

Regulars Rest as Frosh Fall 38-19

BY JERRY WARREN.

Coach Bill Glassford had his regulars resting Monday night while the remainder of the varsity members whipped the frosh, 38-19 in a practice scrimmage.

The frosh scored first when big Ted Connor snagged a Buster Lehman pass from two varsity defenders and crossed the goal line. Howard Herbst converted the extra point to give the yearlings a brief 7-0 lead.

It didn't take the varsity long to tie the score however, as Bill Maxe blocked a frosh punt and Tracy Busch fell on it for the score. Yost converted to make the score a 7-7 deadlock.

Yost, the offensive star for the Huskers, took over the next scoring campaign on his own. He intercepted a freshman pass on the 40-yard line and battered his way to the ten. Two Yost plays later the varsity led 13-7.

Yost Scores

Yost scored one more touchdown on a 12-yard run and converted three times for a high scoring afternoon.

Other varsity scores were on passes from Del Wiegand to Frank Simon and Dutch Meyer to Ray Magsamen and runs by Gerry Ferguson.

The second touchdown for the freshmen came on a fake punt. Bobby Reynolds took the ball from punt formation and passed to Ted Connor for a 65-yard scoring play.

The sun was down and stomachs were growling when the frosh finally scored again. After a long march down field, which was helped by the coaches, Bill Wingender smacked through the center for one yard and a touchdown.

The frosh attack couldn't seem to penetrate the varsity defense but their defensive play was rough with Connor and Wayne "Bear" Handsby leading the way. Fumbles and intercepted passes gave the varsity most of their scoring opportunities.

Iowa State Next Foe for Husker "11"

Iowa State's twice-beaten Cyclones are getting the type of hard work this week that goes with a meeting with the powerful Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Coach Abe Stuber is handing out lots of rough work to the Cyclones in preparation for the Saturday invasion by Nebraska.

Nebraska players will have their first view of the latest variation of the T formation, the Cyclone T-V, when the Huskers take to the field against the Iowa State team. The offense has become the talk of the football world since the Cyclones stopped Illinois in a 20-20 tie late last September.

Important spot in the T-V offense is the fullback slot and to date no able replacement has been found for the injured Bill Chauncey. Chauncey was the top ground gainer in the Big Seven at the end of four games. A knee injury in the Colorado game brought his brilliant season to what was hoped would be only a temporary halt. But since that Oct. 8 date he has done little running to help the Cyclones.

Replacements for the fullback position are Eddie Green, senior No. 2 fullback, who has taken over the ground gaining lead for the Cyclones in the absence of Chauncey and Jack Delbridge, former Cedar Rapids prep star.

Angle to See Action

Another back that will see lots of action and handle the punting for the Cyclone team is Bob Angle, senior right halfback from Ottumwa. Angle has won two letters in football at Iowa State and is football captain this year.

In Big Seven statistics the Cyclones have their share of players on the statistics list. Bill Weeks heads the list as he is fifth in total offense and tenth in passing. His passing partner, Jim Doran, holds down eighth in pass receiving while little Don Ferguson is ninth in the punt return column.

In the Oklahoma game Doran and Weeks were the whole show as the two compiled 203 yards against the mighty Sooners.

Nebraska will not be the only team hampered by injuries when the Cornhuskers meet the Cyclones Saturday as the Cyclones have two men listed as definitely out. Male Schmidt, defensive end from Ames, is expected to be on the bench along with fullback Chauncey.

Frosh to Hold Intra-squad Scrimmage

The highlight for the frosh football season will come when they are divided into reds and blues and sent thru an intra-squad scrimmage at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Coach H. H. "Ike" Hanscom said Wednesday that a lot of time is being spent now to improve various fundamentals such as blocking, tackling, punting, and punt returns. Hanscom is determined that these frosh be well versed in such fundamentals.

Hanscom implied that ball handling in punt returns is being particularly stressed. "We are trying to improve fundamentals generally and ball handling and punt returns in particular."

The frosh mentors are also finding all the possibilities of the men under them. "We are switching quite a few men to various positions to acquaint them with different positions, see if they adapt themselves better, and attempt to raise the team to its peak of performance," he said.

Freshmen being temporarily switched are: Hyle Thibault from end to guard, Bill Wingender from halfback to fullback, Bob Reynolds at halfback and quarter, Jack Ladds at left halfback and fullback, and Jack Greer from tackle to guard.

Intramural Sportalk

By Bill Mundell

Current leaders in Intramural bowling are the Sigma Nu's and the Pros. Both teams are sporting perfect records with six wins after the first two weeks of competition.

Sigma Nu is far on top of Fraternity league No. 1, with Kappa Sigma in second spot with two wins and one loss. The Pros top the Independent league with two teams just behind. Alpha Kappa Psi and Nisei both own 5-1 records.

Other leaders are Zeta Beta Tau and Pioneer Co-op in Fraternity league No. 2 with 3-0, Delta Sigma Pi and Theta Xi in league No. 3 with 3-0, and Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Gamma Delta in league No. 4 with the same won and loss record.

Methodist Student House is leading the Denominational with three wins and no losses with the Cotner House and Lutherans following close behind with 2-0.

After one week of volleyball play, 17 teams have clean slates. Presby House leads these teams with two victories while all others have won one.

Oklahoma Still Third in Nation

Oklahoma, the only Big Seven team to gain national recognition this year, held firmly to the third place notch of the AP sports-writers poll for the third straight week by humiliating Kansas State 39-0.

The Sooners trail Notre Dame and Army in that order. Notre Dame gained undisputed possession of first place by trouncing Michigan State 34-21. Army slapped a 35-0 defeat on previously undefeated Fordham to retain their second spot.

Oklahoma is the highest rated team of the conference affiliated schools. Neither Notre Dame nor Army are members of a conference.

There's quite a legend about the man on the flying trapeze who caught his wife in the act.
