

VA Questions Vet Payments At Nebraska

The University may find itself in the same boat as the University of Illinois, which says the Veterans Administration is trying to short-change it nearly $600,000 on veterans' tuition payments under the GI bill of rights.

Comptroller John K. Selleck said Thursday that the University "is presently involved in these negotiations with the VA, and we are very much concerned about the effect they will have on University finances."

Selleck said the University has not been involved in the Illinois dispute, because GI tuitions charged against the VA are on a non-resident fee basis.

But, Selleck said, the VA last September directed all state-sup-

KK to See Lillie In 'Inside U.S.A.'

To secure ideas for staging for the Fall Revue Friday, 16 members of Kosmet Klub are trouping to Omaha Tuesday evening to view a road production of the revue, "Inside U. S. A."

The famed revue, which ran for years on Broadway, contains just the wit and variety needed for the revue, according to Merle Stalder, Kosmet Klub member. "Inside U. S. A.," starring the comedienne, Bea Lillie, is known for its fast-moving pace and novel, effective settings.

This means audiences at the Klub revue Friday evening will see eight big fraternality skits inspired by first-hand reactions to a live Broadway revue.

ported colleges operating on this basis to prove that the cost is not greater than what it would be if they were on the VA's "teaching-cost" basis.

Ag Extension To Hold Meet

"Greater Service to Nebraskans" will be the theme of the 35th annual conference of the Agricultural Extension Service to be held at the university next week, Nov. 14-19.

H. G. Gould, associate director of the service, announced the program yesterday. Attending will be the entire field force of county agricultural and home demonstration agents and specialists at the College of Agriculture.

Chief speakers for the conference include Dr. Carl C. Taylor of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Dean W. V. Lambert of the College of Agriculture; Dr. Wendell White of the University of Minnesota; and Vivian Volsdorf of South Dakota State College.

Several outstate Nebraska youths including several university students will appear on the program Tuesday to discuss the topic: "As Rural Youth Views the Extension Service." Participating will be Paul Kemling, Steve Eberhart, Marilyn Meyers, Virginia Earl and Norman Gerkensmeyer.
