Pardon Us, Please . . .

The Daily Nebraskan asks the pardon of the Chancellor, the Registrar, instructors who had 11 o'clock classes Monday, students and other interested parties for erroneously printing a headline Monday morning that said classes would be dismissed Monday for the Religion-in-Life convocation. The fault lay entirely with The Daily Nebraskan staff—a clerical error. Again we beg pardon.

High School Journalists To Convene

Over 500 students will attend the eighteenth annual Nebraska High School Press Association meeting to be held at the University next Friday and Saturday, Nov. 18-19.

The convention is sponsored by the School of Journalism. The Friday program features a general convocation to be addressed by Paul F. Wagner, publisher of the Dakota County Star and the South Sioux City Mail.

Friday afternoon competitive contests in various phases of newspaper work will be held, followed by a series of clinics and panel discussions on problems of producing school papers and annuals.

Otto Quale of the University of Minnesota journalism school, who is assistant director of the National Scholastic Press Association, will address the convention banquet Friday night. At the closing luncheon Saturday noon new association officers and contest winners will be announced.

Officers of the association this year, all high school journalism teachers or advisors, are: Miss Hattie Sternberg, York, president; Miss Phyllis M. Riddle, Superior, vice president; and Mrs. Lillian Ogder, Madison, secretary-treasurer. Prof. William Hice of the University's journalism school is program chairman.

of his studies on insanity and its complications, and David Dow, Moot court judge for the college of law—the only judge with a working knowledge of the law.

Star Witnesses

The prosecution has arranged a spectacular array of witnesses which some pessimistic observers believe cannot but prove the guilt of the accused.

The Rev. Harry B. Whitley, Episcopalian minister, will testify as to Howard's attendance in church, his religious beliefs, and his general attitude on religion. Summer House, Political Science instructor, will give a first hand account of the defendant's attitude in the class room.

Bill Bock, a fraternity brother of Howard's and his roommate, will reveal the defendant's inner self, his first words in the morning, and his subconscious personality. Ted Gunderson, director of the AUF, will comment briefly on Howard's lack of generosity.

Surprise Witness

The prosecution has disclosed a surprise witness for the trial. An unidentified waiter from Don's will give the other side of the Council president's life.

A full jury, picked late Monday night, will be composed of six innocents and six Mortar Boards. They will deliver their recommendation after proper deliberation in the jury room. Actual decision of the trial will rest with the audience. Their vote on the jury's decision will decide whether the accused is guilty or not guilty.

The trial will wind up Religion-in-Life which began last Sunday.

Dorotha Powers to Headline Fall Symphony Concert

The first University Symphony orchestra concert of the fall season will feature Dorotha Powers as guest violin soloist Sunday evening, Nov. 20, at 8 p. m. in the Union ballroom.

Tickets for the concert, which will be under the direction of Prof. Emanuel Wishnow, are still available to University students upon presentation of their identification cards in the Union activities office.

Coffee Hour at 3 p. m.

Miss Powers and Professor Wishnow will be guests of honor at a coffee hour sponsored by the Union music committee in parlors A, B and C, Union Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. Orchestra members are especially invited to attend and meet the guest artist.

Miss Powers, a native of New York City, veteran of more than 500 American concerts and an European tour, has appeared in 60 universities and colleges throughout the United States.

She is the owner of one of the world's three finest violins, the "Earl of Plymouth" Stradivari.

Her solo number will be Wieniawski's "Concert for Violin and Orchestra, Op. 22," which will be accompanied by the orchestra. Albert Hirsch, her professional accompanist will accompany her during encore numbers.

Four Numbers by Orchestra

In addition, the University symphony orchestra will play four numbers under the direction of Professor Wishnow, associate professor of violin at the University since 1941.

The concert is being sponsored by the Student Union Activities Committee and the School of Fine Arts. The next scheduled concert by the University Symphony orchestra will take place March 3, 1950.

There will be a rehearsal of orchestra members in the Union ballroom immediately following the coffee hour in the Union Sunday afternoon.

SYMPHONY CONDUCTOR—Prof. Emanuel Wishnow, conductor of the University of Nebraska Symphony, will combine his talents with Dorotha Powers, violin artist, at the fourth annual Fall Concert. The program will be presented in the Union ballroom at 8 p. m., Nov. 20.

World Campuses Mark Student Day

University cities throughout the world are holding demonstrations Nov. 17 to celebrate International Students day. This date marks the tenth anniversary of the Nazi massacre of 157 Czechoslovak students and 32 professors on Nov. 17, 1939.

Shocked by this atrocity, student leaders from fourteen of the nations fighting the Axis met in London in 1941 to proclaim Nov. 17 as International Students day. This meeting led to the founding of the International Union of Students (IUS), the only international organization operated by and for students alone.

Last summer the IUS helped sponsor the Second World Festival of Youth and Students in Budapest. Ten thousand youth representing 84 nations attended the festival which lasted two weeks.

Hospitalized Vets To See Matmen

"Pin 'em" will be the cry at Vets hospital tonight when Pat Patterson's "boys" hold the floor for an hour's wrestling exhibition.

The matches will be sponsored by Red Cross college unit as a part of their monthly vets show. Patterson will act as M. C. and fifteen fraternity men will act as hosts at the all-male show.

The show will be held in the hospital's auditorium. Wrestling equipment will be transported to the hospital by the Red Cross Motor Corps. Vet's chairmen, Jean Bay, Carla Renner and George Wilcox are in charge of the show.
