Dot Campus.

Dotting the campus during AUF Week will be banners, signs, colored chalk reminders in classrooms, cardboard reminders in the Crib, and solicitors wearing sandwich board signs. Displays will be arranged in the Nebraska Book store and local buildings.

Ladders, giving a warning to give to the drive, will be placed about the campus. Stamps on popcorn sacks, checks and campus paraphernalia, will serve as further reminders to students and faculty members concerning the drive.

The first events of the drive kick-off were held last night in the Union. An AUF Coffee Hour was held from 5-6 in the lounge. A movie on the World Student Service fund was shown, and a skit was presented concerning needs of foreign students. Four American and four foreign students participated in the skit, planned by Joan Van Valkenburg and Jack Savage.

'Is It Fair?'

A display was shown at the coffee hour, illustrating the American student's fare contrasted with a world student's fare. A sign between the two asked, "Is it fair?" Later in the evening, at the Union Talent Tryout, night, a member of the charity organization sang the AUF song.

Later this week, drive events will include the annual Faculty auction on Thursday, Nov. 10, from 2-5 p. m. in the Union.

Sacrificing will keynote the drive, beginning with collections at denominational groups last night. All religious groups were contacted by AUF speakers under the direction of Joel Bailey. Sarah Fulton is in charge of denominational solicitations.

Three-Fold Scope.

Fraternalities and sororities will be contacted at meetings tonight by division heads Wally Banner and Bev Larsen. Speakers at all

Shirley Allen Joins Ranks Of Homecoming Royalty

The name Shirley Allen was added to the roll of campus royalty at the annual Homecoming dance Saturday night.

Miss Allen was revealed as the 1949-50 Pep Queen before crowds attending the dance at the Coliseum. Carried onto the stage atop a giant wounded Jayhawk, she was crowned by Mary Helen Mallory, the retiring Pep Queen.

The Jayhawk, symbol of Kansas university was dragged onto the stage by members of Corn Cobs.

Miss Allen's Activities

The new corresponding secretary of the Student Council, Miss Allen is also a member of Tassels and Coed Counselors and is vice president of Alpha Chi Omega.

The new queen wore the traditional red and white satin cape. Her crown was white trimmed in red.

Dance-goers heard the music of Joe Sanders and his orchestra. The annual dance is sponsored by Tassels and Corn Cobs, pep organizations.

Nominated by Tassels

Pep Queen candidates are nominated from Tassels by the other members of the organization. Miss Allen was elected from the five finalists after the rally Friday night.

Other candidates were Sue Allen, Janet Carr, Nancy Jensen and Susie Reed.

The 1948 Pep Queen, Miss Mallory, reigned at the game with Kansas in the afternoon. She was presented during the half-time ceremonies.

PEP QUEEN—1949-50—Shirley Allen was presented as the Homecoming Queen for next year at the annual Homecoming dance in the Coliseum Saturday night. Miss Allen was chosen by student vote from five candidates nominated by Tassels. She was presented at the dance by the 1948-49 Queen, Mary Helen Mallory.
